Chicago Union Traction Co.—Settlement Ordinances Passed by City Council—Referendum.—The City Council on Feb. 5 by a vote of 56 to 13 passed the Chicago Railways (Union Traction) and Chicago City Ry. ordinances providing for a settlement of their relations with the city. Neither ordinance becomes effective unless a majority of the votes cast thereon at the election on April 2 are in the affirmative nor unless the company affected shall file within 90 days from the date of passage "penal bonds and formal acceptance of the ordinance." It is generally expected that Mayor Dunne will veto the ordinances, but that they will be passed over his veto.

The franchises are without any fixed period of duration, the city having the right to purchase on six months' notice the properties at 15% above the valuation of $29,000,000 and $21,000,000 respectively for the Union Traction and Chicago City respectively (see V. 83, p. 1523) and the cost of improvements incurred in the rehabilitation scheme. The purchase can only be made within 20 years for municipal operation, and if made for parties other than the city 20% is to be added to the price agreed to be paid by the city. If purchased after the expiration of 20 years the roads may be used for municipal operation or otherwise as desired. Universal free transfers are to be given with the usual 5-cent fares.—V. 83, p. 1523.

Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Ry.—Rumor of Notes.—The story that a note issue is impending is not confirmed, though credited by some.—V. 84, p. 270, 155.

Cleveland Southwestern & Columbus Railway Co.—New Name.—See Cleveland & Southwestern Traction Co. below.

Cleveland & Southwestern Traction Co.—Consolidation.—New Name.—This company, which recently arranged to consolidate with the Cleveland Ashland & Mansfield and the Ohio Central, per plan in V. 83, p. 1590, will, it is announced, change its name to the Cleveland Southwestern & Columbus Railway Co., a line to Columbus being projected, probably through the purchase of the Columbus Delaware & Marion, negotiations for which are said to be pending. The officers are:

President, F. T. Pomeroy; Vice-President, A. E. Akins; Second Vice-President, S. C. Smith; Secretary, E. F. Snyder; Treasurer, J. O. Wilson, and Assistant Treasurer, H. B. Cavanaugh; General Manager, C. N. Wilcoxson.—V. 83, p. 1590, 1228; V. 84, p. 157.

Columbus (O.) Railway & Light Co.—Earnings.—No annual report is issued, but the local newspapers in their report of the annual meeting give as follows the earnings for the calendar year 1906:

Year.	Gross.	Net.	Charges.	Div.(2%).	Bal.,sur.	Renewals.	Tot.sur.
1905.	1,798,463	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	85,432

The number of revenue passengers carried for the year was 42,329,204; transfer passengers, 11,600,432; total passengers, 53,929,686, an increase of 4,045,656 over 1905. [Something is said about the charges including some $67,000 on account of renewals, but whether it means that such an item is embraced in the $477,402 as above does not certainly appear.—Ed.]

Lease.—The shareholders on Jan. 30 approved the proposition to take over the Central Market lines, now owned by the Columbus Traction Co. under a 50-year lease with right of renewal. The traction company has outstanding $500,000 common stock and $250,000 of its $500,000 preferred, all held "for the time being" by the Columbus Railway & Light Co. W. B. Jackson in the "Ohio State Journal" says:

The preferred stock is to be paid dividends at the rate of 1¼% quarterly On the common stock dividends of 1% are to be paid in January and July 1908 and January 1909; 1½% in July 1909 and January 1910; 2% in July 1910 and January 1911; thereafter 1¼% quarterly. The Columbus Railway & Light Co. does not assume the payment of the Central Market bonds, but only the interest charges of $25,000 a year on them.—V. 84, p. 51, 157.

Columbus (O.) Traction Co.—Lease.—See Columbus Railway & Light Co. above.—V. 84, p. 51.

Danville Urbana & Champaign Ry.—Guaranteed Bonds Offered.—Baker, Ayling & Co., Boston, Philadelphia and Providence, are offering at 100 and interest, netting 6%, the $328,000 6% serial bonds dated 1905, secured by second mortgage, and guaranteed principal and interest by Illinois Traction Co. These bonds mature in annual installments of $50,000 each on Jan. 1 from 1908 to 1913, both inclusive, and the remaining $28,000 on Jan. 1 1914.

Compare V. 81, p. 264.—V. 83, p. 435.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—Guaranteed Loan.—The loan reported to have been made by the United States Mortgage & Trust Co. to the Delaware & Hudson Co. was in fact made to the Quebec Montreal & Southern Ry. Co. to pay for the road and for the purpose of new construction and equipment already under contract. This is the property recently acquired by the Delaware & Hudson Co. "which will give that company the shortest and best line between New York and Montreal, New York and Quebec and Montreal and Quebec." The loan was made for these purposes exclusively and was guaranteed by the Delaware & Hudson Co. There is no other security and no notes are issued. It is simply a loan for $6,000,000 as required during the year at a rate slightly less than 6%.—V. 84, p. 158, 51.

Detroit & Port Huron Shore Line Ry.—Securities Pledged.—See Detroit United Railway below.—V. 75, p. 134.

Detroit (Mich.) United Ry.—Collateral Trust Notes Offered.—William Salomon & Co. and Kean, Van Cortlandt & Co., both of New York, are offering at 95½ and interest the $2,000,000 3-year 5% collateral trust gold notes of $1,000 each (c.*), dated Feb. 15 1907 and due Feb. 15 1910, but redeemable at par and interest on any interest date upon thirty days' notice. Interest payable Feb. 15 and Aug. 15. Trust Company of America, New York, trustee. These notes are secured by collateral conservatively estimated to be worth $2,891,900, viz.:

Report.—The combined results of the Detroit United Ry., Rapid Railway System and the Sandwich Windsor & Amherstburg Ry. compare as follows:

Year—	Gross.	Net.	Oth.inc.	Charges.	(%)	Dividends.	Bal.,sur.
1906..	$6,063,183	$2,344,561	$58,758	$1,243,273	(5)	$625,000	$535,046

Status of Franchises.—The following has been furnished explanatory of the franchise situation:

The franchise which has been discussed in Detroit this year is that of the old Detroit Citizens' Street Ry., which expires in 1909. This franchise, however, does not extend beyond the old city limits, which were of narrow extent 20 years ago, when the franchise was granted. As a large majority of the population lives in the suburbs, it is evident that they will not be able to reach their destinations without transferring to lines owned by the present company, and paying double fares. This will be an extremely strong argument in favor of renewing that part of the Detroit United franchises (63.8 miles) which expires in 1909. Other portions of the route on which franchises expire within the next 8 years are favorably complicated by overlapping franchises and by the existence of franchises in adjacent parallel streets, which would enable the Detroit United to compete destructively with any concern entering the field, since the latter would have no through communications, but could only operate disconnected lines.—V. 84, p. 270, 51.

Evansville & Southern Indiana Traction Co.—Bond Issue.—This recent consolidation has filed a mortgage to the Trust Co. of North America, Philadelphia, as trustee, to secure an issue of $4,000,000 5% 30-year bonds, a portion of which can be issued only upon retirement of the bonds of the constituent companies—the Evansville Electric Ry. Co. and the Evansville Princeton & Vincennes Traction Co. —V. 84, p. 158.

Great Northern Ry.—Possible Note Issue.—Rumors are current that the company is considering the advisability of issuing a block of perhaps $25,000,000 notes shortly after a decision is handed down in the stock issue case by the appellate court. This decision is expected in the near future.—V. 84, p. 220, 158.

Hagerstown (Md.) Ry.—New Stock.—The stockholders have voted to increase the capital stock from $200,000 to $1,000,000, to provide for extensions, additions, &c. See page 46 of "Street Railway" section.

Henderson (Ky.) City Ry.—Sale Ordered.—At Henderson, Ky., on Feb. 4 Judge J. W. Henson, in the Henderson Circuit Court, entered an order directing the Master Commissioner to sell the property at auction, it is said, on Feb. 18. Upset price $80,000. A special dispatch to the "Louisville Courier-Journal" says: "J. H. Lyne, the former proprietor, took a mortgage for $59,500, and it was by him that the present suit was instituted."—V. 83, p. 380; V. 78, p. 1497.

Hocking Valley Ry.—New Issue Car Trusts Offered.—William Salomon & Co., New York, are offering at prices to yield the investor 5%, the unsold portion of a new issue of $960,000 4% gold equipment obligations of $1,000 each (c*), series B of 1907, principal and interest payable in New York City, dated Feb. 15 1907, interest Feb. 15 and Aug. 15; principal due in semi-annual installments of $48,000 each from Aug. 15 1907 to Feb. 15 1917 inclusive.

These obligations will be issued for the payment of 1,000 steel gondola coal cars of 50 tons capacity, costing $1,200 each. Of the purchase price, $240,000 will be paid partly in cash and partly in material at cost to it, by the Hocking Valley Ry. Co., and the remainder from the proceeds of these obligations. Until delivery of the cars, the cash proceeds of the obligations remain on deposit with the Lincoln Trust Co., trustee, to be applied to such payment when due and the title to the cars remains with the trustee until all obligations are paid.

The $458,000 4% equipment trust gold notes, series A, dated Feb. 1 1907, referred to last week (V. 84, p. 271) were purchased from the company by Brown Brothers & Co. of New York, who are offering them for sale.

These notes are a direct obligation of the railway company, and are secured by 500 steel under frame drop bottom gondola coal cars of fifty tons capacity, constructed by the Ralston Steel Car Co., the cost of which, fully equipped with air brakes and M. C. B. couplers, aggregates $573,000. Denomination $1,000 (c*). Interest payable Feb. 1 and Aug. 1. United States Mortgage & Trust Co. of New York, trustee.—V. 83, p. 271.

Huntingdon & Broad Top Mountain RR. & Coal Co.—Earnings.—For the year ending Dec. 31:

Year.	Gross.	Net.	Charges.	Pref. Dividends.	Bal., sur
1906	$841 349	$312,305	$116,190	(7%) $140,000	$56,115

—V. 82, p. 1207.

Illinois Central Traction Co.—Earnings.—Julius Christensen & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., in offering a block of first mortgage 5% sinking fund gold bonds (compare V. 82, p. 804), guaranteed by Illinois Traction Co., report:

Earnings of Illinois Central Traction Co. for Calendar Years.

Year—	Gross.	Expenses & Taxes.	Net.	Bond Interest.	Balance, Surplus.
1906	$229,691	$126,201	$103,490	$65,000	$38,490

Compare Danville Urbana & Champaign Ry. above.—V. 82, p. 804.

Indiana Columbus & Eastern Traction Co.—Listed in Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia Stock Exchange has listed the $5,321,000 "general and refunding mortgage" 5% gold bonds. Compare V. 83, p. 37 —V. 83, p. 1098.

Kanawha & West Virginia RR.—Guaranteed Bonds Offered.—Megargel & Co., 5 Nassau Street, New York, are offering at par and interest a block of the first installment of $1,000,000 first mortgage 5% gold bonds, which alone of the issue are unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by endorsement by the Blue Creek Coal & Land Co., $800,000 thereof having already been sold. These bonds are dated July 1 1905 and due Jan. 1 1955, but subject to call after Jan. 1 1908 at 105 and interest. Interest payable Jan. and July at the Scranton Trust Co., Scranton, Pa., trustee. Denomination $1,000 (c*). Authorized, $5,000,000. These bonds, to be issued at the rate of not more than $25,000 per mile, are secured by a first lien on the road already built and in operation (about 35 miles) and will cover that in course of construction in like manner. The mortgage covers the entire property of the company, including twelve acres of valuable terminal property and docks in Charleston, equipment and all other property now owned or hereafter acquired. See further particulars in V. 83 p. 1524.

Kansas City Terminal Ry.—Stock.—The shareholders will meet at the office, corner of 22d St. and Grand Av., Kansas City, Mo., on March 23, for the purpose of voting upon a proposition to increase the capital stock from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000. John M. Egan is President and C. C. Ripley Secretary.

Acquisition.—The company has purchased the Burlington tract of 2½ acres in Kansas City. President Egan on Jan. 30 said:

This tract of land closes the purchase of real estate wanted for the depot location and approaches to same between Grand Av. and the Southwest Boulevard and consists of 115,740 27 square feet. Consideration, $263,887 82. The officials are ready to meet with the municipal authorities and discuss any features in the last ordinance.

The terminal company, it is said, now owns practically 45 acres, which have been acquired for station purposes, between Grand Av. and Broadway, this including the holdings of the Kansas City Belt Line Co.—V. 83, p. 323, 95, 153.

Kittanning & Cowanshanock Valley Street Ry.—Receivership—Suit.—The "Pittsburgh Gazette" of Jan. 31 says:

Subscribers to the stock of the Kittanning & Cowanshanock Valley Street Ry. Co., which has been placed in the hands of a receiver, will be sued for the amount of an assessment on their subscriptions. Judge Buffington, in the United States Circuit Court, made an order yesterday allowing Walter Morris, the receiver, to enter such suits. An assessment of the stock was ordered by the United States Court some time ago, but some of the subscribers claim the stock was not to be paid for until the road was completed.

Lima & Toledo Traction Co.—Earnings, &c.—E. H. Rollins & Sons, Boston, &c., when recently offering at par and interest $50,000 Fort Wayne Van Wert & Lima Traction Co. first mortgage 5% gold bonds dated April 1 1905 and due July 1 1930 (of which $1,400,000 are outstanding; see V. 82, p. 691, 804), gave the following:

The Fort Wayne Van Wert & Lima Traction Co. was leased on March 1 1906 to the Lima & Toledo Traction Co., which is the owner of a road from Lima to Toledo, 18 miles of which has just been placed in operation, the balance being under construction. Under the terms of the lease, the Lima & Toledo Traction Co. guarantees the payment of the interest on the bonds and agrees to make provision for the refunding of the principal at maturity. The Lima & Toledo Co. also leases the Lima Electric Railway & Light Co. under the terms of a lease through which it converts to its own use, after the payment of certain rentals, the surplus earnings of the Lima property, which surplus earnings are available for the payment of the interest on the Fort Wayne Van Wert & Lima Traction bonds, under the terms of the guaranty.

Earnings of Lima & Toledo Traction Co. for 11 Months ending Nov. 30 1906.

Gross earnings	$380,144	Bond and other interest	$115,579
Operating exp. (incl. taxes)	232,953	Bal., sur. "for rental pay-
Net earnings	147,191	ments on stock and divs."	31,612

The operating expenses include 4% of the gross passenger earnings for accident fund. Included above for the entire 11 months are the earnings of the Fort Wayne Van Wert & Lima Traction Co., which during January and February 1906 was under a former management.—V. 83, p. 38.

Long Island RR.—Decision.—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn on Feb. 1 dismissed the application of the company, as lessee of the Nassau Electric RR., for authority to construct a surface trolley road on portions of Atlantic Ave. outside of the present right of way, where necessary for turnouts to get around the approaches to the depressed and elevated sections of its steam road. The decision is based on the ground that the company, having availed itself of the provisions of the Atlantic Avenue Improvement Act, has no legal right to construct a surface trolley road on the right of way formerly occupied by the steam road. An appeal will be taken to the Court of Appeals. Compare V. 74, p. 1139.—V. 82, p. 864, 868.

Michigan Central RR.—Lease of Tunnel.—Notice is given that an application will be made to the Canadian Railway Commission for a recommendation to the Governor in Council, for the sanction of an agreement dated Dec. 19 1906, leasing the rights and property of the Detroit River Tunnel Co. to the Michigan Central RR.—V. 84, p. 271.

Milwaukee (Wis.) Electric Railway & Light Co.—New Director—No Action on New Securities.—At the adjourned annual meeting on Feb. 4 George P. Miller, of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., was elected a director, succeeding Frank G. Bigelow.

The meeting took no action on the issue of additional stock contemplated in the notice sent out by the officers, but adjourned subject to call. Compare V. 84, p. 102, 221.

Mobile Jackson & Kansas City RR.—Change of Management.—As a result of negotiations conducted by Prince Poniatowski, the President of the French Finance Corporation of America, the management and control of the Mobile Jackson & Kansas City and its leased line, the Gulf & Chicago, have been vested in a voting trust consisting of John E. Borne, President of the Colonial Trust Co., the trustees of the Gulf & Chicago mortgage; Alexander McDonald, a director of the Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Ry., and B. F. Yoakum of the Rock Island system. Messrs. McDonald and Yoakum are large stockholders in the Mobile Jackson & Kansas City and the Gulf & Chicago, and it is said that through these gentlemen the funds have been provided to take care of the floating debt, understood to be something over $1,000,000. The further fact that Mr. Yoakum will supervise the operation of the road, it is thought, indicates that the line will eventually form a part of the Rock Island system as an outlet to the Gulf.

The argument on the appeal of the company from the order vacating the receivership for the Mobile Jackson & Kansas City pending such argument has been set for a hearing in the Supreme Court of Alabama on April 3. In view, however, of the change in the management brought about by the united action of the more important interests, and the further fact that there has been no default in payment of interest, it is thought that the arrangement just made will not be disturbed.—V. 84, p. 102 99.

National RR. of Mexico.—Second Dividend.—The directors on Jan. 29 declared the second regular semi-annual dividend of 1% on the first preferred stock, payable Feb. 11 to stockholders of record Feb. 5.—V. 83, p. 1471.

New Orleans Railway & Light Co.—Maturing Bonds.—The $125,000 New Orleans & Carrollton Railway, Light & Power Co. 2d mortgage 6% bonds Nos. 226 to 350, aggregating $125,000, matured Feb. 1 and are being paid on presentation at the Whitney-Central National Bank, New Orleans. Compare V. 82, p. 1502. V. 83, p. 1411.

New York Central & Hudson River RR.—Retrenchment.—At a meeting of the directors of the New York Central and several of its subsidiary lines, including the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central and the Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis, held on Feb. 6, the question of limiting improvement work during the current year, it is learned, was informally discussed and generally approved. A director says:

We have determined not to do more improvement work this year than we see our way clear to pay for, and this means that we have got to limit such expenditures to a much smaller amount than we would do were it possible to sell stock or bonds advantageously. The New York Central has found it impossible to interest any one in new issues of either stock or bonds, and it was for this reason that we sold $50,000,000 of notes. We do not feel justified, however, in going far with financing of this kind, and until permanent securities can be placed to better advantage than now, we shall have to go slowly in the matter of improvement work.

We have under contract now new equipment costing all told about $30,000,000. The recent note issue was placed principally to cover the cost of this equipment and to provide $10,000,000 for the continuation of the work on the New York City terminal. The balance is to be used for other general purposes. The orders for new equipment we cannot cancel, nor would we cancel them if we could. We believe that it will all be needed to handle the road's traffic, but other less essential expenditures will have to be curtailed."—V. 84, p. 271, 159.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Offer for Steamship Lines.—Charles W. Morse has made a proposition to purchase this company's steamship lines with a view, it is supposed, to including them in his proposed amalgamation under the title of the Consolidated Steamship Lines (V. 84, p. 53, 161, 223).—V. 84, p. 271, 221.

Owensboro (Ky.) City RR.—New Stock.—A press dispatch says that the capital stock has been increased from $50,000 to $150,000, all the additional stock being 6% preferred, redeemable at the option of the company at the end of five years.—V. 79, p. 270.

Pennsylvania RR.—Payment Received for N. Y. Post Office Site.—On Jan. 28 a check for $1,660,085, drawn on the Assistant Treasurer of the United States, was received by this company's subsidiary, the Pennsylvania New York & Long Island Ry. Co., in payment for the new Post Office site on the east side of 8th Av. between 31st and 33d streets, being part of the land acquired in connection with the building of the company's terminal station for its tunnel lines into the city.

Car Trust Leases Filed Under New Equipment Trust.—The "Philadelphia Record" of Feb. 5 said:

The managers of the "Pennsylvania general freight equipment trust," the recently organized $100,000,000 perpetual car trust, yesterday placed on record in the Recorder of Deed's office, a series of leases covering 21,878 cars, leased by the trust to the Pennsylvania and involving the first issue, under the new trust, of $25,000,000 of certificates in series of $1,000,000 each. These certificates represent the costs of the cars ordered for 1906 delivery. Compare V. 84, p. 221

Rock Island Co.—Probable Acquisition.—See Mobile Jackson & Kansas City RR. above.

Conditions Not Favorable for Extensions.—A press dispatch from Austin, Tex., on Feb. 5 states that B. F. Yoakum, Chairman of the executive boards of the Rock Island and St. Louis & San Francisco railroads, in an authorized interview said:

We are now completing the work we have been carrying on for three years, which includes the Trinity & Brazos Valley from Fort Worth and Dallas to Houston and Galveston, the line from Houston to New Orleans including the extension of the Rio Grande Northwestern to Newton and the Gulf Coast line. (The Trinity & Brazos Valley is a joint enterprise of the St. Louis & San Francisco and the Colorado Southern. See the last-named company, V. 84, p. 270.—Ed.)

We are not contemplating any new construction, although there is some building which should be undertaken within the next few years. Money conditions are such that we shall not undertake much new work.

While the tendency has been toward a reduction of rates and some objectionable legislation has been enacted, I believe a better and more friendly feeling between the people and the railroads is being brought around.

I think we fool ourselves if we think this great rush of prosperity is going to continue forever.—V. 83, p. 1591.

Rockland South Thomaston & Owl's Head Ry.—Sale March 8.—A press dispatch from Rockland, Me., announces that under decree filed in the Supreme Judicial Court of the State on Feb. 4 this property will be sold at Rockland to the highest bidder on March 8.

The receivers are Arthur S. Littlefield, S. Thayer Kimball and Joseph E. Moore. The line to Crescent Beach was completed in the summer of 1906.—V. 83, p. 97.

St. Louis & San Francisco RR.—Proposed Consolidation.—The Congressional Committee on Indian Affairs has approved the bill authorizing the consolidation of several lines owned by this company which are not parallel and competing, as follows: St. Louis San Francisco & New Orleans, from Hope, Ark., 280 miles; St. Louis & Oklahoma City, from Sapulpa, I. T., 105 miles; St. Louis Oklahoma & Southern, from Sapulpa, 193 miles; Oklahoma City & Western, from Oklahoma City, 182 miles.—V. 83, p. 1591.

Seaboard Air Line Ry.—Extension of Collateral Notes.—The Continental Trust Co. of Baltimore gives notice, by advertisement on another page of this issue, that the holders of the $4,665,000 "mortgage and collateral trust" 5% 3-year gold bonds, dated March 1 1904, who shall deposit the same with said trust company in Baltimore, the New York Trust Co., New York, or E. H. Rollins & Sons, Boston, on or before March 1, will receive a cash payment of $20 on each bond and have their bonds extended until May 1 1911. All bonds not so extended will be purchased by the Continental Trust Co. on March 1 1907. President Alfred Walter gives the following facts regarding the extension:

The company is to extend the bonds from March 1 1907 to May 1 1911, with interest at the rate of 5% per annum, payable semi-annually on Sept. 1 and March 1 in each year (except that the final installment shall be interest for two months, payable May 1 1911), at the office of the New York Trust Co., the lien of said "mortgage and collateral trust agreement" dated March 1 1904, now securing the said bonds, to continue unimpaired. The interest due March 1 1907 will be cashed at the time of the deposit of the bonds for extension, upon surrender to the Continental Trust Co. of Baltimore, Md. of the coupons due March 1 1907.—V. 84, p. 272.

Southern Railway Co.—Application to List.—The New York Stock Exchange has been requested to list $250,000 additional St. Louis Division 4% bonds of 1951, $800,000 additional Memphis Division first mortgage 5% bonds of 1996 and $1,351,000 additional first consolidated mortgage 5% bonds of 1994, making the amounts listed $12,500,000, $6,583,000 and $48,137,000 respectively.—V. 84, p. 221, 159.

Transcontinental Electric RR.—A Huge Project.—This company, incorporated under the laws of Maine on Jan. 3, with $50,000,000 of authorized capital stock, recently offered in this city $5,000,000 of its stock at $66 per $100 share.

This company was organized in 1901 with an authorized capital of $20,000. In September 1903 the capital was increased to $100,000; Nov. 2 1906 it was further increased to an authorized amount of $500,000 of common stock (par $100), also an equal amount of 7% cumulative preferred stock (par $25), with an authorized bond issue of $500,000, secured by mortgage to the Spokane & Eastern Trust Co. as trustee. Knickerbocker Ice Co., Chicago.—Injunction.—Judge Grosscup in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago on Wednesday granted the temporary injunction asked for by Lynden Evans of Chicago and Meyer H. Lehman of Lehman Bros., New York, (holders of 95 and 400 shares of stock respectively), acting in behalf of the stockholders protective committee (V. 83, p. 1527) restraining Thomas Maclay & Co. from voting on the 31,400 shares of stock of record in their names or in those of other holders in their interest. Accordingly the annual meeting which was to take place on Wednesday was adjourned for lack of a quorum to March 14.

The proceedings are based on the broad grounds (1) that the laws of Illinois, under which the Knickerbocker Co. is incorporated, forbid the holding of stock by a non-resident corporation, and (2) that the plan to turn over control to the Western Ice Co. is designed to bring alleged undue profit to Thomas Maclay & Co. at the expense of minority holders, such alleged profit consisting of $2,550,000 in securities of the Western Ice Co. in excess of what other holders of a corresponding amount of Knickerbocker stock would receive under the terms of sale to the Western Ice Co. —V. 83, p. 1593, 1527.

Laurel Lake Mills, Fall River.—Stock Dividend.—The stockholders voted Feb. 5 to increase the stock from $300,000 to $600,000 (in shares of $100 each), the new stock to be distributed as a 100% stock dividend.

In 1899 the stock was reduced from $500,000 to $200,000 and $100,000 paid for in cash. This reduction is to be restored. During the year ending Oct. 1 1906 dividends amounting to 8% were paid, the last of 5% including 3% extra. Another dividend of 5%, including 3% extra, was paid Feb. 1 1907.

People's Gas Light & Coke Co. of Chicago.—Decision in Mills' Suit.—The United States Supreme Court on Feb. 4 affirmed the decision of Judge Grosscup in the action brought by D. O. Mills granting an injunction pending the trial of the case restraining the enforcement of the 75-cent gas ordinance passed by the City Council in Oct. 1900.

Justice Day, who writes the prevailing opinion, points out that the court merely decides the question of jurisdiction and not the merits of the case, stating that there was an entire lack of testimony of any collusive action at the time of the commencement of the suit. Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Harlan dissented. The question of the right of the city to fix the price of gas at 75 cents remains to be tried. The ordinance was repealed at the time of the settlement fixing the price at 85 cents for 5 years from Feb. 1 1906, without prejudice to the city's right to maintain its validity in the Mills suit. Compare V. 82, p. 574; V. 78, p. 346.—V. 84, p. 225.

Randolph-Macon Coal Co.—Default.—This company defaulted Feb. 1 upon the interest due on its outstanding $2,100,000 5% bonds. The company's embarrassment is attributed to a combination of unfortunate developments which are described for the "New York Summary" as follows:

Within three months after the company was organized the sale of its slack coal was made impossible because oil had supplanted this product. At that time about 30% of the company's output was slack, which it was able to sell at 60c. a ton. About $250,000 was expended in installing electrical mining apparatus, which enabled the compay to reduce the percentage of slack to 10%. About that time, however, the miners refused to work under the new system and in many instances smashed the machinery. The difficulties with the miners were eventually settled, and the company is now operating, but the losses entailed made it impossible to meet the Feb. 1 bond interest.

The directors personally advanced some $200,000 to meet the needs of the company, and then went to the bondholders for assistance to tide the company over. This was declined, and so it has been decided to institute receivership proceedings, and place the property in control of the bondholders.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. holds $1,000,000 of the bonds, but it is believed that "through the measures that will be taken the company will suffer no loss in its investment." See V. 82, p. 1045; V. 83, p. 276.

Republic Iron & Steel Co.—Payment on Deferred Dividend.—The directors on Feb 5 declared payable April 1 to holders of record March the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the preferred stock and a dividend of 2% on account of deferred dividends on the preferred issue, leaving 2% accumulated dividends unpaid.

Acquisition.—The "Iron Trade Review" of Jan. 31 said:

The Republic Iron & Steel Co., through its mining department, has just purchased three properties on the Mesabi Range, each of which contains, approxmately, 500,000 tons of Bessemer ore, and from each of which it is expected at least 25,000 tons will be shipped during the season of 1907. Shaft sinking will be started within 30 days. The properties are the Onondaga mine, formerly controlled by the Onondagal ron Co., and the Mariska and Monica mines, owned by the Mariska and Monica Iron companies. The royalty on the Onondaga property is to be 75 cents per ton and on the other two properties 55 cents per ton.—V. 83, p. 1417.

Richmond (Ind.) Natural Gas Co.—Decision as to Regulation of Prices.—The Supreme Court of Indiana on Feb. 1 held that the cities and towns Act of 1905 does not give cities power to regulate prices to be charged for gas by companies already occupying the streets under a franchise.

The court holds that it is only when making a new contract or granting a new franchise that a city can fix a minimum price to be fixed for gas and that therefore the ordinance passed Oct. 16 1905 by the Common Council reducing the price of natural gas within the city to 30 cents per 1,000 (the company's charge being 50 cents) is invalid. Any limitation on the price of gas furnished by companies which have laid their mains under existing franchises would therefore have to be made by the Legislature.

Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co.—Proposed Bond Issue.—The "Toronto Globe" says:

The directors at the annual meeting will ask the shareholders for authority to issue $2,000,000 of bonds. It is intended that of this amount $500,000 shall be issued in the near future and $500,000 later in the season, if the company's new steamers now being constructed are completed. The remainder will be left in the treasury. —V. 83, p. 1040.

Rubber Goods Manufacturing Co.—Proposed Merger.—A committee consisting of directors of the United States Rubber and Rubber Goods companies has been appointed to arrange for the liquidation in the near future of the Rubber Goods Co. Only about $200,000 of the $16,941,700 common and a small amount also of the $10,351,400 preferred stock, it is reported, are outstanding. The leading minority holders, including, it is said, August Heckscher, who owned $150,000 common and $240,000 preferred stock, have lately turned in their stock for exchange on the basis of the offer of the United States Rubber Co.—V. 83, p. 690.

St. Louis County Gas Co.—New Subsidiary of North American Co.—See page 278 of last week's "Chronicle."

Scarsdale Estates, New York.—Coupon Payment.—Secretary J. W. Thayer on Jan. 25 notified the holders of the general lien 5% 10-year gold bonds that coupons Nos. 1 to 4 inclusive would be paid upon presentation at the Fourth National Bank in the City of New York. The company is a New York corporation, capital stock $500,000, all out. James G. Cannon, President; Secretary, J. W. Thayer. Office, Scarsdale, N. Y.

Silverware Stocks Co.—Stock Subscribed—Acquisitions.—This company's $2,000,000 stock has all been subscribed by the stockholders of the Gorham Manufacturing Co. (per plan in V. 83, p. 1292), and most of the subscriptions have been paid, the remainder being due Feb. 15. While no official statement is obtainable, there is reason to believe that out of the proceeds it has been arranged to purchase the control of the Reed & Barton Company. In addition, the company, it is understood, controls the Whiting Mfg. Co., the William B. Durgin Co. and the William B. Kerr Co., the holdings of the Gorham in those companies having been purchased under the aforesaid plan.

Tacoma (Wash.) Gas Light Co.—Earnings.—E. H. Gay & Co., Boston, New York, &c., are offering at 97½ and interest, by advertisement on another page of this issue of the "Chronicle," $500,000 20-year refunding mortgage (first mortgage after July 1 1907) gold bonds dated June 1 1906 and due June 1 1926. The company does the entire gas-lighting business in the prosperous city of Tacoma, its status being quite fully set forth in V. 82, p. 1501. A circular says:

Since the new management took charge of the property on July 1 1906, the output of gas increased from that time up to Jan. 1 1907 60% over the same period in 1905. On this basis the output for 1907 will be at the lowest calculation 125,000,000 cubic feet.

Official Statement of Earnings for Years ending Dec. 31 1906 and 1905.

Of these bonds, less than $100,000 were outstanding from Jan. 1 to June 1 1906, the balance having been issued since the latter date in connection with new holder, benenes and extensions of street mains.
—V. 82, p. 1501.

United Box Board & Paper Co.—Decision.—Vice-Chancellor Emery on Jan. 2 handed down a decision in the action brought by the objecting stockholders to prevent the carrying out of the plan under which the equity in the American Strawboard stock is to be sold to the new American Box Board Co. The court holds that the management has fully met the charges of fraud and conspiracy, and refuses to enjoin the sale of the American Strawboard stock to the American Box Board Co., but orders that the actual transfer of the Strawboard stock shall await the trial of the case or further order of the court. Compare V. 84, p. 164, 107.

Touching the suggestion of the Mitchell protective committee that the financial requirements of the company be met by the sale of general mortgage bonds (V. 84, p. 275), the directors say that they favor the sale of $850,000 general mortgage bonds at 80, and to show their good faith are willing to take $100,000 of the bonds on condition that the stockholders subscribe for the remaining $750,000.—V. 84, p. 275, 164.

United Copper Co.—Exchange of Preferred Shares.—A circular dated Feb. 5 offers to the preferred shareholders the privilege of receiving for each $100 of preferred $125 of common stock, together with a bonus of 1% in case the proposal is accepted by Feb. 18. The offer may be accepted within 30 days from Feb. 5, but must be accepted prior to Feb. 18 in order to secure the 1% bonus. Assenting shares should be deposited with the Empire Trust Co., New York. The new stock will be delivered May 4. President Heinze points out that the company earned nearly 14% on its common stock last year while paying only 7%, and says:

Should you accept the company's offer to exchange your preferred stock for common stock, you would increase your income nearly 50%, irrespective of the probability of increased divdends which may be declared this year on the common stock, which is likely to be placed upon the same dividend basis as Amalgamated.—V. 84, p. 107.

United States Finishing Co.—Acquisition.—The company on Jan. 22 acquired the Apponaug (R. I.) Print Works. The property is subject to a mortgage of $200,000 to the Union Trust Co. of Providence as trustee. The purchase price, although currently reported as $500,000, has not been made public.—V. 83, p. 1175.

United States Independent Telephone Co.—Change in Control.—The offer noted last week for the purchase of this company's securities at 35 for the bonds, 5 for the common stock and 1 for the deferred stock is dependent upon a verification of the accounts and the deposit with the Security Trust Co. of Rochester on or before Feb. 28 of not less than 76% of the bonds and 67% of the stock. A large amount, if not the entire amount, required for the consummation of the deal, it is understood, has already been deposited, the depositors including, according to the circular issued:

George Eastman, Walter B. Duffy, Hiram W. Sibley, Thomas W. Flaucane, James S. Watson, Edward Bausch, who signed the circular.

United States Industrial Alcohol Co.—New Subsidiary of Distillers' Securities Corporation.—This company was incorporated in West Virginia in October 1906 with $18,000,000 authorized stock to manufacture denatured alcohol in the interest of the Distillers' Securities Corporation. A detailed authoritative statement will be given out in a month or two. Meantime, the following facts learned by us may be of interest. Of the $12,000,000 common stock a majority is controlled through a voting trust by the Distilling Co. of America, more than 90% of whose stock is owned by the Distillers' Securities Corporation. The Distilling Co. guarantees the dividends on the $6,000,000 7% preferred stock, all of which was sold for cash at par to acquire properties and $4,000,000 working capital for the new company. The first quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the preferred stock was paid Jan. 15. Compare V. 83, p. 972, 1349.

The company, it is understood, took over several plants engaged in the wood alcohol business, and a number of plants controlled by the Distilling Company best adapted to the purpose were turned over to it. The company has not issued any bonds, although there is some bonded debt on the properties acquired. The directors are:

Henry Siebert (President), E. J. Moore (Vice-President), Floyd Vall (Treasurer), R. T. Siebert, H. S. Kearney, John S. George and Wm. S Gray. James P. McGovern is Secretary. Office, 100 William Street, N.Y.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has dwindled to smaller proportions than ever, partly, it would appear, by reason of the anti-option agitation which has still been in progress and partly because of a greater disinclination than ever on the part of the outside public to buy for a rise in the face of enormous receipts. Yet latterly the drift of prices has been upward, owing in part to some slight decrease in the crop movement, but more than all to distinctly strong advices from Liverpool, where the spot sales have suddenly increased materially, and where the near-by months have risen so noticeably as to suggest to many here the possibility of something like a "squeeze" in these deliveries, owing to the difficulty of securing cotton for delivery in accordance with the provisions of the Liverpool contract. In the absence of anything like a popular speculation for a rise, really the chief source of strength has been the persistent firmness of the spot markets both at home and abroad; or, in other words, the growing evidence, as it seems to many, of a world's consumption of American cotton transcending anything in the experience of the past. Liverpool people have continued to buy March here in liquidating straddles made some time ago at much narrower differences, and spot interests have been buying March and May. Continental spinners at times have bought the next-crop months, some Austrian mills making purchases on Thursday. Reports as to Manchester's trade have been in the main favorable, and similar reports are in circulation in regard to the cotton goods business in this country. Predictions have been rife of an early decrease in the movement at the Southwest, which, however, have thus far been only partially verified. The "into sight" movement for the week, however, shows some falling off, and an impression has prevailed in some quarters that the week's statistics of receipts, exports and spinners' takings would, on the whole, make a rather bullish exhibit, although the quantity brought into sight will still materially exceed that for the corresponding week even two years ago in the high-record crop season. To-day prices advanced, owing to the continued strength of the spot markets everywhere, and considerable buying of March and other near months, partly by spot interests, with a view, it was supposed, to exporting cotton that may be tendered on March contracts. Moreover, predictions of a decrease in receipts shortly also had some effect. The main influence, however, continued to be the rapid absorption of the actual staple. Spot cotton has been quiet and firm. Middling uplands closed at 11.10c., a rise during the week of 10 points.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, Feb. 8 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have been firm but not quotably changed as a rule, although several grades have advanced slightly, owing to the rise in wheat. Trading, however, has continued quiet, any advance having the effect of making a dull market still duller. At the principal milling centres of the Northwest trade has been stagnant. Some of the winter-wheat mills have reported larger transactions at times, but the improvement has proved of short duration as a rule. Exporters continue to hold aloof from the market, and the clearances from the seaboard have been small. Rye flour has been dull and steady. Corn meal has been dull and unchanged.

In wheat there has been a considerable expansion of speculation, partly under the stimulus of rising foreign markets and the strength of other grain. Moreover, the Northwestern receipts have continued small, cash prices in that part of the country have been noticeably strong, and very cold weather has prevailed in that section, together with snow blockades, which have made the work of marketing the crop more arduous than before. Then, too, the temperatures have been very low over the winter-wheat belt, even extending well into the south, while the snow protection, according to some advices, is but partial. But the one great source of strength in the foreign markets has been the further advices to the effect that the famine in Russia is so serious that the Government has been buying Durum wheat, rye, barley and maize for the stricken districts; while it is also intimated that in all probability Russia's export surplus will be materially reduced, if indeed there is any at all. To make matters worse, the weather in Southwestern Russia of late has been, according to some advices, distinctly bad. In our Northwestern section snows are so heavy that there is some talk as to the possibility of more or less delay in spring-wheat seeding, though it would seem somewhat early to form any conclusion on that point. An active demand for export sprang up here on Thursday, though during most of the week the foreign business has been small. Moreover, advices from various sources are to the effect that notwithstanding the recent severe weather the winter wheat in this country has suffered no serious injury, but is, on the contrary, doing very well, with adequate snow protection. The Argentine shipments, too, have increased somewhat. The dominant factors, however, have been the Russian news, rising European markets, the strong Northwestern situation, reflex influence of rising prices for corn and oats, a broadening speculation, and, within a day or two, large export sales, partly Durum wheat, it is stated, to Russia. To-day prices were easier in the main, owing to realizing, disappointing cables and a less active demand.

Indian corn futures have advanced under the stimulus of an increased speculative demand and the rise in wheat and oats. The cash market at the West has been active and rising. The receipts increased early in the week as a result of colder weather, which improved the roads, but of late the movement has again fallen to small proportions. The receipts of contract grade, moreover, have been insignificant, a fact which has caused more or less covering. Bulls have given support and commission houses have been good buyers at times. Some rain has fallen in Argentina, but the crop advices from that country, as a rule, report serious damage from drought and locusts, and it is expected that the exports from that country this season will show a large reduction. To-day prices sagged under liquidation and a reaction in wheat and oats.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have advanced, with the trading active and at times excited. Bulls have continued to manipulate the market, and 45c. is predicted for the May option in Chicago. Commission houses have been active buyers and shorts have covered freely. There has been an absence of aggressive resistance to the upward movement. The cash demand has been brisk at advancing quotations. The receipts have continued on a small scale, and although there has been free realizing of profits at times, the offerings have been readily absorbed. To-day the market was lower on realizing sales.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, Feb. 8 1907.

The situation in the cotton goods market is almost without precedent, the strength of the consumptive demand being far and away above the output of goods; in fact, so much so that many mills are sold well up into 1908. Buyers are so eager for goods that they are paying the advances willingly in an effort to get near-by delivery, though contracts are being placed many months ahead. Purchasers from the South and West have been buying more freely than usual, finding an incentive in the light stocks in jobbers' hands. Many lines of fabrics are held at value, and advances are readily paid where deliveries can be guaranteed. Up to date there is no indication of a reaction in this branch of industry, though merchants recognize the possibility of higher prices curtailing consumption. It is significant in this regard that jobbers are making contracts with the mills for the entire year 1907, where possible, in staple goods. The whole trend is toward higher values, standard print cloths having been advanced, and the same being true of gray goods and colored cottons. The price of the raw material is not a factor in the steady rise, mills paying above current prices, besides taking more than the average waste. An influence which tends to further deplete stocks is the congestion on the railroads due to snowstorms, though the situation in this respect had previously been bad, particularly on the Southern roads. Orders from China are light, being mostly for small lots, but the depletion in stocks at Shanghai suggests an improvement later on. There is an active demand for the better class of woolens and worsteds in men's wear and dress goods.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Feb. 2 were 13,504 packages, valued at $695,823, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $1,827,132 in 1907, against $2,189,546 in 1906.

The demand for heavy brown drills and sheetings has been exceedingly active, mills being sold up through the third quarter with prices firmly held, calls for sheeting purposes being urgent. Fortunately for the trade, the China movement is light, though constant depletion of Shanghai stocks does not argue for a continuance of this condition. Bleached goods are so scarce that a famine is talked of in ticketed lines during the next month, sellers being forced into the gray goods market in order to obtain material for completing orders. Some Southern mills have advanced the prices for wide sheetings ½ cent, the output being well taken during 1907. Supplies also of sheets and pillow cases are low, with prices firm. Coarse, colored cotton goods have been advanced over last year, both tickings and denims being quoted almost a cent higher, requests for fuller deliveries being frequent. Linings are active, with the finer grades having an exceptional call. Higher prices are being asked for leading dress ginghams, with the supply inadequate. Requests for napped goods are being made to eke out depleted stocks. Print cloth regulars are ⅛ cent higher, but stocks are being held for full value, mills asking as high as 4½ cents. Prints have continued active, in spite of recent advances, and mills are well sold ahead.

WOOLEN GOODS.—A more satisfactory business was reported in the men's wear department during the week, attending the opening of higher grade fabrics, buyers being reported as less conservatively inclined. However, the general developments were not especially pleasing, comparative quiet reigning in the lower grades. Large clothing houses were buyers on quite an extensive scale of the new lines of woolens, but the smaller operators still confine themselves to sample pieces. In the better-class fabrics stripes are apparently the favorites and fancy cloths seem most desired. Some houses report a better business in suitings than overcoatings. Mercerized fabrics find ready buyers in some lines, but this is not the general story. Dress goods have been in fair demand with the trend toward fancy grades.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The imported woolen and worsted goods situation shows little change. Silks hold steady, while ribbons maintain recent advances. Linens are strong and in limited supply with burlaps steady.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN JANUARY.

Sales of municipal bonds in January were very light, reaching only $8,777,679, not counting $22,179,500 temporary loans and $601,125 disposals of Canadian securities. Large issues were few, the disposals made by Allegheny County, Pa., and Chicago Sanitary District, Ill., each for $500,000, being the heaviest for the month, with the exception of New York City's sinking fund takings.

The number of municipalities emitting bonds and the number of separate issues made during January 1907 were 134 and 168 respectively. This contrasts with 165 and 211 for December 1906 and with 126 and 196 for January 1906.

For comparative purposes we add the following table showing the aggregates for January for a series of years:

1907	$8,777,679	1901	$9,214,854	1896	$6,507,721
1902	10,915,845

Owing to the crowded condition of our columns, we are obliged to omit this week the customary table showing the month's bond sales in detail. It will be given next week.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Several plans of various degrees of usefulness for relieving the money market and so stimulating business have been made public this week. Among these, quite unexpectedly on Monday Secretary Shaw, to provide against a close money market during these last days of his official life—inasmuch also as Government income is large and accumulating in the Sub-Treasury—advertised that he would purchase $25,000,000 of the 4% bonds due July 1 at 101½ flat. Few expect that the amount of the offer will be accepted. That view seems to be sound, inasmuch as Mr. Shaw under date of Dec. 10 made an offer to buy $10,000,000 of the same issue of bonds at 101 for registered and 102 for coupons, and only got $2,867,550. Now, notwithstanding his bid is a trifle higher, yet, as there are only about 113 millions of the bonds outstanding, of which the public (savings banks, individuals, &c.) hold about 76 millions, leaving about 37 millions on deposit in the Treasury as security for circulation, the chances of relieving the money market to any considerable extent through this device does not look promising.

Whether Mr. Shaw will let affairs drift until he vacates the Treasury Department, with this offer outstanding, but otherwise affording no relief from the accumulating Government revenue, or help to the banks in the effort to return the 6 millions of deposits called, remains an unsolved problem. Such a course as that has not been the Secretary's method. Hitherto he has yielded to circumstances and always had a scheme of his own up his sleeve to avert any severe strain, and in that work his mind has proved a highly fertile one. The most notable decision within his official life was the one he reached in September 1903 ("Chronicle," page 471). Withdrawals of Treasury cash up to that time had been based on the Constitutional provision that "no money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law." (United States Constitution, Article 1, Sec. 9, Sub-Sec. 6.) This provision was always assumed to mean that all Government revenue, internal as well as custom dues, once in the Treasury was to stay there until an appropriation authorizing its withdrawal had been passed. The nullifying of this conclusion was reached through the Secretary putting a surprising interpretation on two sections of the United States Revised Statutes—interpretations which he held justified the assumption that all depositary banks are a part of the Treasury. Hence not only "the rooms in the Treasury building" but "such other apartments as are provided as places of deposit of the public money become a part of the Treasury of the United States." In reaching the foregoing a section was added from the law of 1864 which reads that "all national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury shall be depositaries of public money and financial agents of the Government,"&c. These provisions taken together Secretary Shaw held were sufficient to justify the assumption that designated depositaries were as much a part of the Treasury as the Treasury Building at Washington.

The Senate Finance Committee, through its chairman, Senator Aldrich, reported on Wednesday in a modified form the currency bill which passed the House last year. It does not cover all the features we could wish, but contains provision for the rectification of several of the more needful and practical points which, when enacted, will remove much of the friction now attendant upon the operation of our currency system. The first provision, if correctly reported by the press, is the least desirable; it adopts the House bill provision to replace the $10 silver certificates by gold certificates of the same denomination. We object to this change because it keeps alive the silver certificate. The note was objectionable enough when it had silver bullion back of it; but when the seignorage was coined and the silver certificate became to that extent a silver dollar currency, it seems out of character to turn the thing suddenly into a gold note and keep the silver dollar still alive. If the same Act directed that the silver dollars representing those certificates be sold for silver bullion, to that extent the Treasury would have taken a start towards correcting our many-sided currency system. Instead of that, the $10 silver certificates retired are to be continued in existence—turned into $1 and $2 bills.

A subsequent part of the proposed Act provides, in order to relieve a scarcity of small bills, that whenever and so long as silver certificates of the denominations of one dollar, two dollars and five dollars shall be, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury insufficient to meet the public demand, he is authorized to issue United States notes of the denominations of one dollar, two dollars and five dollars, and upon the issue of such notes of such denominations an equal amount of United States notes of higher denominations shall be retired and canceled.

The Senate Committee also added another amendment making all national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury to be depositaries of public money under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and after being so appointed that they may be employed as financial agents of the Government. Every association so designated as receiver or depositary of the public money shall take and receive at par all the national currency bills by whatever association issued which have been paid into the Government for internal revenue or for customs dues. The committee likewise increased the aggregate of national bank notes that may be withdrawn in any one month from $3,000,000 to $9,000,000; and, with consent of the Comptroller of the Currency and approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, with such withdrawal a proportionate amount of the bonds held as security for circulating notes may also be taken out of the Treasury.

We called attention a week ago to the unusual circumstance that there was an entire absence of any derangement in the London financial markets, notwithstanding the renewal in greater volume that week of the export of gold from London to New York. Furthermore, not only did the movement not excite any apprehensions at the British capital, as evidenced in the unchanged open market discount rates, but this same serenity was also shown in the maintenance of the normal price of 77 shillings 9½ pence per ounce for gold bars not only by the Bank but also by the bullion dealers, while the week's consignment from South Africa was about equally divided between the Bank, the India Council and the representatives of American bankers. This week the cable announces that a somewhat unique incident is reported to have occurred in London on Monday in connection with the bidding for the $3,000,000 South African gold which was then offered in the bullion market. Representatives of American gold importers are said to have made arrangements to purchase a considerable part of that offering; the Bank was also prepared actively to bid for the metal. Conditions of a more or less unsettling character seem to have induced the Bank of England Governors to secure for that institution, if possible, all the gold offered. The Governors were apparently unwilling to resort to active bidding for the metal against other interests which were seeking to procure it; such a course might have unduly advanced the price, possibly to the prejudice of bankers identified with operations that depended upon a comparatively free movement of the metal. Accordingly, the Bank's representatives are said to have approached those of the American importers with a request that they refrain from bidding, thus permitting the Bank to secure the gold; such request was acceded to and the Bank bought the bulk of the consignment.

This incident, if correct as stated, is noteworthy because of the reported solicitation by the Bank of noninterference with its effort to procure the gold; under ordinary conditions the Bank would doubtless have acted independently and bid for the metal regardless of the effect of such bidding upon the market price. If the course which the Bank took can be regarded as indicative of a purpose to keep the export movement to New York or elsewhere comparatively free or unobstructed by a resort to the usual restrictive devices, it may, if such purpose shall not be changed, result in our importers obtaining, in the aggregate, a considerable volume of the metal, so long as extraordinary measures shall not be taken to export the gold for mere profit. It is still a conspicuous fact that the price of bars and of American coin has been but slightly changed; on Monday, when the bid quotation was recorded, an advance of only ⅛ of a penny per ounce was made. This would seem to show that the bullion dealers are still in accord with the Bank in the policy of maintenance of a free movement of the metal. There is of course the possibility of the development of a situation which may compel the Bank to change its policy and impose restrictions. At the moment, however, the Bank is exercising forbearance; so long as American importers shall be equally indulgent, the gold movement will be attended with a minimum of friction.

Much space is being given in the daily papers to the series of addresses which W. H. Mallock, the English writer on social and economic topics, is delivering at Columbia University under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. The lectures deserve all the prominence that is being accorded to them. They deal with one of the live problems of the day, and do it in an intelligent, rational way. The trend of the times is in the direction of the assumption of new and increased functions by government—the relegation to the central authority of things previously left to private initiative and under private control—and from this descent to socialism is only another step. Moreover, the endeavor is to persuade the wage earners that only through socialism can they attain the full measure of their independence. Mr. Mallock is very happy in the way he disposes of the old-time fallacy, so deep rooted, that manual labor is the only producer of wealth. In refuting this assertion, he points out that a given population under modern conditions will produce, say, two, three, four or five times the amount of wealth that a similar population produced 150 years ago. This being true, how is the change to be explained on the theory that the production of wealth depends alone upon manual labor. In other words, if the only agency in the creation of wealth is ordinary labor, why do a thousand laborers working in the year 1907 produce so incomparably more than they produced working, say, in the year 1760? The socialist answers that knowledge has increased, that methods of production have improved, and that average labor has thus become indefinitely more productive.

But Mr. Mallock well states that to say this is only begging the question. To what is this increase of knowledge and these improvements of method due? Are they due to average manual labor itself? Are they due to manual labor in any sense? In seeking an answer, Mr. Mallock takes up the theories that have been advanced in the past to explain the wonderful improvement established. Ruskin explains the advance of labor from its lowest to its highest efficiency by the gradual development of skill. Mr. Mallock thinks Ruskin's definition of skill admirable, but it does not cover the case. In skill as defined by Ruskin we no doubt have a correct explanation of how labor in some cases produces products whose value is great while in others it produces products whose value is relatively infinitesimal. But the products whose value is due to exceptional skill, though they form a portion of the wealth of the modern world, are not typical of it. The distinctive feature of modern wealth—production—is the multiplication of goods relatively to the time spent in producing them and the consequent cheapening of each article individually.

The answer of Adam Smith he regards as more to the point. That writer, in his "Wealth of Nations," contended that in all progressive communities the chief cause enhancing the productive power of the individual laborer is not the development among some of faculties that are above the average, but a more effective development of powers common to all by the fact that labor is divided so that a man by devoting his life to the performance of one operation acquires a manual dexterity otherwise beyond his reach. But Mr. Mallock urges that this simple division of labor takes us but a very little way in the history of industrial progress. The secret of modern production resides in two factors. One of these is the development of machinery. The other is the increasing application of exceptional intelligence, knowledge and energy, not to the manual labor of those who possess these exceptional qualifications, but to the direction and co-ordination of the variety of individual operations into which the manual labor of others on an increasing scale divides itself. It is to this latter factor that the development of modern machinery is itself due.

Mr. Mallock gives as a simple illustration of the economic functions of a man's intelligence and knowledge in directing labor, not of his own hands, but of the hands of others, the case of a printed book. The labor of the printers and the paper-makers is the same in kind and quality whether the book be a work of genius or a mere compilation of unreadable nonsense—whether thousands of people want to read it or nobody. What makes the book valuable, if it be valuable, is its contents, and these are wholly independent of the manual labor spent upon the book, but come wholly from the author's mind. Similarly, when any great mass of modern machinery is constructed which involves the co-operation of thousands of manual laborers, the same situation repeats itself. The machinery is an agent of production and increases the world's wealth, not because the parts are made with sufficient manual skill—for the highest skill may be employed in the production of mechanisms that are futile—but because each of its parts is fashioned in accordance with the orders of some master mind which directs and co-ordinates each minutest movement made by the arms and hands of every one of the manual laborers. It is to the direction of labor on the part of exceptional men, and not to labor itself, that all the augmented wealth of the modern world is due.

It appears to us that no exception can be taken either to the reasoning or the conclusions of this English writer on economic questions. We think too that thoughtful students will agree with him in the statement that the increasing concentration of the most active and powerful minds on the direction of manual effort, as now carried on, is without parallel in the history of the world. Having thus established that modern wealth is due not to labor alone but also to the action of the ability by which labor is directed, Mr. Mallock proceeds to demolish some of the other contentions of the socialists. It is well known that, concurrently with their demands for a larger share in the world's products, the socialists demand a radical change in the whole organization of production.

They demand what they call the emancipation of labor, and by emancipation of labor they mean emancipation from what they have been taught to call wagedom. But if all production were organized like a State post-office, would the laborer, asks Mr. Mallock, have achieved the economic freedom, the emancipation which socialists at present take so much pleasure in talking about? Nor again does the manner in which the labor of the State employee is remunerated differ in any way from the wage system which prevails in a private firm. Conformity to the directions given him by some organizing authority is the condition on which this remuneration is awarded him. Mr. Mallock then proceeds to show that two coercive systems—the corvee system which prevailed in the Middle Ages in France and the slave system—are the only alternatives to the wage system that have been found workable in the whole history of the world. Escape from the wage system would mean escape into one of these two systems. The acceptance of either would mean escape into economic slavery. It is Mr. Mallock's opinion that when socialists talk about emancipation and economic freedom, the only meaning which their language can really bear is the emancipation of the average man from the aid and guidance that is in any way superior to his own. Either the wage system must continue under a thin verbal disguise or universal slavery must be put in its stead.

Iron production in the United States does not continue to increase notwithstanding the demand for the metal is more urgent than ever before in the country's history. As the railroads are being criticised for not having expanded their facilities sufficiently fast to keep pace with the country's growth in business, why would it not be equally just to criticise the iron producers for not having increased the make of iron on a scale to equal the wonderful expansion in the consumption of iron? When the question is put in that form, it readily becomes apparent that both the railroad industry and the iron industry have been subject to influences wholly beyond the ordinary, out of which there has developed a situation which could not have been foreseen, and most assuredly could not have been prepared for. With reference to the railroads, we discuss in a separate article on a subsequent page their responsibility for the car famine and freight congestion which has grown up. Concerning the iron makers, all that it is needful to say is that if in 1904, when 16,500,000 tons of iron sufficed to meet the country's requirements, it could have been foreseen that, two years later, in 1906, 26,500,000 tons would be insufficient to meet such requirements, there would, in any event, not have been time enough to erect the new furnaces needful to increase the country's production beyond that figure. The occasion for this remark is the appearance of the usual monthly statement of production in the "Iron Age" of this city. Our contemporary observes that the statistics for January give little indication of production overtaking consumption in the near future. The output of iron by the coke and iron furnaces, it is pointed out, was actually less than it had been in December, or 2,205,607 gross tons, as against 2,235,306 tons. Notwithstanding that three new furnaces were blown in—the Josephine in Pennsylvania, Toledo No. 2 in Ohio, and Federal in Illinois—and that the total of furnaces blown in was nine, the losses were greater than the gains, eleven furnaces having gone out of blast. Inability to get sufficient coke, it appears, also interfered with production in several districts. As a consequence, the active capacity on February 1 was 492,359 tons a week for 317 furnaces, as against 507,332 tons a week for 319 furnaces active on January 1. Of course it will be recognized that either set of figures represents an output of iron of prodigious extent. The point of importance is that in our growth in iron-making, under the tremendous pressure of the last two years, we have reached a stage where further additions to output must necessarily be small. The "Age" notes that the loss in output as compared with December was at the plants of the steel works, where there is the greatest incentive to increasing the product. The make of iron by these furnaces of the steel companies decreased about 39,000 tons. On the other hand, the so-called merchant furnaces made a slight gain upon their December output, adding about 9,000 tons to the same.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week unofficial or open market rates were ¼ of 1% higher at London and ⅛@⅜ of 1% at Berlin and Frankfort and ⅛ of 1% lower at Paris.

The feature of the statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was a decrease in the surplus reserve of $9,288,285, to $3,345,875. This resulted from a loss of $12,077,600 in cash less a decrease of $2,789,375 in reserve requirements. Loans were expanded $1,518,900 and deposits decreased $11,157,500. There was an arrival on Monday of $486,650 gold from London and of $45,006 from Paris.

The effects of the unfavorable bank statement of last week were to some extent counteracted by the announcement on Monday by Secretary Shaw that he would purchase $25,000,000 4% bonds of 1907; but there was a more marked improvement in sentiment on Wednesday on reports from Washington that satisfactory progress was likely to be made in Congress with the bill of Senator Aldrich, which provided for the deposit of customs collections in depositary banks; for the increase in the limit of bank-note retirements and for other measures which would probably augment the supply of currency for business requirements. Later in the week calls of loans preparatory to the surrender on Friday through New York correspondents of interior depositories, of $6,000,000 public funds, contributed to a firmer tone for call money; the market was also influenced by the news that offers of 4% bonds for redemption had thus far been but $500,000, indicating only slight relief through bond purchases. Time loans were easier and one feature was the liberal offering by large trust companies of six months' money at 5¼%. This seemed to fix the basis for other maturities and considerable business was done after Wednesday.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 6% and at 2½%, averaging about 4¾%; banks and trust companies loaned at 3% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 6% and at 3% with the bulk of the business at 5%. Tuesday was a holiday. On Wednesday transactions were at 4¾% and at 2½% with the majority at 4¾%. On Thursday loans were at 6% and at 3% with the bulk of the business at 4%. On Friday transactions were at 6% and at 5% with the majority at 5%. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were at 5@5¼% for sixty days, 5¼@5½% for ninety days to four months and 5¼% for five to six months; all the year money was offered on Chicago account at 5¾% but no higher bids than 5½% were obtainable. Commercial paper is quoted at 5¾@6¼% for sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable, 5¾@6¼% for prime and 6½% for good four to six months' single names; very little business is, however, reported below 6% for the best paper.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 5%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 4¾@4⅞%; the open market rate at Paris is 2⅞% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4⅞@5%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England lost £91,590 bullion during the week and held £35,382,551 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to very heavy exports to South America, which exceeded to a moderate extent the aggregate imports and fairly full purchases in the open market, and receipts from the interior of Great Britain. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £580,000 (of which £150,000 from Egypt and £430,000 bought in open market); exports, £1,135,000 (wholly to South America), and receipts of £163,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was active and generally lower, though the fluctuations were within a narrow range. One feature of the week was drawing apparently for the account of foreign fire insurance companies, supposed to be for the settlement of losses resulting from the disaster at Kingston, Jamaica. There was a large amount of bills drawn against purchases of stocks for London account; such buying was quite noticeable on Wednesday, when there was a buoyant tone in the American department of the London Stock Exchange, which was said to be due to the more confident feeling resulting from the news of the progress which was made with the Aldrich bill in the Senate. There was the usual Monday supply of cotton bills; these were promptly absorbed at full rates. The demand for remittance was good and largest on Monday, when bills were bought for Tuesday's steamer; the inquiry was not so urgent after the middle of the week, though there was moderate buying on Friday for the next day's mail.

No engagements of gold were made in London this week. The representatives of American bankers made preparations on Saturday of last week to bid for part of the metal which would arrive from the Cape on Monday, but, as elsewhere stated, the bids were not pressed, owing, it is reported, to a request by the Bank Governors that that institution should be permitted to secure the bulk of the metal. This week rates for sight exchange on London have been quite close to the gold-importing point and possibly arrangements have been made to bid for the gold which will be offered in the London market on Monday. If buying of American stocks shall continue in as great volume as it has this week, it seems quite probable that gold will be brought out, in payment therefor, in moderately large amounts.

Nominal rates for sterling exchange are 4 81½@4 82 for sixty day and 4 85½@4 86 for sight. On Saturday of last week the market was steady with unchanged rates, compared with the previous day, for long and short, while cables were 5 points lower at 4 8530@4 8540. On Monday long fell 30 points to 4 8035@4 8040, short 15 points to 4 8455@4 8460 and cables 10 points to 4 8525@4 8530. On Wednesday there was a rise of 5 points all around—long to 4 8040@4 8045, short to 4 8460@4 8465 and cables to 4 8530@4 8535. On Thursday long rose 5 points to 4 8040@4 8050, short fell 10 points to 4 8450@4 8455 and cables 10 points to 4 8520@4 8530. The market was steady on Friday and 10 points higher for long and 5 points for short.

MONETARY PROGRESS IN LATIN AMERICA.

If the merchants and exporters of the United States are to find new markets in Latin American countries, a factor of essential importance will be the condition of exchange with those countries. There has been much progress in recent years among our neighbors to the South towards establishing exchange upon a stable basis. Peru in 1901 adopted a gold exchange standard, similar in its operation to that which has been established in the Philippines, Mexico and Panama. The Argentine Republic has taken large quantities of gold in exchange for her exports of wool and hides to Europe, and has brought about relative stability in her paper money by offering to issue paper for gold at a fixed rate. This measure has operated successfully thus far and has been a great improvement over the wide fluctuations in exchange which for a time prevailed. Brazil is also working towards a sound monetary basis by reducing her irredeemable paper; but the plan to raise the price of coffee by controlling the market is still more or less experimental.

It was a step in the right direction when the Rio Conference adopted a resolution for the preparation of reports on the monetary systems of the different countries taking part. The initiative in the work will probably fall to the Bureau of American Republics at Washington, which will profit by the energy and wide experience of its new chief, Mr. John Barrett. The monetary fortunes of some of the Southern countries have been so checkered that it has been difficult to keep pace with them. An authentic report on existing conditions, the available stock of currency, its relation to gold and the fluctuations of exchange will be a preliminary step towards intelligent reform where reform is required. Statesmen and economists of the Latin race have often shown a profound insight into monetary problems. Upon the theoretical side at least their State papers have shown a disposition, which is not always found among those of other races, to go to the bottom of the subject. Nothing could excel in clearness, precision and sound reasoning some of the papers prepared in connection with the Mexican monetary reform by men like Finance Minister Limantour, Mr. Creel, head of the Commission on International Exchange; Mr. Casasus, recently Ambassador at Washington, and Mr. Macedo, Chairman of the Exchange Commission which is supervising the practical execution of the reform.

Much will be added to the history of monetary science if intelligent reports are obtained from the Latin American countries. There are statesmen and economists in each country thoroughly competent to deal with the subject. It is highly desirable, however, that such reports should be as nearly uniform in character as possible—dealing with the same problems and answering the same series of questions. It is here that the work of the Bureau of American Republics is likely to prove useful if they decide to formulate a common basis of investigation. It is fortunate that this Bureau is international in its organization rather than an instrument of our own Government. It does not lie with this country, in view of its wretched floundering through the mire of depreciated paper and excessive coinage of silver, to "put on airs" or attempt to dictate to our Southern neighbors. There would be, however, material advantages in seeking certain uniformity in measures of reform if they are to be adopted.

That stable exchange is preferable to falling exchange, is apparently coming to be generally recognized in Latin America as well as elsewhere. There was a time when the theory that a country might increase its exports by falling exchange so befogged the minds of statesmen that they were oblivious to the fact that increase of exports, if obtained, was obtained only at the sacrifice of the economic resources of the country—in other words, that a foreign community was naturally willing to exchange a fixed quantity of its own products for a constantly increasing quantity of the products of the country where exchange was falling. The disadvantages of such a policy were mathematically demonstrated by those who took up the question in Mexico. In the cases of British India, China and Spain, also, examination of the facts showed that the country lost rather than gained by falling exchange, while the gold countries, by keeping up the price of their products, obtained for them a steadily increasing quantity of the products of the silver countries. If this fact can be brought home to the statesmen of Latin America, it will probably have an effect in stimulating sound legislation on the part of any country which may still be wandering in the bog of fluctuating paper.

It is not at all essential, in order to promote harmonious exchange arrangements, that there should be a vain chase after a common monetary unit. While such a unit has minor advantages, in connection with printing of price lists and some other details, it does not obviate the necessity for computing exchange between countries having such a unit, and it is apt to have serious disadvantages in the case of token money, as the countries of the Latin Union have found to their cost. It is doubtful if a common unit between the United States and other countries would contribute materially to the promotion of trade. The essential thing in such matters is a common standard. This standard the world now recognizes everywhere to be gold. It does not follow, however, that all countries should undertake to introduce gold into actual circulation or should pile up excessive amounts of gold in reserves. The experience of the Philippines, Japan, Mexico and Peru shows that equally good results can be obtained by different methods and perhaps at less expense. The restriction of exchange fluctuations within reasonable limits gives the assurance to the exporter and importer that they can do business upon a safe basis and upon narrow margins of profit. This is the essential thing in promoting trade and is easily attainable where the attainment of a common monetary unit would be difficult, if not impracticable.

HAVE OUR RAILROAD MANAGERS BEEN NEGLIGENT?

In the current number of the "Review of Reviews" there is a series of paragraphs dealing with the present railroad situation and severely arraigning the roads for their alleged shortcomings. The charges are not new. They are, indeed, only a repetition of the reports and unfounded statements which have long been common among those avowedly hostile to the roads; but they challenge attention when adopted by a standard publication like the "Review of Reviews."

The article referred to is discursive, and most of the statements in it are vague and general, very like the loose talk so widely indulged in. One or two extracts must suffice to indicate the tone and character of the remarks. Albert Shaw is the Editor of the "Review" and he urges that—

"Unless conditions notoriously prevalent just now should soon be changed for the better, the public ownership advocates will become confident and aggressive along a wholly new line of advance, where they have heretofore been on the defensive. They will point to the complete breaking down of efficiency in the actual business of transportation in this country, and will begin to claim that the Government could not possibly do things so badly, and would in all probability manage the roads with a far higher degree of business efficiency. Furthermore, they will point to the inability of the great railroad managers to obtain the money they need to make absolutely necessary improvements, whereas the Government of the United States could obtain almost unlimited capital at half the rate of interest the railroad would be obliged to pay."

Mr. Shaw would also have his readers believe that the managers of our great railroad systems have given their time to speculation in Wall Street instead of to developing the properties under their care. "It is high time now," he asserts, "for the railroad managers to get out of Wall Street and to operate their roads." and he proceeds as follows:

"The bigger element of railroad men, it is often now asserted, instead of attending to the practical business for which the stockholders are supposed to be paying them their salaries, are to be found in Wall Street and in the large New York hotels, building up their private fortunes by day and pursuing their pleasures by night. The smaller fry of railroad officials have been the holders of stocks in coal companies, grain elevator companies, and other enterprises along the line. . . .

"We have a small and select population of plutocrats who control our railroads and have somehow managed to put into their private pockets some hundreds or thousands of millions of dollars through their ability to skim the cream off the country's prosperity, while at least a hundred thousand miles of our railroad system has become unfit for the ordinary needs of current traffic with rotting cross-ties, light rails, wooden trestles instead of permanent bridges, sharp curves and bad grades surviving from the early period of railroad engineering, shabby and miserable stations, and a general incompetency in equipment and operation that has fallen to a stage of hopelessness and despondency where it has ceased either to apologize or to be ashamed."

The language in the latter part of this extract is so intemperate and the statements contained in it so utterly at variance with the truth that it is not worth while to spend much time in replying thereto. The facts in disproof of it are within the knowledge of every well informed person. If there is one thing above every other thing for which recent railroad history has been distinguished, it is the attention given—the time, the labor, the money spent—in raising the physical standard of the properties. Light rails everywhere have been replaced with heavier rails, wooden trestles have given way to permanent bridges built of iron or steel or stone, curves and grades have been reduced, and in every way the physical standard of the roads has been brought to a higher state of perfection. The annual reports of the railroads abound in testimony showing what has been done in this respect, and the movement has been universal. No important road in the country forms an exception to the rule. The editor of the "Review" must have known from personal observation that the assertions had not even a remote basis of truth.

As to the allegation that the railroads have broken down in their ability to supply the country's transportation needs, this obviously refers to the congestion of traffic and car famine which have been an unfortunate condition of railroad operations recently. The railroads certainly have been overwhelmed with freight of late months and there has often been considerable delay in moving all the tonnage offered. But admitting this, can it be truthfully affirmed that railroad managers have not been forehanded or have lacked foresight in anticipating future growth? Take the matter of their equipment. It appears from the statistics collected by the Inter-State Commerce Commission that in the eight years from June 30 1897 to June 30 1905 they increased their equipment by over 545,000 cars—an addition of almost 50%, the aggregate number of cars in service June 30 1897 having been 1,297,480 and on June 30 1905 1,842,871. The figures for 1906 are not yet available but would make the comparison still more striking, for during the last eighteen months the additions to equipment have been particularly large.

The record with reference to track has been much the same. It is matter of common knowledge that the additions to length of line have been comparatively moderate. But it is not necessary to build entirely new road to increase and extend the facilities of a railroad system. The same end can be attained by providing additional yard and passing tracks, and sidings, second, third and fourth track. Bearing this in mind, it is certainly significant that in the same period of eight years from 1897 to 1905 there should have been an addition of nearly 65,000 miles to aggregate length of track. In other words, from 242,013 miles on June 30 1897 aggregate length of track increased to 306,796 miles on June 30 1905. In this case, also, the further additions since 1905 have been of even more noteworthy extent. Can the railroads, therefore, be fairly charged with having failed to make provision for future growth? It should be remembered that the bare figures here given do not indicate the full measure of the increase in capacity thus provided. For instance, the mere addition to the number of cars tells only part of the story. For, as every one knows, the size of the cars has at the same time been enormously increased. Moreover, there has been a further gain in capacity by the adoption of improved methods of handling traffic and by adding to the lading of the trains. Referring again to the Inter-State Commerce statistics, we find that in the eight years from 1897 to 1905 the average train-load on the railroads of the United States was raised from 204 to 322 tons—an improvement of considerably over 50%. Would a Government-owned system have been able to do better than this? Would it have been able to do as well as this? We would also ask the Editor of the "Review," would such results have been possible with half the railroad system, as he asserts, in a state of decay—with "rotting cross-ties, light rails, wooden trestles, sharp curves, bad grades, &c., &c."?

In common with so many others, the writer in the "Review" has failed to diagnose the case correctly. The real trouble has been that growth has proceeded on such a marvelous scale that it has been impossible, having due regard to prudence, to provide for the same, and that more recently the roads have been hampered in their efforts to obtain additional capital because of the hostility displayed against them. We gave some figures last week in our article reviewing the gross earnings of United States railroads for the late calendar year which are very illumining on this point. Therein we showed that the further addition to gross earnings during the calendar year 1906 had been no less than $240,000,000. Furthermore we brought out the fact that this was simply the culmination of a long series of gains which had been piling up year by year since 1896, with the result that the aggregate increase for the decade reached the prodigious sum of $1,325,000,000. In other words, in 1906 the revenues of our roads were larger by $1,325,000,000 than they had been ten years before in 1896.

And every portion of this tremendous increase—and more, too—represents additional traffic; for rates in 1906 were unquestionably lower than they had been in 1896. No figures are available for the latest year, but for the fiscal year 1905 the Inter-State Commerce Commission reported the average rate per ton per mile for the whole country at only 7.66 mills against 8.06 mills in 1896. When we come to the figures showing the volume of the freight traffic the aggregates are of fabulous extent. The best measure of the volume of work done is the number of tons of freight moved one mile—disregarding for this occasion the passenger business. The freight movement one mile represents the units of transportation service rendered. It is therefore a startling fact that while in the fiscal year 1896 the number of such units (our authority is again the Inter-State Commerce Commission) was 95,328,360,278, for the fiscal year 1905 it was no less than 186,463,109,510. With the further addition in 1906 the aggregate number of units of transportation services rendered can not have been much, if any, less than 200,000,000,000.

The writer in the "Review," in one part of his comments, permits himself the observation that though the West has been growing very fast, "recent growth has been nothing like so rapid, relatively, as was that of the seventies and eighties." We have no statistics dealing with the West alone, but this statement displays utter unfamiliarity with the facts. In 1874 gross earnings of all the railroads in the United States at that time were, according to "Poor's Manual," $520,466,016; ten years later, in 1884, they were no more than $777,396,217. On the other hand, in the ten years from 1896 to 1906, the further addition alone, as shown above, has been $1,325,000,000. In the whole of this ten-year period there has not been a single year that has failed to record increase. And in that particular this period is without a parallel in American railroad history. United States railroads at the present time are earning between $2,400,000,000 and $2,500,000,000 gross per annum on rates only about one-half to one-third what they were in the seventies.

Thus the situation has been literally such that human foresight and human planning could not provide for it. The traffic congestion and car famine did not reach really serious proportions until the autumn of 1906. Previously, there was more or less complaint at the busy seasons of the year, but relief was never long delayed. The crisis which came in 1906 is not hard to explain. Business everywhere continued extremely active, one of the chief influences in this being the very orders for equipment and supplies which the railroads had given in their endeavor to add to their capacity for handling and moving traffic. On top of this we had another bounteous harvest succeeding very large crops in the previous seasons for several successive years. The flood of immigrants, too, from foreign shores has been steadily rising. The part played by this latter cannot be exaggerated. It may surprise the reader to hear that in the late calendar year the additions to population through immigration alone were almost 1¼ millions—the exact number was 1,229,942. If to the immigrant arrivals we add the gain in the normal way through excess of births over deaths, the increase in population for this single period of twelve months is brought up to over two millions. And this has been going on for many successive years. To cap the climax there came the fuel scarcity in the West, which made it necessary for the roads to neglect their ordinary freight, and rush through supplies of coal. Last of all, snow blockades on some of the most important systems served further to intensify the congestion.

At a time when there was more need than ever before for the railroads to add to their facilities—to their motive power, their supply of cars, their track, yards, and other essentials—they were suddenly shorn of a large part of their borrowing capacity. All through 1906 it was almost impossible to float new bond issues on any reasonable terms and the situation in that respect finally grew so bad that the present year the railroads quite generally have been forced to resort to the old-time device of issuing short-term notes on rather onerous terms. Railroads whose share capital commands a very high premium in the market could arrange to get needed supplies of capital by offering new shares at par and giving the purchasers the benefit of the premium. But roads not so situated were almost helpless in their efforts to obtain new funds. This is the most unfortunate phase in the existing state of affairs, for it prevents railroad managers from carrying out plans of relief on a scale commensurate with existing needs. It is our opinion that the cause of the prevailing distrust must be sought in the hostility of public sentiment, but we have no desire to argue the question here. We wish simply to note the fact and its consequences.

As for the charge that the railroads are controlled by plutocrats who give their time to fostering Stock Exchange speculation instead of to developing the properties under their care, this need worry no one. There was a period in the history of our railroads when Wall Street manipulation counted for more than good management of the properties. That was the period of the "seventies," to which the critic reverts without apparently knowing anything about it. In recent times railroad values have been built up by building up the properties themselves. The "plutocrats" may have made fortunes out of the properties, but they have been made only in that way—by raising the physical and financial status of the properties, by introducing economies in operation, and in other ways improving their income.

Mr. James J. Hill is admittedly one of the ablest railroad men in the country. He raised the lines out of which the Great Northern system was formed from hopeless bankruptcy to a plane of high prosperity. Will anyone seriously contend that he has at any time neglected the interests of the Great Northern property? The same remark may be made with reference to Mr. Edward H. Harriman. He also is a railroad man of the highest order. He took control of the Union Pacific when it was insolvent and by rehabilitating it physically and financially has made it one of the best paying properties in the whole country. Can he be charged with neglect? Or take Alexander J. Cassatt, lately chief executive of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He planned for the future of the Pennsylvania Railroad on such an extensive scale that some critics began to throw out sly intimations that he was losing his senses. Or yet again, refer to the Southern Railway, which, through Mr. J. P. Morgan's faith and indomitable energy, was placed on its feet when previous attempts had proved failures. Mr. Morgan put the late Samuel Spencer at the head of this undertaking, and it stands as one of the great railroad successes of the day. Did not Mr. Spencer devote himself to the task with a singleness of purpose that will always merit high credit? We have certainly never heard it charged that he had his eyes fixed on Wall Street.

There is only one other point to which we would advert. It is the statement that "the smaller fry of railroad officials have been the holders of stocks in coal companies, &c." There is a substratum of truth in this statement, since at the investigation instituted last summer by the Inter-State Commerce Commission some isolated instances of that kind were disclosed. But they were mere isolated instances. To seek to convey the idea, by implication or otherwise, that they were general in their nature and extended to the whole railroad system of the United States, is to deceive. The Pennsylvania Railroad was found much involved in this way, but even in its case, as soon as the matter was brought to light the directors of the road, under the lead of Mr. Cassatt, took prompt measures to eradicate the abuses which had grown up almost imperceptibly from a time when the railroads were extremely anxious to add to their traffic, and a railroad official who possessed connections with an industrial enterprise that could furnish such traffic was considered a very desirable acquisition.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission, as we recently showed, last month issued a report on this very subject of the interest possessed by railroad officials in corporations or companies operating coal mines or engaged in coal traffic, and we commend this report to the consideration of the editor of the "Review of Reviews." The report related to the bituminous coal roads in the territory between the Ohio River and the seaboard, and in it the precise situation with reference to each company is specifically described. Concerning the Norfolk & Western, the statement is made that "no officer of the Norfolk & Western is shown to have any such interest." With reference to the Chesapeake & Ohio the statement is: "One officer of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. has an interest in five or six thousand acres of coal lands in Kentucky, about 30 miles from the line of the Chesapeake & Ohio Ry., and there is no coal operation on the land." Concerning the Western Maryland RR., the statement is: "One officer owns five shares of the capital stock of the Abrahams Creek Coal & Coke Co., par value $100, which he had purchased from the President of the coal company."

As to the Pennsylvania Railroad, the facts disclosed in the investigation as they have already appeared in the public prints are set out, and in the case of the Baltimore & Ohio RR. it is stated the evidence showed that ten officials of the company owned an aggregate of 7,178 shares of stock of coal companies, par value $100. On the other hand, with reference to the New York Central, this declaration is made: "No ownership by any officer or employee of the stock or bonds of coal companies is disclosed except that certain shares of the Beech Creek Coal & Coke Co., of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, and underlying companies, in which the New York Central has stock interest, were issued in the names of certain officers of the railroad company to qualify them as directors of these coal companies, that they might represent the holdings of the railroad company."

Concerning the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburgh Ry., this is the statement: "There was no evidence disclosing ownership by an officer or employee of this company in coal companies other than the interest of President A. C. Yates in the Pittsburgh Gas Coal Co., and that the Iselin family own a majority of the stock of the railroad company and also a controlling interest in the Cowanshannock Coal & Coke Co." With reference to both the Buffalo & Susquehanna RR. and the Pittsburgh Shawmut & Northern Ry., the emphatic declaration is made that "there was no evidence disclosing ownership in coal companies by any officer or employee of this company."

We have gone thus at length into the matter in order that the reader might see how slender is the foundation upon which apparently rests the popular belief that cases where officials and employees are interested in enterprises which are customers of the roads are numerous. The truth is that they are very rare, and the same remark applies with reference to nearly all the other accusations and allegations that are made against the roads. Instances of irregularities are exceedingly few. The statement is correct even when applied to the subject of rebates, which have been so prominently in the public eye since the authorities decided to enforce the provisions of the law in that respect. Where there is one case of rebate there have been ten thousand or a hundred thousand cases where the law against concessions and secret preferences and rebates has been faithfully observed. If the condition of society should be judged by the police court records and by nothing else, the judgment would necessarily have to be a very unfavorable one. But every one recognizes that such records deal only with the frailties of human nature. In like manner the whole railroad system and all the officials connected with it cannot be justly condemned because of the shortcomings or the delinquencies of the few. The bad is brought to light and given great prominence, the good remains concealed from view because there is really nothing exceptional about it—it is the normal, prosaic state of things, while only the abnormal things excite attention and furnish food for the critics.

A NEW HIGH-SPEED RAILWAY PLAN.

The call for increased speed in railway travel is still far from satisfied. During the past few years we have reviewed the claims on behalf of this and the chief European countries as to the speeds averaged by the best express trains, as well as the results of the special Zossen experiments in Germany. In the latter, using electric power, a rate as high as 130 miles an hour was attained in an exceptional performance; but the conclusion was that the road would not endure it, and to realize in practice a rate at or above the 100 miles an hour which is the popular ideal, special construction is necessary. On land as on water there is a speed limit beyond which it is commercially impracticable to go, because after such limit the required power outruns more and more swiftly the increased speed. On land 110 miles stands now as the maximum commercially practicable; the problem, then, is how to attain from 75 to 110 miles without finding the physical difficulties insuperable.

Viewing the railway as we have it, the layman has no trouble in perceiving that the greatest obstacles to these desirable speeds are the extra power needed and the danger of derailment, especially on curves, while if the track is further inclined to the inside of the curve the risks of derailment on the inside increase as fast as the risks of the same on the outside of the curve decrease. It is also impracticable to operate at greatly varying speeds on the same line, and our roads already have troubles in thus managing the speeds they are using; but the problem of safety is the most insoluble one as to the highest speeds on a two-rail line.

The sole alternative is the mono-rail, and a plan for a road of this class to connect this city with Coney Island for a five-cent fare, ferriage included, was before the Rapid Transit Commission recently on a public hearing at which representatives of a number of commercial bodies from Brooklyn were present on its behalf.

The structure consists of a trestle in the form of an A, the top of which is flattened enough to carry the main or mono-rail, on which run the two driving and two trailing wheels which carry the weight of the car, these wheels having grooves 3 inches wide and 2 inches deep, to admit the track rail. The car—pointed at each end to reduce wind resistance—is about 42 feet long and 11 feet wide, designed to seat 170 persons; it bestrides the structure, somewhat as a horseman bestrides his horse. Projections, roughly corresponding to the idea of the horseman's legs, depend from the body of the car on either side; each of these depending portions carries two horizontal wheels, one above the other, which wheels run on guide rails on each side of the A-shaped structure. These depending lugs (or "legs") also carry the driving motors, which, by means of a special chain-belt, drive the shaft that works the central driving-wheels on the top-rail. The whole trestle rests upon wood sleepers 9 feet long, and on the outer ends of these sleepers are the two feed-rails.

The central rail on the top of the A carries the weight and supplies the traction surface; the two pairs of rails on the sides serve as guides, while the outside pair are mere feeders. The centre of gravity being well below the upper rail, and the guide-wheels being hooked by their flanges below the edges of the rails on the sides, it is certain that the car could not leave the rails unless the structure itself were thrown down. The wheels on the top rail are within the body of the car, but of course are inclosed. The slight oscillation or lateral swing of the car on the top rail is provided for by an ingenious system of springs. The structure is to be about 6 feet high, but some of the heaviest portions of the weight move only a few inches above the bottom, so that the practical effect of this down-hanging construction is that of a continuous "flange" of some 3 feet, in contradistinction to the usual flange of not more than an inch on the ordinary car-wheel. As there is only one running rail, the usual side-drag on curves is lacking and the extra resistance on what would be sharp curves on a two-rail track is only slight.

This is a structure directly on the ground. An alternative one is elevated, carried on a single pillar, as in some portions of the elevated roads now in use here, and this whether a single or a double line is mounted upon the one pillar. The claim for it is that this would be lighter, less obstructive to light and air, and less unsightly than existing elevated roads, as well as that it would be nearly noiseless, whether resting on the surface or carried above. If elevated, it can be independent of the profile of the surface. To facilitate stopping and starting by raising the stations above the level, and to make each car automatically close one "block" behind it, are devices easily applicable to electric roads.

A piece of road on this plan, about 10 miles in length, is in operation in Ireland, and there is also one short line in Germany. The cost of this proposed line to Coney Island is estimated at $170,000 per mile, and the time of construction at not more than twelve months. If built, this would be the first mono-rail line in the United States. There seems to be no room for doubt of its physical feasibility; and since our problem of urban transportation, with the volume of traffic during the rush hours steadily increasing faster than new bridges and sub-lines can be supplied, is becoming more and more serious, this special adaptation to the conditions needed for swiftly moving single cars seems to be well worthy of friendly consideration.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS FOR JANUARY.

Our preliminary tabulation of the gross earnings of United States railroads for the first month of the present calendar year shows a comparatively small increase over the month of January last year. It is decidedly encouraging that there should be any increase at all. In the first place, comparison is with extraordinarily favorable results in 1906, our preliminary statement at that time having shown no less than $9,168,978 increase, or 18.88%. In the second place, some of the roads had very unfavorable weather conditions to contend against this year. This was the opposite of the situation which prevailed in 1906, when the weather nearly everywhere was extremely mild, this having been one of the important factors in the exceptional amount of improvement recorded at that time.

The present year the weather over about three-quarters of the country was normal, which means that there was about the average amount of interruptions to railroad operations from storm and low temperatures, as against the almost complete absence of such impediments in 1906. On the other hand, there was one section where the weather and the meteorological conditions were exceptionally severe, and where as a consequence the railroads suffered seriously. We refer to the territory in the extreme northern part of the United States lying between Lake Superior and the North Pacific Coast. On the other side of the boundary line, in Canada, the state of things, of course, was equally bad. The roads most affected were the northern trans-continental lines, the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific, besides the "Soo" or Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie. There were unexampled snow blockades in North Dakota, in Montana, in the Cascade Mountains, and all the way to the Pacific. In addition, the temperatures were extremely low, running from 30 to 50 degrees below zero east of the mountains. The snow in the Cascades is reported to have been the worst in the history of the Great Northern road, and the same statement is made with reference to the extreme cold experienced all along the line.

As an indication of the way the Great Northern suffered, reference may be made to the fact that on Jan. 17 a telegraphic dispatch from St. Paul stated that an overland train from Seattle had just arrived there after having been delayed for ten days in Montana and North Dakota. Similarly, dispatches from Seattle later in the month reported trans-continental traffic on the Great Northern completely paralyzed on account of the snow in the Cascades and accompanying snow slides. In North Dakota the trouble from snow blockades really dates back to December, and it is stated that on a stretch of the "Soo" road in North Dakota, a distance of about 300 miles, not a train had been put through since Christmas up to the end of January.

Besides the drawbacks occasioned by snow and cold, the Great Northern and some of the other roads in that section had another difficulty to contend with. On account of the continued fuel scarcity, coal shipments have been given preference over other kinds of traffic, disarranging all the train schedules and interfering still further with the ordinary movements of freight. The result in the Great Northern's case is reflected in a loss in gross earnings, as compared with the corresponding month in 1906, of no less than $1,101,134, or over 30%. The Northern Pacific's loss is not so large, and yet amounts to $416,555, while the Canadian Pacific reports a shrinkage in its total of gross of $235,000 and the "Soo" road a decrease of $232,050.

With such heavy losses on the roads named and also some losses by other roads, it must be counted as an extremely gratifying fact that our statement as a whole, covering 93,516 miles of line, should show a balance on the right side. In other words, in face of the adverse conditions outlined above, our tabulations record a gain for the month on the 93,516 miles (covering 68 roads) of $1,544,739, or 2.23%. This follows, as already stated, $9,168,978 gain in January 1906, when our compilation covered 81,800 miles of line. It also follows a larger or smaller increase in the corresponding month of all the preceding years back to 1897, with one exception, as may be seen from the following.

Note.—Neither the earnings of the Mexican roads nor the mining operations of the anthracite coal roads are included in this table.

There were some other adverse features. Notwithstanding last season's exceptional grain harvest, the Western grain movement, measured by the arrivals at the primary markets, did not equal that of 1906. The deliveries of corn were somewhat larger, but the receipts of wheat and the other principal cereals underwent marked contraction. Thus, for the five weeks ending Feb. 2 the receipts of wheat at the Western markets were only 15,973,248 bushels, as against 19,396,398 bushels in the same five weeks of 1906; the receipts of oats 15,922,980 bushels, against 19,020,184, and the receipts of barley 6,525,006, against 7,416,766 bushels. The deliveries of corn were 25,907,969 bushels, against 21,290,117 bushels. Taking the four cereals mentioned together, and adding barley, the receipts of all combined for the five weeks this year foot up 65,079,036 bushels, against 67,813,230. It remains to be said that the live-stock movement in the West appears also to have been smaller. At all events the receipts of live hogs at Chicago for the even month were only 173,011 head, against 235,055 head. The following statement in our usual form shows the details of the Western grain movement.

Southern roads, however, had the advantage of a much larger cotton movement. Thus the receipts at the Southern outports for January 1907 aggregated 1,329,296 bales, against only 599,249 bales in January 1906, and the shipments overland amounted to 302,715 bales, against 161,958 bales.

Southwestern roads also were favored by a larger cotton movement, at least those that run through cotton territory, and it is the gains of these roads and those in the South that have served in the main to offset the heavy losses sustained by the Northern transcontinental lines. Hitherto, it has been these transcontinental roads which have been in the van for amount of increase. Now they are found in the decrease column, and Southern and Southwestern companies are at the top of the gain column. The Missouri Kansas & Texas this time leads all others with $600,172 increase; the Texas & Pacific has $324,186 increase; the Louisville & Nashville $301,251 increase, &c. In the list of decreases, besides those of the roads mentioned above, there are a few others, but for very much smaller amounts, as will be seen by the following.

—An amendment to the constitution of the New York Stock Exchange adopted this week by the Governing Committee will, if approved by the members, give to the committee the power to determine whether stock quotations in any given case shall be on the basis of dollars per share or on a percentage basis. The section at present is as follows:

Bids and offers shall be made on the basis of a percentage of the par value of the securities dealt in; except that in securities of a par value of $10 or less per share the bid and offer shall be in dollars or fractions thereof."

As changed it will read: "Bids and offers shall be made on the basis of a percentage of the par value of the securities dealt in unless otherwise ordered by the Governing Committee." It is understood that the adoption of the amendment is a result of the movement to include in the trading list the higher class of mining shares.

—The Cleveland Clearing House Association at its late annual meeting adopted a resolution presented by Col. J. J. Sullivan, President of the Central National Bank, endorsing the currency bill now pending in Congress (House bill No. 23,017). The officers of the association for the ensuing year are Charles L. Murfey, President; Charles A. Paine, Vice-President; E. R. Date, Treasurer; C. E. Collins, Secretary and Manager.

—The matter of the advisability of securing a sub-treasury for Pittsburgh is to be acted upon by a committee appointed to investigate the matter by Andrew Long, President of the Pittsburgh Clearing-House Association. The committee consists of Charles McKnight, President of the National Bank of Western Pennsylvania, Chairman; Wilson A. Shaw, President of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A.; and E. E. McCoy, Assistant Cashier of the Keystone National Bank. If the results of the committee's labors show that there exists a need for a sub-treasury, the Clearing House, it is expected, will endeavor to secure the passage of a bill authorizing its establishment.

—The City Bank & Trust Company of New Orleans, in compliance with the request of the New Orleans Clearing House, has withdrawn from that association. The action was the result of the company's determination to remain open beyond the regular banking hours, thus violating the rules of the association. The institution has been in operation since last May. Its hours of business since January 31, when it began as a day-and-night bank, have been from 10 a. m. until midnight. It is the first banking institution in New Orleans to adopt this policy.

—M. C. Bergh, Wisconsin State Commissioner of Banking, in his annual report recently issued, advocates an amendment to the law so as to prohibit further branch banks in Wisconsin cities. Branch banking, he states, is foreign to the American principle of free banking, and contrary to the spirit and intent of the Wisconsin banking law, because each branch being a bank to all intents and purposes, a banking corporation is thus permitted to conduct several banks on the capital prescribed and intended for one bank. Then, too, he adds, examination of banks having branches requires the employment of several examiners at one point in order that a simultaneous examination may be made of the main bank and its branches. These, he cites, are but few of the objections to the branch system. Taking up the subject of trust companies, which were placed under the supervision of the banking department in 1905, Mr. Bergh points out that the statute under which these corporations are created and governed is rather indefinite and its meaning in some respects obscure. The need of an amendment which would more precisely define the powers of trust companies and clarify the meaning of the several provisions of the law, he states, is apparent. With regard to savings deposits, he gives it as his opinion that these should be treated in all legislaton apart from commercial and other bank deposits. Too much emphasis, he insists, cannot be laid on the desirability of some legislative action which would prevent such disasters to savings depositors as often result from failure of commercial banks which conduct savings departments. A practical solution of the problem would seem to lie, Mr. Bergh states, "not so much in the classification of banks into commercial banks and savings banks as in the classification of the deposits."

—The stockholders of the Fourteenth Street Bank of this city at a special meeting this week authorized an increase in the capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The new stock is to be offered to the present shareholders at $150 per share (par, $100), thus adding $250,000 to the surplus and bringing that fund up to $400,000. The increase in the capital was rendered necessary by the marked growth in the business of the institution, aggregate deposits having increased from $5,618,448 a year ago—on Feb. 20 1906—to $6,945,051 on Nov. 14 1906, and to about $8,000,000 at the present time. The officers of the bank are: R. Ross Appleton, President; John F. Carroll, First Vice-President; Richard I. Brewster, Second Vice-President; P. M. Sayford, Third Vice-President; and Louis V. Ennis, Cashier.

—Arthur P. Heinze, brother of F. Augustus Heinze, was lately elected a director of the Interboro Bank of this city The new $100,000 stock of the bank, which, it was announced a year ago, would be issued, raising the capital to $200,000, is to be paid in on March 1. The selling price is $160 per share, increasing the surplus from $50,000 to $110,000. The bank was organized in December 1904 and now has deposits of $1,000,000.

—Michael J. Adrian, the founder of the German Exchange Bank of this city, and its Second Vice-President, died on the 14th inst. Mr. Adrian had been President of the bank for thirty-one years, resigning that office to become Vice-President.

—The new Atlas Trust Company, which will occupy the old quarters of the Irving National Bank, northwest corner Chambers Street and West Broadway, was incorporated at Albany last week with a capital of $500,000. Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, February 2 1907.

The apprehensions entertained respecting the results of the fortnightly settlement which began on Monday morning and ended on Thursday night have proved to be quite groundless. The best informed were always convinced that those apprehensions were grossly exaggerated, and the event shows that they were right. There is no doubt, of course, that there has been in recent months a good deal of rash speculation, more particularly in American securities of all kinds, and that very many operators, by no means financially strong, took part in the speculation. It is therefore not unlikely that many of these weak operators have, as is alleged, been unable to meet their differences, and that they plunged some of the brokers who gave them credit in more or less difficulty. So far, however, there has been only one small failure, which is of no practical account. It is rumored that one or two further failures may occur. At the same it is also rumored that friends are coming to the assistance of those involved. All the names mentioned, however, are of persons who hold little standing on the Stock Exchange. It is certain that no serious failure will occur.

Further, it is also certain that the rumors respecting a house which does a large option business were grossly exaggerated, if not wilfully false. It is quite possible that, as alleged, the house did sell more options than was quite wise. It is notorious that the fall in American securities of late has been heavy, and that consequently the buyers of options no longer found it profitable to "call" securities. It is therefore by no means improbable that the report is more or less well founded that the house in question found itself with an inconveniently large amount of stock which it had bought against the options it had sold, and that in liquidating this account it has suffered loss. But the house is wealthy and can well bear whatever losses it may have incurred—indeed, will remain a wealthy house even if the losses reach the figures reported, which is hardly probable.

When it became known early on Thursday that no serious failures were to be apprehended there was a general recovery in the market. Indeed, there was some recovery even on Wednesday, the best informed then perceiving that the reports which had caused alarm had no substantial basis. The improvement was more marked on Thursday, and it was strengthened by the recovery in New York later on the same day.

In Paris business has been somewhat checked by the extent of the speculation which has developed, especially by the somewhat wild speculation in Rio Tinto and De Beers shares. The prices now touched by these shares are unprecedented, and the more cautious people are beginning to look with distrust upon a movement which, even if it is justified by intrinsic merits, is carrying prices too far and too rapidly. The warning given by the Bank of France in raising its rate for advances has made the more prudent people pause, while there is a distinct rise in the carrying-over rates. The banks at the liquidation which began yesterday morning are charging from 5 to 5¼%, and inside the House of course rates are much stiffer. In consequence the Paris Bourse is earnestly watching the course of events in London. If London becomes active there is a disposition in Paris to follow the lead. Indeed, already Paris has begun to buy in London on a moderate scale. It has been buying especially Russian bonds and South African mining shares. The French banks, moreover, have this week been increasing the balances they are employing in London. In Paris the disposition is to look with special favor upon British Government securities and South African mining shares, and the great Paris operators are only waiting for a lead from London to act vigorously in these two markets.

In Berlin the Bourse is quiet, chiefly, no doubt, because of the setback in New York, Berlin being largely interested in American securities. Also, business is checked by the money stringency. It is hoped that the Imperial Bank may see its way soon to put down its rate of discount. But the hope that it will do so is not very strong. Meanwhile, the Imperial Bank is prevented from giving the accommodation which otherwise it could give by the necessity it is under to finance the Imperial Government. Always the German Government has to borrow. Usually it borrows in the month of April. But this year it is feared that its necessities are exceptionally great, partly because of its immense expenditures on the navy and partly because, owing to the dissolution of the Reichstag, it was not able to obtain the votes which it required. It is obvious that it will be late before it gets all the money voted that it needs, and therefore it is feared that the Imperial Bank will have to continue financing the Government for an inconveniently long time.

Owing to the Stock Exchange settlement and the end of the month, money this week has been in exceptionally strong demand and the open market has had to borrow immense sums from the Bank of England. Now that the settlement is over and that the banks are beginning to let out the money they called in at the end of the month, money will be very plentiful for a few days. But it will not long continue so, for the Bank of England has control of the open market. Moreover, a demand for gold bars for New York suddenly arose on Thursday. This has caused discount rates undoubtedly to stiffen, and if it is followed by a further demand there may be a very considerable rise in rates.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 100 lacs of drafts, and the applications amounted to nearly 440 lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 1-16d. to 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee were allotted about 27% of the amounts applied for.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks. The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending Feb. 9. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The history of this week's operations at the Stock Exchange contains little of interest to those not direct participants therein. The market has been alternately strong and weak, with small apparent reason for either condition; and, while prices have fluctuated rather widely in several cases, their movement has not attracted much attention.

Nothing new has occurred to change public sentiment. Although foreign exchange rates have been even lower than last week, no gold has been reported engaged for shipment from the other side. Evidently our bankers agree with London bankers that for the moment at least the foreign supply of gold shall not be disturbed. Moreover, the local money market is not in special need of funds. Call loan rates have ruled higher than recently, but rates for time loans are easier and the supply of funds in this department ample.

The possibility of new currency legislation during the current session of Congress continues to be a matter of interest which is freely discussed in financial circles.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2½ to 6%. To-day's rates on call were 5@6%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5¾@6¼% for endorsements and 5¾@6¼% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £91,590, the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 50.29, against 49.66 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed Jan. 17 at 5%. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 3,525,000 francs in gold and 1,600,000 francs in silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board $10,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 20.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been exceptionally dull and narrow. Only a few issues have been relatively active, and a less number have recorded a noteworthy change in prices. Among the former are Atchison, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and United States Steel issues.

Consolidated Gas debenture 6s were conspicuous on Thursday for an advance of nearly 4 points. Some of the Rock Island issues have had a strong tendency, and Delaware & Hudson convertible 4s have advanced nearly a point. Wabash 1st 5s, on the other hand, have declined.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—There has been a little more activity in the stock market this week, although on only one day have the aggregate transactions approached 1,000,000 shares and for the week have averaged well under that figure. Prices have moved up and down easily, and no explanation is at hand of their irregularity.

As a result of the week's operations, a large portion of the active list shows an advance of from 1 to 4 points. Among the notable features are Canadian Pacific, which advanced 5½ points and closes near the top; Delaware & Hudson, which is nearly 5 points higher than on Monday; Great Northern, which covered a range of 8½ points, closing near the highest; Missouri Kansas & Texas, which has been a strong feature throughout, closing 4½ points higher; and Northern Pacific, which, after covering a range of nearly 5 points, is only fractionally higher than last week. Reading has been by far the most active stock, has fluctuated widely and closes with a relatively small net gain.

Anaconda Mining has been the conspicuous feature of the industrial list. It was very active, covered a range of 19½ points, and closes near the top. American Sugar Refining has been more active than usual and is higher. Consolidated Gas advanced 6 points, nearly half of which it lost to-day. Steel common is up 1⅜ and the preferred is fractionally higher.

For daily volume of business see page 384.

Outside Market.—In the "curb" market the upward drift to prices in the earlier part of the week later gave way to a downward movement. To-day, however, the market assumed a decidedly firmer tone and a good business was transacted in mining shares. Greene Consolidated Copper advanced from 31⅝ to 33¾ and ends the week at 32⅞. Greene Cananea moved up from 22⅝ to 25½ and down finally to 22⅝. United Copper common from 73¼ ran up to 74¾, then dropped to 73⅛, closing to-day at 73½. Douglas Copper jumped up from 15⅜ to 22 and closed to-day at the high figure. Tennessee Copper rose from 47⅞ to 50½, subsequently reacting to 50. Utah Copper gained 2½ points to 40, but dropped back to 39. Boston Consolidated Copper advanced from 30½ to 31¼, easing off to 30⅞. Butte Coalition from 38¼ fell to 36⅞, recovering to 37⅝. Dominion Copper went up from 6¾ to 8 and down finally to 7⅝. Trinity advanced from 35 to 38¾, but dropped to 33½ to-day. Nipissing was an active feature, and from 12 advanced to 14⅜. Outside of a few of the principal issues, very little interest has been manifested in the industrial properties. Standard Oil, after an advance from 539¾ to 540, sank to 535, and to-day moved up again to 540. A dividend of $15 was declared to-day. Central Foundry preferred sold up from 14 to 16½ and Electric Boat from 79 to 81. Waterbury Co. common advanced from 47¾ to 49⅛, reacting to 48¾. Western Ice was active and moved up from 27¾ to 28¾, but sank back to 27¾. Chicago Subway, after advancing from 28¼ to 29, dropped to 27, and to-day rose to 28⅞. RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Lake Shore Electric Railway Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President E. W. Moore says in substance:

Bonded Debt.—Total bonds outstanding, $4,908,000; general mortgage bonds in treasury for extensions and betterments, $2,092,000; total bonds authorized, $7,000,000. (Compare page 27 of "Street Railway" Section.)

Track.—During the year 15½ miles of second track was constructed between Rocky River and Lorain, which, together with the sidings, completes the double track between these two points. Ballasting between Woodville and Toledo City limits was completed with crushed stone. In Sandusky the remaining portion of the double track on Columbus Ave. was re-built. On the Sandusky-Norwalk division three of the old wooden trestles were re-built, so that the company may at this time run its heaviest cars on any portion of the entire property. It is expected that considerable additional second track will be built during this year.

Rolling Stock.—Ten 50-foot interurban cars were purchased. The company owns and has now in service 54 double-truck interurban cars, 25 single-truck city cars, in addition to 29 work cars, making a total of 108 cars. Contracts have also been closed for 12 additional 50-foot interurban cars and equipments, to be delivered in time for the coming summer business.

Power Department.—A high tension transmission line was constructed between Beach Park and Dover Bay, 9.34 miles. The Beach Park power plant building was extended, and in it was installed one 2,000 K. W. turbine with converters, &c. Additional sub-station capacity was also provided.

Contracts have been closed for the installation of an additional 2,000 K. W. turbine at Fremont power-house, with necessary transformers, switchboard, condensers, &c.; also machinery for the strengthening of the present sub-stations on the Toledo division. With this installation the power-houses at Sandusky and South Lorain will be dismantled, making a material saving in power expenses.

Right of Way.—A franchise was secured from the City of Sandusky for the extension of our line on Finn Ave. and Venice Road, in said city, thereby affording an entrance to Sandusky for the Sandusky Fremont & Southern Railway Co.

Wherever our private right of way is narrow, it has been our policy to secure additional land whenever possible at a reasonable price. Several pieces were purchased during the past year.

Acquisitions.—On Aug. 7 1906 this company entered into a contract with the Sandusky Fremont & Southern Railway Co., agreeing to construct the road between Sandusky and Fremont (22 miles), and accepting as payment therefor the entire capital stock of that company, amounting to $2,000,000, and $500,000 of its first mortgage bonds, which bonds bear the guaranty of the Lake Shore Electric Railway Co. The bonds have been sold and the Lake Shore Electric Railway Co. has not been compelled to advance any funds on account of the building of this road. The entire capital stock is in our treasury. The grading and bridges are so advanced that it is anticipated that the road can be put in complete operation by May 1 1907. (Compare V. 83, p. 97, 1099.)

During the year your officials caused to be incorporated the Lorain Street Railroad Co. and to be deeded to the Lorain Street RR. Co. all of the property of the Avon Beach & Southern RR. Co. and the Lorain Street Ry. Co. Under date of Oct. 3 1906 this company completed its contract with George Cook Ford, as syndicate manager, made Feb. 19 1905, for the purchase of the property of the Avon Beach & Southern RR. Co. and the Lorain Street Ry. Co., and now has in its treasury the entire $2,000,000 of capital stock of the Lorain Street RR. and $500,000 5% consolidated bonds of the said company (V. 82, p. 628, 805).

Much has been done toward the improvement of the Lorain Street RR. property. Five new cars have been purchased and 4½ miles of second track completed. The company now owns and operates 23.8 miles of track. Two 400 K. W. rotaries, with transformers, switchboards, &c., were installed in the South Lorain plant and contract has been made for a third machine of the same size.

Toledo Port Clinton & Lakeside Ry. On Oct. 21 we discontinued the handling of the Toledo Port Clinton & Lakeside Ry. Co.'s cars between Holt's Corners and Toledo City limits, which had been handled by us for two years previous thereto, that company having built its own tracks between these two points.

Outlook.—With the additional power and cars, the completion of the Sandusky-Fremont division, together with the natural increase of business on our main line, it is anticipated that the year 1907 will show satisfactory results.

Stockholders.—On Dec. 31 1906 there were 265 stockholders of record.

People's Gas Light & Coke Co. of Chicago.

President Geo. O. Knapp, Chicago, Feb. 11, says in substance:

Reduction in Price of Gas.—Since the last stockholders' meeting, the City Council of Chicago fixed the net rate to be charged by gas companies at 85 cents per 1,000 cubic feet; the rate, by agreement with the company, being made effective from Feb. 1 1906, and the rate thus fixed is to continue without change until Feb. 1911 (V. 82, p. 574).

General Results.—The gross receipts for the year were $11,680,044. In 1905 they were $12,284,363. After deducting operating expenses, bond interest and amounts charged off, the surplus earnings for the year were $2,291,221. This is equivalent to 6.95% on the outstanding capital stock. After the payment of dividends at the rate of 5%, a surplus for the year remains of $542,766.

During the year upwards of 74 miles of mains, in extension of the company's system, were laid. The increase for the year in the number of gas meters set was 16,346; and in the number of gas stoves installed 26,694; and in the number of are lamps 6,266.

Dividends.—During the progress of the hearing and investigation by the City Council, which preceded the fixing of rates to be charged, this board on Dec. 19 1905 felt impelled, as a matter of business prudence, to reduce the dividend rate from 6%, theretofore paid, to 5%. The last-named rate was paid during the year 1906; but the board at its last meeting on Jan. 25 1907 restored the dividend rate to 6%, believing the earnings justified it, and impressed with the conviction that the minimum rate to which the stockholders are entitled is 6% per annum. The board has no hesitation in expressing its confidence that, under normal conditions, the earnings will justify the continuance of this rate.

Natural Gas.—During the year the matter of securing an increased supply of natural gas was taken up. It will be remembered that in November 1905, owing to the inability of this company to secure an adequate supply of natural gas, it became necessary to discontinue furnishing natural gas to all consumers thereof north of the Chicago River. After much negotiation, an agreement was finally reached whereby this company not only secures an increased supply of natural gas, but also substantial benefits in respect to its future oil supply, and natural gas is again being furnished to the territory that was abandoned in November 1905. The agreement made involves this company's guaranteeing the outstanding capital, bonds and stock, at par, of the Indiana Natural Gas & Oil Co. (compare V. 83 p. 1293), aggregating $3,000,000; but the investigation made by the board prior to consummating the agreement indicated that the earnings from natural gas and other advantages accruing under the agreement will provide for the obligations assumed by the company under the guaranty.

National Biscuit Company.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Jan. 31 1907.)

President A. W. Green, at the annual meeting on Feb. 11, said in substance:

Year.	Sales.	Profits.	Year.	Sales.	Profits.
1898	$34,051,280	$3,292,143	1903	$40,532,115	$3,709,516

1902	40,221,925	3,689,338

General Results.—The year just closed has been the most prosperous and satisfactory year since the organization of the company. The sales have shown an increase of over $1,000,000, and the increase has been on our trade-mark package goods, thus increasing the value of the good-will of the company. The profits have increased notwithstanding the fact that our prices have remained substantially the same as the preceding year, while the prices of almost all articles of raw material have considerably increased.

New Plants.—We are now building two additional buildings in New York, one at the corner of 15th St. and 9th Ave., having a frontage of 108 feet on 9th Ave. and 150 feet on 15th St. This building is 8 stories and basement, of the most improved fire-proof construction, and immediately adjoins our Nabisco works. The other building in course of construction is on 16th St. adjoining one wing of the 10th Ave. factory. This building is 210 feet by 92 feet, eight stories and basement, of the most approved fire-proof construction, equipped with all of our patented machinery, and to be used exclusively for the manufacture of some of our leading package goods. When these buildings are completed, our New York plant will have a frontage of 108 feet on 9th Ave., the entire frontage on 15th St. between 9th and 10th Aves., which is 800 feet, the entire frontage on 10th Ave. between 15th and 16th Sts., which is 206 feet, and a frontage on 16th St. of 525 feet.

We expect to have these buildings completed and in operation ready for the summer business, and we expect to have plenty of business ready for their operation.

This plant when in full operation will consume every day eight car-loads of flour of 250 barrels each.

Trade Rights Maintained.—The company has concluded with unbroken success 12 suits in the United States Courts, involving practically all its trade-marks and trade rights. In addition to these suits, 330 imitations by various manufacturers have been stopped, the imitators abandoning whatever they were doing without suit. Of these abandonments without suit, 80 manufacturers of biscuit had invaded the equitable rights secured to us in the courts by the use of our "In-er-seal" trade-mark; 35 manufacturers had imitated the "Uneeda Biscuit" package, while there were still other imitators of our trade names—"Nabisco," "Social Tea," "Zu Zu," and "Oysterettes,"—one manufacturer alone having to his credit, or discredit, sixteen imitations.

Liabilities.—The balance sheet of the company herewith presented shows its financial condition on the completion of the ninth year of its existence. Of the bonds and mortgages assumed at the formation of the company, amounting to $1,814,000, there has been paid off the sum of $838,297, leaving a balance unpaid of $975,702 73, none of which has yet matured. The accounts payable are simply the current bills for raw material and supplies, which were not adjusted before the close of the year.

Dividends.—See a subsequent page of this issue.—Ed.

Stockholders.—The total number of stockholders of the company immediately after its organization was about 1,300. The total number now is about 7,000. Of this number 2,341 are employees of the company. Under the plan enabling employees to purchase our preferred stock paying for it in installments, they have purchased 7,662 shares. This is exclusive of a large amount of stock, both common and preferred, held by our directors, officers and principal managers.

Pittsburgh Coal Company.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President M. H. Taylor says in substance:

General Results.—The year 1906 was the largest in tonnage production in the history of the company, and shows an increase over the preceding year in total tonnage mined and handled, including coal used in making coke, of 3,588,014 tons, or 23.21%. The gross earnings show an increase over the preceding year of $2,041,765, or 62.72%, and the net earnings, after a larger provision for depreciation and taxes had been made, of $1,567,843, or 253% —the $2,192,768 net earnings being equal to 8.11% on the preferred stock outstanding.

Working Capital.—The real working capital of the company as shown by the balance sheet of Dec. 31 1905 was $2,541,138, being the surplus of apparent quick convertible assets over floating debt, referred to elsewhere, but after taking to account the stock purchase liability not included, and valuing the unadjusted accounts upon the same basis as of Dec. 31 1906, the actual free working capital was reduced to a deficit of about $285,384. The working capital of the company as of Dec. 31 1906, when it is believed all debts are included and all assets properly valued, is $1,506,146, or an increase of $1,891,531.

Capital Stock.—The balance sheet of Dec. 31 1905 omitted what was then due and owing by the Pittsburgh Coal Co. Employees' Association for large purchases of the preferred and common stocks made by it prior to that date. There was so held by it at that time 26,419 shares of the preferred stock at an average cost of $77 per share, and 4,050 shares of common stock at an average cost of $20 per share—the whole cost of such stock, with interest to that date, amounted to, and so omitted, was $2,114,619 64, which indebtedness was carried on notes of the Employees' Association in the hands of sundry banks and brokers. This association, which was originally formed to assist the employees in investing in the stock through savings, was used, wholly without authority from your board of directors, as a means for the purchase of stocks of the company during 1903 and 1904 greatly in excess of the legitimate requirements of the association and for the alleged reason that doing so was expected to be of advantage to the company in the maintenance of its credit, then somewhat impaired, before the issue of the first mortgage bonds was made. The directors have therefore been obliged during the year to take over all of this stock, and it is included at its cost in the balance sheet as of Dec. 31 1906. The Employees' Association has been continued on the grounds of mutual benefit, and under such conditions as will strictly limit its conduct within its proper functions.

The value of the stock purchased and sold (by the Co.), exclusive of interest, prior to Dec. 31 1905, were: Purchased—16,645 preferred shares, costing $1,093,886, at average per share of $65 72; 44,254 common shares, costing $792,535, at average per share of $17 90. Sold—1,370 preferred shares, costing $71,350 20, at average per share of $54 27; 7,093 common shares, costing $92,822, at average per share of $13. The cash investment in the stocks of the company reported on balance sheet of Dec. 31 1905 was $1,572,736.

Depreciation—Re-Valuation.—In the beginning the executive committee approved an arbitrary value upon the plant and ordered that a depreciation charge, independent of maintenance and to the debit of expense, of 6% per annum should be made. This policy has never been changed in principle, but it has been applied irregularly by the officers of the company. By reason of (1) the continuing arrearage in preferred stock dividends, which has called the depreciation allowances made during the year to the notice of many of the stockholders; (2) the irregularity of the past yearly credit percentages and amounts; and (3) the time, extending over six years, since valuation of the plant property had been made—the directors caused a re-appraisement by a competent committee as of Dec. 31 1906 for their information and guidance hereafter.

The plant valuation Dec. 31 1906, less depreciation credit accumulation, as shown by the books, was $19,153,519. The actual valuation as found by the committee was $17,801,813. The excess valuation was $1,351,706. The original plant valuation had been increased over actual property valuations found in the beginning in the sum of $1,440,912. The original plant valuations were fair; the property has been well maintained, and the percentage for depreciation charge reasonable and necessary. The directors have therefore authorized proper adjusting entries as of Dec. 31 1906 to show the plant valuation total, as the committee found it, in the sum of $17,801,813, upon which sum 6% depreciation allowance for 1907 will be made to the debit of expense, in addition to full cost of maintenance.

The earnings and balance sheet, covering in each case the parent company and all its subsidiaries except Monongahela Consolidated Coal & Coke Co. (V. 82, p. 158, 164), are:

Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company of New Jersey.

President J. W. Duntley says:

General Results.—In last year's report reference was made to the policy of the management of developing, broadening and extending the business of the company. The largest increase and progress, notable to 11 2-7%, was made for [illegible] which financial results have been obtained. Of the [illegible] available during the year, due to [illegible] directors have appropriated [illegible] and deducted [illegible], amounting to $142,217, has been added to surplus account.

Foreign Companies.—As stated in previous reports, this company acquired the Consolidated Pneumatic Tool Company, Ltd., London, and since that time it has organized the Internationale Pressluft & Elektrizitats Gesellschaft, Berlin, and has purchased the Canadian Pneumatic Tool Company, Ltd., Montreal. All of these organizations show during the year increased volume of business and substantial gains in assets, with the result that this company has benefited in additional facilities for marketing its output, with resulting increased profits.

Loan.—In connection with the requirement of the business of the Philadelphia Pneumatic Tool Co., Philadelphia, and the organization and extension of the foreign companies mentioned above, it is thought desirable to borrow temporarily the sum of $195,000, which amount is included in the item bills payable, amounting to $247,500). The amount so borrowed has been more than offset by the additional assets acquired, and the profits resulting would appear to justify the wisdom of this course of action.

Additions.—Substantial additions to plants have been made during the year, and development work completed has exceeded that of the previous year, requiring a very considerable portion of the time of the management and liberal expenditures.

Bonds.—Of the authorized issue of $2,500,000 bonds, $200,000 are still in the treasury and $293,000 have been retired for sinking fund purposes, leaving outstanding at this date $2,007,000.

Assets.—The excess current assets at Dec. 31 1906, $1,512,076, show an increase of over $883,000 since your company was organized five years ago. In addition, large expenditures have been made during the year in providing additional plant capacity and, as stated previously, substantial amounts, have been added to the assets of the foreign organizations.

Montana Coal & Coke Co., Boston, Mass.

In connection with the financial plan on a subsequent page of this issue, the new General Manager, Edmund A. Bartl, for many years connected with the coal-mining department of the Delaware Lackawanna & Western RR., writes under date of Jan. 19 1907:

About Sept. 1 1906 I took charge of the company's properties, and from that time on I have been familiarizing myself with the coal deposits, and with the outlet for coke and coal in that Western country. I believe the property has great merit and could be made very profitable. As you are aware, the consumption of coke in Montana is large and increasing from year to year, and your property is located only 125 miles from Butte, which is the largest smelting centre in the West, and consists practically of the only coking coal in that State.

Your company owns and controls 4,930 feet acres of coal land, and there has been worked, up to the present time, only about 630 feet acres, leaving a balance of 4,300 feet acres still to be mined. My estimate of the coal contained in this 4,300 feet acres is 14,750,000 tons of coking coal and 8,000,000 tons of steam and blacksmith coal, making a total of 22,750,000 tons, which should yield an average profit of $1 a ton on the 14,750,000 tons of coking coal, and 50 cents a ton on the 8,000,000 tons of steam and blacksmith coal, or a total of about $18,000,000.

You have a total of 250 coking ovens; of this number there has only been worked 100. With the new mines opened, therefore, I strongly urge upon you the great importance of abandoning the old mine and opening up the new mines. By doing this it will give you an opportunity of mining sufficient coal to work the entire 250 ovens, and this should produce 8,000 tons of coke per month, and, added to this, the steam and blacksmith coal should show you a profit of $25,000 a month, or $300,000 per year. If you do not increase this yearly output your tonnage will last 65 years.

The entire equipment and plant, above ground, is in good condition and requires no great outlay of money, but the old mine I strongly urge you to abandon and to spend your money in opening up the new mines. With your company properly financed, I believe the prospects are very bright.

Cimarron & Northwestern RR.—Purpose of Building.—This road, now under construction, is to extend from Cimmaron, N. M., northwestward 36 miles up Ponil Canon to Van Bremmer Park. It will be owned by the Continental Tie & Lumber Co., and will make accessible large tracts of timber in the eastern foot-hills of the Rocky Mountains. The line will connect at Cimarron with the St. Louis Rocky Mountain & Pacific Ry., which road, including the timber in question, has tributary about 1,000,000,000 feet of saw timber, 18,000,000 railroad ties and a vast amount of mine material.

Lease.—The terms of the lease of the property to the Consolidated Railway Co. (the trolley subsidiary of the New York New Haven & Hartford RR.) are still withheld from publication, having been given out only in confidential form, and being still, it is said, subject to change. A press dispatch from New Haven gives the following particulars, which are interesting and apparently based on official documents, though open, of course, to inaccuracies and the aforesaid possibility of change:

The preferred stock which, Aug. 1 1906, was 60,228 shares of $100 each, is to be raised to 81,429 shares by the issue of 21,201 shares, representing cumulative dividends upon the preferred stock, first to be issued in the form of scrip. Of this amount the United Gas Improvement Co. of Philadelphia will have about three-fourths. Provision is made for payment of $3 a share a year in quarterly dividends on the preferred stock (by its terms a 5% stock, at least originally.—Ed.) the common stock coming in for the same amount of dividends provided the $10 assessment is met, and the payments by the lessee company justify it.

Attached to the agreement is the lease by the Consolidated Railway Co. of the Railway & Lighting Co. This provides for a first payment beginning Aug. 1 1906 of $975,000, rising to $1,400,000 on Aug. 1 1914, to be made in quarterly payments except the sums required for fixed charges.

The total amount to be paid into the treasury by the lessee company for interest and sinking fund is $673,882, the sinking fund being one-half of 1% upon the bonded debt of the lessor company outstanding, which is $12,491,378, and in addition an underlying bonded debt of $209,000 of the old Connecticut Lighting & Power Co. and $706,000 of the Bridgeport Traction Co and $59,700 of the Derby Street Railway Co. The total annual payments to the sinking funds are $62,445 a year up to the first day of July 1950. The lease is made for 999 years.

—V. 84, p. 270, 158.

Grand Trunk Ry. of Canada.—Increased Dividend on Third Preference Shares.—A Canadian Associated Press cable from London, dated Feb. 8, said:

The accounts for the past half-year show a surplus of £539,600 available for dividends, which will admit of the payment of dividends for the half-year on the 4% guaranteed stock, and the first and second preferred stocks (2½% each), and a dividend of 3% for the year (1906) on the third preference, carrying forward £13,200.

The dividend for 1906 on the third preference stock compares with 2% paid for each of the years 1905 and 1903 and 1% for 1902. No payment was made for the year 1904.—V. 83, p. 1469.

Interborough-Metropolitan Co.—See Interbroough Rapid Transit Co.

Interborough Rapid Transit Co., New York.—Sale of Notes.—Wm. A. Read & Co., New York, and Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston, have purchased $10,000,000 3-year 5% notes of $1,000 each, dated March 1 1907 and due March 1 1910, but subject to call at 101 and interest on and after March 1 1909 on thirty days' notice. The proceeds, we are informed, will take care of the company's entire floating debt and will be used in part for the extension of the Subway to Brooklyn (this extension will be opened by July 1), and in part to finance the purchase of interests in the Long Island traction properties, acquired within the past two or three years. The only other obligations of the company are the $15,000,000 notes dated 1905 and due May 1 1908. The surplus earnings for the year ended July 1 1907, it is estimated, will exceed four times the interest charge.—V. 83, p. 1470.

Lake Shore Electric Ry., Cleveland.—Report.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

Sale of Notes.—The company, it is said, has sold $550,000 3-year 6% gold notes secured by deposit of general mortgage 5% bonds. The proceeds will be used on account of improvements made in 1906 and 1907.—V. 84, p. 158, 51.

Lancaster Railway & Light Co.—New Holding Co.—See Susquehanna Railway, Light & Power Co. below.—V. 84, p. 271.

Lewiston Brunswick & Bath Electric RR.—Consolidation—The "Boston Financial News" of Jan. 29 quotes a representative of the syndicate regarding the proposed merger as follows and says that the Bangor Railway & Electric Co. "is wholly outside of the consolidation."

There will be four roads in the consolidation, the Lewiston Brunswick & Bath, the Auburn Mechanics Falls & Norway, the Augusta Winthrop & Gardiner and the Augusta & Waterville, the last not yet built. These, with a number of short connecting lines, will be united under the name of the Lewiston Augusta & Waterville RR. We expect to spend about $1,500,000 to get this system in order. We intend building the Augusta & Waterville line as soon as the Railroad Commission will let us. We have secured the right of way over the entire distance; there remain only a few minor technicalities.—V. 82, p. 509.

Louisiana Railway & Navigation Co.—First Passenger Train.—The first passenger train into New Orleans ran over the line on Feb. 8. Compare V. 83, p. 1098.

Maryland & Pennsylvania RR.—Report.—The results for the year ending Dec. 31 were:

The road, 20 miles in length, was opened for traffic in Nov. 1906. A. F. Hunt Jr. is President; Alex. Monroe, Vice-President; Chas. E. N. Coles, Secretary and Treasurer. Office, Gotham Bldg., Baltimore Ave. and 11th St., Kansas City, Mo.

Extracts of Letter from President Hunt, Dec. 1 1906.

The company is a railroad corporation organized under the laws of Kansas with a capital stock of $1,000,000, in shares of $100 each. Total authorized bond issue $600,000, of which $500,000 has been issued for the construction and equipment of the railroad from Kansas City to Olathe, and $100,000 is reserved for additional terminals, equipment, &c. The road starts at Kansas City, Mo., connecting with the Roanoke terminus of the Metropolitan Street Railway, and passes through or near Rosedale, South Park, Merriam and Lenexa. The population of Kansas City is 300,000 and that of Olathe 7,000, and while none of the intermediate towns has in excess of 500 inhabitants (with the exception of Rosedale, which has 3,500), they lie close together in a rich agricultural territory, bound to furnish an ever increasing traffic in passengers, freight and express and alone fitted to supply the demand for suburban homes adjacent to Kansas City.

There is not a bridge or trestle on the line, and the grade never exceeds 1½%. The line, except in Rosedale, Lenexa, Kansas City and Olathe, passes over a private right of way, 80 feet in width, owned in fee simple. Steam railroad grades and construction, 70-lb. rails; stone depot and five combination stone and wood depots. Equipped with three independent motor cars, operated by the Strang system, a combination of gasoline engine, electric dynamo, storage battery and electric motors. The engine furnishes the power to run the dynamo, which generates electricity for the motors. The storage battery receives the surplus current when the load is light, and furnishes the excess power required on starting, during acceleration and in climbing grades. The equipment also includes 4 passenger coaches, 2 freight cars and 1 locomotive, but this will be increased in the spring to meet the demands of increasing traffic.

Nashua & Acton RR.—New Company.—A bill has been filed in the Massachusetts Legislature to incorporate this company, with Benjamin A. Kimball, Charles E. Morrison, Herman F. Straw, Frank W. Maynard, William H. Beasom and John F. Webster as incorporators, to purchase from the Concord & Montreal RR. the property and franchises of the Nashua Acton & Boston RR. (V. 82, p. 568, 392). The capital stock is not to exceed $500,000; par of shares $100 each.

New York Central & Hudson River RR.—Terminal Office Building in New York.—The "Railway Age" of Feb. 8 contains a short illustrated article regarding the 18-story office building which is to be erected by the company in New York city on the site, 275x460 feet, bounded by 43d St., Lexington Ave., 45th St. and an extension of Depew Place, part of the New York terminal.—V. 84, p. 340, 271.

New York City Ry.—Transfer Decision.—The Appellate Term of the Supreme Court, First Department, on Feb. 11, by a vote of two to one, in the case of one Kelly against the company, held that the latter was liable to a $50 penalty for refusing to give a second transfer to enable the passenger to have one continuous ride for a 5-cent fare to his place of destination, even though he traveled both north and south in so doing. Justices Gildersleeve and Amend concurred in the majority opinion, Justice MacLean dissenting. An appeal will be taken to the Appellate Division.—V. 83, p. 966.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Offer for Steamship Lines Declined.—The directors at a meeting held on Feb. 9 voted to decline the offer of Charles W. Morse and associates to purchase the company's steamship lines, including the New England Navigation Co. The price offered for that company's $5,000,000 stock is unofficially reported as $400 per share, par value $100.

Sale of Bonds.—The company has sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. 145,000,000 francs 4% 15-year debentures, equivalent to about $28,000,000. The bonds will be exclusively placed upon the foreign markets. They will be issued in francs with a fixed rate in marks and sterling. The details as to the issue have not yet been determined upon.

Terms of Lease.—See Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co.

Steamships.—See Boston & Philadelphia Steamship Co. under "Industrials."

Merger Plan.—The Massachusetts Legislature has recently been considering a bill to authorize this company's leased line, the Old Colony RR., to purchase the franchises and property of the Boston & Providence RR., which is operated under lease at 10% yearly on $4,000,000 stock, most of which is owned by the public. At a recent hearing Colonel Benton, representing the N. Y. H. H. & H. RR., gave the following facts as reasons for permitting the merger.

In 1888 the Boston & Providence was leased to the Old Colony RR., this lease expiring April 1 1987. The rental is 10% on the capital of $4,000,000, and the Old Colony agreed to pay the $600,000 debts of the Providence Company. Raising of grades entailed nearly $1,000,000 expense, while abolishing grade crossings cost $2,000,000. The Providence Company owns one-fifth of the capital stock of the Boston Terminal Station. The extension of the Providence line, parallel with the Boston & Albany, cost $2,000,000. It will be necessary to take out about nine more crossings, at heavy cost. These expenditures were required to keep in pace with the growth of business. About 60% of the stock of the Old Colony Co. is owned by outside stockholders, while 40% is held by the New Haven. Purchase of the Providence Company is the first step to eventual purchase of the Old Colony by the New Haven.

Boston Terminals.—A bill is pending in the Massachusetts Legislature to authorize the company to increase its Boston terminal facilities by the purchase of the stocks and property of the Roxbury Central Wharf and the South Bay Wharf & Terminal Co. Nathaniel Thayer and Charles S. Mellen now hold the stock of the two companies as trustees of the New Haven Co.—V. 84, p. 340, 271.

Newtown (Pa.) Electric Street Ry.—Foreclosure Sale.—This road was sold under foreclosure on Jan. 26 at Doylestown, Pa., and was purchased for $100,000 in the interest, it is reported, of the Newtown Langhorn & Bristol Street Ry. Co. Of the $300,000 of outstanding bonds, $200,000 were owned by the Railways Co. General. A provision of the mortgage, we are informed, gives priority of lien to the coupons in default over the principal of the mortgage.

Northern Central Ry.—Merger Plan Disapproved—Dividend Increase Recommended.—The committee of shareholders appointed in November 1903 on Feb. 11 issued a statement to be submitted to the annual meeting on Feb. 25 advocating the abandonment of the proposed merger of the Northern Central with the Pennsylvania. The committee recommends that the directors fix the rate of the next semi-annual dividend at 5%, and that regular dividends shall be paid thereafter at not less than 5 per cent so long as the company's net income shall warrant the same.—V. 84, p. 103.

Northern Maine Seaport RR.—Bonds Resold.—A. B. Leach & Co. and Messrs. Mackay & Co., who recently purchased jointly from Brown Bros. & Co. the remaining $500,000 first mortgage 5% bonds held for the account of the bond syndicate, have sold practically the entire block, the bonds having been offered at prices to net about 4¾%.—See full particulars in V. 82, p. 392.

Rio de Janeiro Tramway, Light & Power Co., Ltd.—Status.—Baillie, Wood & Croft, 42 King St. West, Toronto, Canada, in a circular recommending this company's stock and bonds, which the firm says have fluctuated during 1906 between 39 and 52 and between 74 and 82 respectively, give the following particulars, which should be read in connection with the authoritative statement in V. 83, p. 214:

The bonds are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000 and are secured by a first mortgage dated Jan. 1 1905 in favor of the National Trust Co., Ltd., as trustee. Interest 5% per annum, payable Jan. 1 and July 1 at offices of Canadian Bank of Commerce, either in London, New York or Toronto. Principal redeemable in gold at par, at the same places, on Jan. 1 1935. Sinking fund towards redemption of bonds, commencing in 1910, 1% upon the total amount of bonds outstanding.

The company is a Canadian limited company, incorporated in June 1904, which has acquired a well-established tramway business and is establishing a power and lighting business in the city of Rio de Janeiro under certain valuable concessions. The company owns two great water powers, capable of developing, the one 40,000 horse power and the other 100,000 horse power in the dryest season. At present about 17,000 horse power is used in the city for industrial purposes; new docks are being constructed, which are being equipped with electrical cranes, and there is also considerable power used in the immediately surrounding country. As coal in Brazil costs from $6 80 to $8 75 per ton, the board expect a ready market outside of the company's own enterprises for at least 20,000 horse-power as soon as they are able to deliver it.

In spite of the construction of the underground system and other extensive improvements, which have necessitated the entire suspension of the service on various lines for long periods, the company's net income for the first twelve months during which it has had control of the various enterprises acquired is estimated, subject to audit, to have exceeded $1,265,353. The first part of 1907 will be occupied in construction, but when the works are completed the directors expect that the net earnings will be sufficient to meet all fixed charges and to pay regular dividends upon the stock.

Subscriptions are payable 20% April 5, July 5 and Oct. 5 1907, and Jan. 6 and April 6 1908. The present outstanding stock is $6,760,000, on which 8% is paid.—V. 82, p. 754.

Flagler and Mr. F. T. Chambers, of the Engineer Corps of the Navy, has recommended the purchase of this company's barge canal for $2,514,290. A bill has accordingly been introduced in Congress authorizing the purchase at not to exceed $2,500,000.

The Commission further recommends the enlargement of the canal, making the channel 35 feet deep and 150 feet in minimum width. The cost of such a canal is estimated at $20,621,000, or for a 30-foot depth, $17,312,000. A canal over the Sassafras River route would, they say, cost at least $500,000 more. The Maryland & Delaware Ship Canal Co. was organized many years ago to build a canal by this last-named route and acquired a small amount of property. Its capital stock, originally large, was several years ago considerably reduced. The company's organization has been maintained, William J. Roe of Newburgh, N. Later during the year, if deemed justifiable, an extra dividend which will be applicable to the deferred payments on the preferred will be paid. While the Alkin law, which increased the Dow tax to $1,000, has decreased about 20% the number of saloons in Columbus and about 23% the number in the State, the decrease in the company's output has been only about 14,000 barrels, or less than 3%. The gross earnings for the year were above $923,000, and after deducting all operating expenses fixed charges, bond interest, allowance for sinking fund ($50,000 of bonds having been retired during the year), depreciation charges, bad debts and other charges, a surplus of $245,000 was earned for the stock. The cash on hand was $393,000.—V. 83, p. 1232.

Y.—Listing.—The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing of $1,800,000 additional capital stock, to be added to the list from time to time after March 1 1907, but prior to Sept. 1 1907, on official notice that it has been issued and paid for, making the total amount authorized to be listed $10,000,000. Lackawanna Steel Co.—Sale of Secured Notes.—The company has sold to a syndicate consisting of Kean, Van Cortlandt & Co., Speyer & Co., Blair & Co. and Robert Winthrop & Co., all of New York, an issue of $5,000,000 two-year 5% secured notes of $1,000 each (c) dated March 1 1907 and due March 1 1909, but redeemable at par, at the option of the company, on any interest day on 60 days' previous notice. Secured by pledge, under a trust agreement (Central Trust Co. of New York, trustee), of—

$2,500,000 Lackawanna Steel Co. first consolidated mortgage 5% gold bonds due March 1 1935;
1,000,000 stock (entire issue) Ellsworth Collieries (see that co. above);
100,000 stock (entire issue) of Lake Erie Company stock;
Equity of Lackawanna Steel Co. in $12,500,000 of its first consolidated mortgage 5% gold bonds of 1935, now pledged to secure an issue of $10,000,000 of its 5% gold notes, maturing March 1 1910.

Note.—The above-mentioned agreement will provide, among other things, that in the event of any mortgage being made by the company before the payment of the above $5,000,000 two-year notes, the notes shall be included in the amounts to be secured by such mortgage.

The collateral trust agreement will further provide for the substitution of other securities as collateral, subject to the consent of Speyer & Co.

The proceeds of the above notes are to be applied towards payment of the Ellsworth Coal purchase, towards improvement of the company's plant and railway at West Seneca, N. Y., and for other corporate purposes. The notes are to be paid for as follows: 30% March 1 1907, 30% May 1 1907, 40% July 1 1907, or all on March 1 1907, at the buyer's option. Reference is made to the letter of President E. A. S. Clarke, in V. 84, p. 269; V. 83, p. 1593.

Long Acre Electric Light & Power Co., New York.—Contracts for New Plant.—One of the technical papers says:

This company, which is controlled by interests affiliated with John C. Sheehan, 252 Broadway, New York, is placing contracts for a large power-house to be erected in the vicinity of Longacre Square, New York. The company proposes to put up at first a plant of about 10,000 horse-power capacity, and contracts for the engines have already been placed with the Wilkinson Steam Turbine Co. This, it is understood, is only the initial size of the plant, which is expected to be made much larger in the near future. See V. 84, p. 224.

Louisville (Ky.) Water Co.—Bonds Offered.—See "Louisville" in State and City Department on a subsequent page of this issue.—V. 83, p. 821.

Mackay Companies.—New Trustees.—At the annual meeting yesterday the board of trustees was increased from 5 to 7, Pliny Fisk of Harvey Fisk & Sons and R. W. Smith of Osler & Hammond, Toronto, Can., being elected to the new positions, the remaining 5 trustees being re-elected.—V. 84, p. 224, 163.

Marseilles (Ill.) Land & Water Power Co.—Bonds Offered.—Devitt, Tremble & Co., Chicago, are offering by advertisement on another page, a block of the first mortgage 5% serial gold bonds dated Jan. 1 1907, which were fully described in our issue of Feb. 2. The bonds cover a hydraulic plant located at Marseilles, Ill., which is earning over three times its interest charge. An electrical development is contemplated. See V. 84, p. 274.

Michoacan Power Co.—Bonds to Be Guaranteed.—See Guanajuato Power & Electric Co. above.

Montana Coal & Coke Co., Boston.—Financial Plan.—The committee consisting of J. A. Coram, Joseph N. Lovell and S. S. Rosenstamm presents, under date of Feb. 9, a plan for re-financing the enterprise, and a meeting of the shareholders has been called for Feb. 25 to authorize an issue of $1,000,000 6% 20-year sinking fund mortgage bonds to take up the present floating debt ($435,000) and the $500,000 first mortgage bonds on the basis, in each case, of $1,100 in new bonds for $1,000 of principal of old debt. A new holding company, the Montana Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., has also been incorporated under the laws of Maine, with $2,000,000 stock in shares of $10 each, which will be exchanged, share for share, for the $5,000,000 existing shares, the par value of which is $25, on the payment of $1 per share in cash, the proceeds, $200,000, to be used to provide the company with the necessary working capital.

☞Stockholders are asked to deposit their stock at once with the International Trust Co., Boston, which will issue temporary negotiable receipts on the payment of 25c. per share on deposit on or before March 4 and 75c. per share on or before March 25. Full payments can be made on deposit if desired. A very large majority of stockholders and creditors have already approved the above plan.

Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co.—City Council Votes to Offer Company a Twenty-Year Contract.—The City Council on Feb. 4, by a vote of 21 to 19, adopted the Payette bill offering the company a contract to supply the city with gas and electricity for 20 years from May 1910, when the present contract expires.

The contract would reduce the price of illuminating gas to consumers from $1 20, as now, to $1 05 for 1907, $1 for 1908, 95c. for 1909, and 90c. in 1910 and thereafter; and would fix the charge for electric lighting at 15c. per kilowatt hour, with a discount of 20% to 1910 and of 33⅓% there after. It would further limit the company's dividends to 6% per annum non-cumulative; would require the payment to the city of 3% of the gross earnings; and would permit the application of 1% to depreciation. Surplus earnings after these deductions would be applied to the creation of a reserve fund, but after this fund reaches $3,400,000, one-third of future surplus profits must be apportioned to consumers by a reduction of rates The city reserves the right to acquire the plant on three years' notice at a price to be fixed by arbitration. The sum of $200,000 annually must be spent in placing the wires underground, beginning at once. The danger of competition is reduced by the provision that in future no wires shall be placed in the streets except by means of conduits and subject to the same restrictions as are imposed on the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co.—V. 83, p. 216.

Dividend Increased—Also Extra Dividend.—The directors on Feb. 11 declared, along with the 36th regular quarterly dividend on the $24,804,500 preferred stock, payable Feb. 28 1907 to holders of record Feb. 14, a quarterly dividend of 1¼% on the $29,236,000 common stock, payable April 15, making the 31st quarterly dividend, but at the increased rate of 5% per annum, the previous distributions on the common shares being at the rate of 4% yearly. They also declared an extra dividend of 1% on the common stock, payable April 15 1907 to holders of record March 28, being the same amount as extra dividend No. 1, which was paid in April 1906.—V. 83, p. 1474.

Nevada Consolidated Copper Co.—To Ratify Sale.—An advertisement announces that the shareholders will meet at Portland, Me., on Feb. 25 for the following purposes:

To increase the board of directors from 9 to 11 and to take action with regard to the sale by this company of a one-half interest in the Nevada Northern Ry. Co. to the Cumberland-Ely Copper Co. and the acquisition by this company of a one-half interest in the Steptoe Valley Smelting & Mining Co. Compare V. 83, p. 1039.

New York & Cuba Mail Steamship Co. ("Ward Line").—Change in Control.—Charles W. Morse and associates on Feb. 13 made payment for some $2,000,000 of the $2,500,000 capital stock of the company (including some 14,000 shares obtained from President Henry P. Booth) at or about $600 a share (par $100), and will, it is understood, purchase the minority shares on the same basis. Payment, it is said, is to be made largely in bonds of the successor company.

The new Ward Line Company will be incorporated probably in Maine, with $20,000,000 stock and $10,000,000 5% bonds. The underwriters, who are placing some $9,000,000 of the stock at $30 per share (par $100), are headed by Hayden, Stone & Co., Hornblower & Weeks and George A. Fernald & Co. The control of the new company is expected to be taken over by the "Consolidated Steamship Lines" (V. 84, p. 53, 161, 223). The "Boston News Bureau" says:

In the year 1906 the Ward Line earned $1,300,000 net, which is equal to 5% on the $10,000,000 bonds and 4% on the $20,000,000 of stock. It is figured that earnings can be materially increased through the elimination of competition, an interchange of traffic and interchange of boats. There are now only two important coastwise lines outside the Morse combination, the Ocean Steamship Co. line between New York and Boston and Savannah, which is owned by the Central Railroad of Georgia, and the Morgan Line, New York to Galveston, which is owned by the Southern Pacific RR. The Ward Line's 18 steamers have a book value of over $12,000,000 and probably could not be duplicated for $15,000,000. Of the 80,000 tonnage, 50,000, or 60%, is brand new. The old company was so under-capitalized as to have earned yearly for five years an average of $1,300,000, or over 50% on its stock.—V. 84, p. 341.

Ogden Gas Co., Chicago.—Lease.—See People's Gas Light & Coke Co of Chicago below.—V. 78, p. 1785.

People's Gas Light & Coke Co., Chicago.—Mr. Brady Made Chairman.—Anthony N. Brady of New York has been elected Chairman of the board to succeed C. K. G. Billings, who, however, remains a director.

Leases.—The shareholders on Feb. 11 voted to take over the Ogden Gas Co. under a lease by the terms of which, it is said, the People's Company guarantees the $6,000,000 bond issue of the Ogden Company and all its other debts (as to the bonds see V. 72, p. 244, 91). The "Chicago Tribune" says

The stockholders ratified leases of the Ogden Gas Co. (V. 78, p. 1785, 1501) and the Universal Gas Co. to the People's Gaslight Co. It is expected there will not only be a saving in general expenses but also in the cost of gas. The People's company has for years purchased gas from the two concerns at a figure in excess of what the cost will be under the leases. The leases run for substantially 34 years. The organization of the Ogden Gas Co. as constituted at present will go out of existence, Roger Sullivan retiring as President. (As to the Universal Gas Co., see V. 67, p. 179; V. 60, p. 930; V. 59, p. 154; and also People's Gas items V. 68 p. 474; V. 65, p. 925, 870).—V. 84, p. 342, 225.

Pittsburgh Coal Co.—Chairman Robbins Retires.—At the annual meeting on Feb. 11 Francis L. Robbins retired both from the board and also as Chairman of the company. William Flynn was elected a director in place of Mr. Robbins and J. C. Dysart to succeed the late P. L. Donnelly President Taylor, it is understood, will also be made Chairman.

Mr. Robbins, it is reported, will continue as President of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Co.

Report.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page —V. 83, p. 1040.

Pittsburgh Valve Foundry & Construction Co.—Dividend Increased.—The directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼% on the $1,150,000 stock, payable March 1, contrasting with:

Pocasset Manufacturing Co., Fall River.—Stock Dividend.—The shareholders will vote Feb. 28 on a proposition to increase the capital stock from $600,000 to $1,000,000, for the purpose of paying a stock dividend of 66 2-3%, and in order to make the outstanding stock to correspond more nearly with the value of the plant. The company operates about 115,000 spindles.—V. 81, p. 1726.

Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Co., New York, Chicago and Kansas City.—Debenture Bonds Offered.—William Salomon & Co., of New York and Chicago, and Goldman, Sachs & Co., of New York, Chicago and Boston, are offering at par and interest, by advertisement on another page, the unsold part of the issue of $6,000,000 6% sinking fund 10-year debenture bonds dated June 1 1906 and due June 1 1916, but subject to call, any or all, on any interest day, at 105 and interest, and at that rate to be retired by sinking fund installments to the extent of $2,000,000 prior to maturity. A full description of these debentures and various facts regarding the company were given in V. 83, p. 498. The bankers have obtained also the following information from the company:

The Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Co. has been in continuous operation since 1873. The company owns (free and clear) and operates extensive packing plants in New York, Chicago and Kansas City. It is one of the four largest packing concerns in the country, doing a business of upwards of $75,000,000 a year. It has facilities for killing over 100,000 cattle, sheep and hogs per week. The company makes a specialty of hotel and club trade, and buys the heaviest and best grade cattle sold at the stock yards. Its business is almost entirely in fresh meats; in fact, its sales of canned goods amount to less than 1% of its total business.

The amount of these bonds authorized is $2,500,000 and the amount issued is $500,000. The interest as well as the principal is payable in United States gold coin in New York. The bonds are subject to redemption on any interest date after Sept. 1 1928 and after Sept. 1 1911 they may be drawn by lot for the sinking fund, price not to exceed 105 and interest. The New York Trust Co. of New York is the trustee. Application will be made to list the bonds on the New York and the Amsterdam Stock Exchanges. All the capital stock is owned by the parent company. The population of Manila is estimated at 300,000 and that of the territory reached by the new lines at over 40,000. The gross earnings of the guarantor company last year were $910,172 and the surplus after paying fixed charges, $208,535, as against $159,561 the previous year. —Thomas J. Bolger & Co., bankers, of Chicago, have prepared an interesting diagram showing the fluctuations in the prices and income basis of leading municipal securities during the past ten years. The chart is divided into four groups, Massachusetts and New York savings bank bonds forming one, local bonds (Chicago and vicinity) forming a second, Central and Western bonds comprising the third and Southern bonds the fourth. A 4% 20-year bond is taken as the basis in the first two groups, a 4½% 20-year bond for the third group and a 5% 20-year bond for the last group. The chart brings out the fact that present prices are the lowest for a decade except in the case of the Southern group of cities.

—Alexander E. Orr, the President of the New York Life Insurance Co., has issued a statement regarding the company which will be found on another page. The income for the year 1906 was $100,902,178. There was paid in death claims and to policyholders for endowments, dividends, &c., $44,972,418. A further sum of $21,571,734 was loaned to about 75,000 policyholders on the security of their policies at 5% interest. This aggregates $66,544,152 received by policyholders in 1906, which was more than 93% of the income for the year after setting aside the sum required for the legal reserve. The ratio of expenses to premium income was 5% less than in 1905.

The Commercial Times.

Friday Night, Feb. 15 1907.

Trade, already large, has latterly benefited from more favorable weather, and prices have been in the main sustained on a very profitable level. Speculation has been quiet but manufacturing industries have seldom been so active, if, indeed, the present volume of business has ever before been equaled. Confidence is still the dominant note, though new business in manufactured iron and steel is said to be less active

LARD on the spot has been firmer, owing to light offerings and some increase in the demand, partly for export. City is quoted at 9½c. and Western 10.10@10.15c. Refined lard has been firm with Continent higher. Trade has been fairly active with offerings moderate. Refined Continent 10.40c., South America 11c. and Brazil in kegs 12@12¼c. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been dull, and the general drift of prices has been downward, owing partly to continued large receipts, partly to liquidation of the March option and partly to persistent attacks on the Cotton Exchanges of the country and the whole system of trading in futures. The latest instance of this hostility is the passage by the Lower House of the Tennessee Legislature of an Act prohibiting trading in futures within the limits of that State or the maintenance of offices for the purpose of trading in futures elsewhere. Reports have been in circulation, too, that here and there at the South there has been some easing of quotations, and where this has apparently not been the case, there has seemed to be some falling off in business, so that to all appearance, in some cases at least, prices which were recently quite strong have latterly assumed a somewhat more nominal character. Still, such appearances have so often during the present season proved more or less illusory that not too much stress has been laid upon them, although it is none the less a fact that they have not been without a certain effect. But the large receipts and the dulness of speculation have after all been the factors which have weighed most heavily on the market. Speculation has, however, really been, as it were, between two fires. On the one side big receipts and dulness of speculation, and the other unfavorable features have tended to discourage buying; while, on the other hand, the big consumption has kept short selling within prudent bounds, and the result has been a condition of irregularity and unsettlement much of the time, even though the net result has been some loss for the week. Liverpool has continued to buy March here in undoing straddles, and with a more cheerful stock market some of the Wall Street houses have at times shown more disposition to make purchases. New Orleans and the South, on the other hand, have been more inclined to sell, and latterly, moreover, not a few of the local operators who recently bought for an advance have become discouraged by the unsatisfactory action of the market and sold their holdings. At times the receipts at the Southwest have shown some indications of decreasing, but these have proved on the whole deceptive, and the tendency has recently been to increase the crop estimate. The expectation is also very general of a considerable increase in the acreage during the coming season, especially west of the Mississippi River. With the crop movement so large and the speculation so small, the only thing which has acted as an effectual check on the downward movement of prices has been what looks to most people like a world's consumption of American cotton far surpassing anything ever before known. To-day prices advanced, owing partly to unexpectedly bullish Liverpool prices, partly to firmness of spot markets and partly to favorable advices from manufacturing centres, especially Manchester and Fall River, including at the latter an advance in print cloths. The next crop showed the most strength. Cotton on the spot has been quiet. Middling uplands closed at 11c., a decline for the week of 10 points.

COTTON PRODUCTION IN QUEENSLAND, AUSTRALIA.

The attention of Lancashire (Eng.) manufacturers has been drawn to the possibilities of Queensland as a source of cotton supply. The London correspondent of the "North Queensland Herald" writes as follows:

There cannot be any doubt that that British colony is capable of developing an extensive production of cotton, especially if assistance is given to the industry in the way of capital and labor from the old country. Within the last year or so samples of Queensland-grown tree cotton have been arriving in England. These have been submitted to cotton experts, who have delivered most favorable verdicts as to the commercial value of this cotton. The British Cotton-Growing Association and Messrs. Horrocks, amongst others, have valued the samples very highly, and Liverpool brokers have sold some parcels at prices which leave no doubt that this colonial cotton would sell very favorably. Indeed, with the article produced in America, Egypt, &c. The cotton referred to that fetched such high prices was a tree variation called Caravonica. Quite lately samples of a similar cotton have been received in London which are much fancied. An expert who has examined these varieties has named them "Brisbane"; they were cultivated in Brisbane. Cotton is grown all along the Queensland coast from Brisbane, in latitude 27 south, to Cairns, 1,000 miles farther north. Most of the cotton grown in Queensland is ginned at Lytton, a manufacturing town at the head of the Brisbane River. The industry is so far practically only on a tentative scale on account of the lack of markets. But the profitable are the returns from cotton growing in Queensland that small farmers, numerously represented in the agricultural districts, are going in for cotton-growing on a small scale, being able, with their families to do all the work. The experimental cotton-growing in the colony very profitable yields have been reported, and in the Moreton district, where the industry is being carried on to some extent, an average yield for 1905 of about 700 lbs. per acre is recorded in the country statistics, though in some parts the yield has gone to over 1,000 lbs. per acre.

EUROPEAN COTTON CONSUMPTION TO FEB. 1.—By cable to-day we have have Mr. Ellison's cotton figures brought down to February 1. We give also revised totals for last year that comparison may be made. The spinners' takings in actual bales and pounds have been as follows:

Oct. 1 to Feb. 1.	Great Britain.	Continent.	Total.
For 1906-07.
Takings by spinners.....bales	1,560,000	2,105,000	3,665,000
Average weight of bales....lbs.	509	489	4,975
Takings in pounds	794,040,000	1,029,245,000	1,823,249,000
For 1905-06.

According to the above, the average weight of the deliveries in Great Britain is 509 pounds per bale this season, against 499 pounds during the same time last season. The Continental deliveries average 489 pounds, against 485 pounds last year, and for the whole of Europe the deliveries average 497.5 pounds per bale, against 491.2 pounds last season. Our dispatch also gives the full movement for this year and last year in bales of 500 pounds.

Oct. 1 to Feb. 1. Bales of 500 lbs. each. 000s omitted.	1906-07.			1905-06.

The foregoing shows that the weekly consumption is now 180,000 bales of 500 pounds each, against 175,000 bales of like weights at the corresponding time last year. The total spinners' stocks in Great Britain and on the Continent have increased 297,000 bales during the month and are now 387,000 bales more than at the same date last season.

LIVERPOOL COTTON EXCHANGE.—To Substitute Single for Double Month Quotations.—The resolutions to which we referred in our issue of Feb. 2 were carried at the meeting of the Liverpool Cotton Exchange on Monday Jan. 28, and if they are confirmed by the poll which has been demanded, they will take effect (as to contracts) on Jan. 1 1908 and (as to the official quotation of single months) in October next. Mr. Michell, who introduced the resolutions, advocated their passage on the following grounds:

The time of arrival can now be gauged much more accurately than in the old days when cotton was imported in sailing ships and the double month was necessary as a hedge against imports. Again, the comparatively modern practice of buying and selling cotton on "call" exposes the seller to the risk of being badly caught in the event of the double month on which the contract is based going to a discount below the month of delivery. Moreover the present system is said to be productive of the gravest dissatisfaction to the buyers of "call" cotton, for the seller naturally insists that the basis of the call shall be the higher of the two double months of which the month of delivery is one. The buyer may thus have to fix cotton, say, for March delivery, partly on February-March and partly on March-April futures, according to which of the two positions is the higher at the time of call, with the result of "confusion, recrimination and ill blood between broker and client." It is suggested that with the adoption of a single-month contract basis, all this trouble would disappear.

FALL RIVER MILL DIVIDENDS.—Thirty-two of the thirty-four cotton-manufacturing corporations in Fall River have declared dividends during the first quarter of the year, and the total amount paid out is $160,500 greater than for the corresponding period of 1906. The aggregate of the amount distributed has been $596,900, or an average of 2.56% on the capital. In 1906 twenty-eight mills made distribution, and the average rate was 1.94%. In 1905 the average rate was but 0.32%; in 1904 it was 1.21%; in 1903 it was 1.44%; in 1902 it was 1.11%; in 1901 it was 1.73%; in 1900 it was 1.81%; in 1899 it was 0.88%; in 1898 it was 0.25%; in 1897 it was 1.01%, and in 1896 it reached 1.99%.

It will therefore be seen that the current year's rate of dividend payments is greater than in the first quarter of any year since 1896.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, Feb. 15 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have ruled firm in the main and several grades have advanced. The strength has been due more, however, to the recent advance in wheat than to any material improvement in the volume of trade. In fact, the market here has continued as dull as ever, with the buying of a hand-to-mouth character. A better demand has been reported at the principal milling centres of the winter-wheat belt, but the demand at the Northwest has been extremely light. Export business has continued quiet, and the clearances from the seaboard have been small. Rye flour has been quiet and steady. Corn meal has been in moderate demand and steady.

Wheat has been more or less irregular, but on the whole has declined. The evidences of liquidation have latterly been clear enough, and this selling may be attributed in part at least to favorable crop advices from the West. From all that can be gathered, the plant has thus far suffered no serious injury, despite alternate thawing and freezing over a large area which during much of the winter has been insufficiently covered with snow. Then, too, although export business has been by no means absent, it has been on the whole less active, though within a day or two some increase has taken place, and on Thursday a London dispatch asserted that the Russian Government, which has recently been buying Durum wheat, partly in this country, would continue to make purchases in the markets of the world for some little time to come. On the other hand, the receipts at the Northwest have latterly increased, prices there have declined and the world's exports last week, if something under those for the corresponding week last year, were considerably larger than in the previous week this year. The world's supply of wheat, it is true, has latterly shown some slight decrease, and, standing at 156,810,000 bushels, it is, in round figures, only 4,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago. Moreover, coarse grains, such as corn and oats, have shown a steadiness which has by no means been without its influence on wheat. Yet in the main the tendency has been to take profits after the recent rather sharp advance, and the result has been a not unnatural decline in prices. The foreign markets have at times shown a good deal of strength, notably Liverpool and Berlin, but latterly the tendency towards an at least temporary recession of prices has been quite as noticeable in Europe as on this side of the water. To-day prices declined on disappointing cables, large Argentine shipments, increased Northwestern receipts and general selling.

Indian corn futures have shown more or less irregularity, influenced on the one hand by realizing sales, larger sales and a lessened demand, and on the other by firm cash markets, a better cash demand, partly for export, bull support and covering of shorts. In the main the undertone of the market has been firm. While the receipts have been larger, the proportion of contract grade in the Chicago arrivals has been insignificant, and this fact has naturally deterred short selling. Moreover, the Argentine crop reports have in the main been unfavorable, one report estimating the damage at 50%. To-day prices declined a fraction, owing to liquidation, weakness in wheat, expectations of larger receipts and a falling off in the cash demand.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have been irregular, with the fluctuations comparatively narrow. At times prices have advanced fractionally, owing to buying by the leading bulls, strong cash quotations, covering of shorts and an absence of selling pressure. But, as in other cereals, there has been more or less realizing, partly, at least, by the bull clique. The receipts have increased at times, and a large movement is expected as a result of favorable weather conditions. To-day prices weakened, owing to the depression in wheat, liquidation and a lack of aggressive support.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, Feb. 15 1907.

The past week has been one of increased activity in practically all divisions of the dry goods market. The buyers' excursions which started on Monday brought many buyers to this market in search of spring goods, and, in spite of the high prices demanded, they placed liberal orders and requested prompt shipments on all purchases. Staple cottons as well as all grades of fancy fabrics are in a sold-up condition or spot and near-by delivery that has seldom been seen in recent years, and the question of deliveries, therefore, rather than price, has been uppermost with merchants as well as buyers. Many standard domestics are at value, but this has not curtailed fresh business. The full strength of the buying movement is being felt both in the primary and secondary markets. Jobbers have had a very active and satisfactory week, and are receiving more liberal shipments from mills since goods ordered for spring delivery are now falling due. Special offerings have been readily taken. Buyers as a rule have taken medium and high-priced goods in preference to cheaper grades. In the print-cloth market 28-inch standards are moving more freely at 4¼c., buyers apparently appreciating more fully the strength of the primary market; wide goods have also sold well on the basis of 6¾c. for standards for forward delivery, while narrow print cloths for spot delivery are well sold up. Algonquin staple prints have been advanced ¼c. and American prints placed at value; all discounts in excess of the regular trade discount of 5% to jobbers have been cut off. Dress goods and silks for spring are selling in unusually large volume, and a fair business is being done in men's wear lines for fall. Export trade is very quiet.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Feb. 9 were 1,956 packages, valued at $141,225, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

New York to Feb. 9.	1907 Week.	1907 Since Jan. 1.	1906 Week.	1906 Since Jan. 1

Other countries	436	7,947	45	1,778

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $1,968,357 in 1907, against $2,335,702 in 1906

Bleached goods in the primary and secondary markets are commanding full asking prices, and cutters-up are in many instances offering premiums for tickets they desire. Brown sheetings under 5.50 yards continue very active, some goods showing a further advance of ⅛c. Orders for forward delivery on brown standard sheetings have been placed at 7¼c., while on brown standard drills business is being negotiated at 7½c. and higher. Drills and all grades of cotton duck and shirtings have sold in larger volume this week than for some time past. Tickings and denims have also been taken freely, top prices being secured for near-by delivery. Linings, both for spot and future delivery, are firmly held, and in steady demand, especially mercerized fabrics. Actual business for export account has been disappointingly small, although numerous inquiries have been received, especially for 4-yard sheetings. The Chinese holidays doubtless curtailed business somewhat, but buyers for China account seem to consider present prices too high. South American demand improved slightly, but the island trade has been quiet.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Both men's wear lines and dress goods are now open for the fall and initial business is about up to the average of recent years; the yardage this season, however, appears to be shifting from worsteds to fancy woolens. The latter have been sold more freely and in larger volume than for a number of years past, and prices are tending upwards. Mercerized worsteds and manipulated fabrics are in demand, especially among Western buyers. Regular overcoatings are well under order, and business for the fall of 1907 is about up to the average. Many lines of medium grade suitings are sold up for fall.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The scarcity of dress linens has increased the demand for silk piece goods for spring; stocks of the latter are unusually light and prices show advances on popular lines. Linens continue strong with occasional slight advances on the better grades of domestic goods; stocks are still short. Burlaps are in very limited supply and firm, light-weights being practically sold up. Conditions in imported woolens and worsteds remain about unchanged, although the cold weather has imparted a better tone to this department.

STATE AND CITY DEPARTMENT.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN JANUARY.

We present herewith our detailed list of the municipal bond issues put out during the month of January, which the crowded condition of our columns prevented our publishing at the usual time.

The review of the month's sales was given on page 350 of the "Chronicle" of Feb. 9. Since then several belated January returns have been received, changing the total for the month to $9,783,529. The number of municipalities issuing bonds was 139 and the number of separate issues 180. In the case of each loan reference is made to the page of the "Chronicle" where an account of the sale is given.

News Items.

Chicago, Ill.—Trolley Franchise Ordinance Passed Over Veto.—The Chicago City Council on Feb. 11, by a vote of 57 to 12, passed over the veto of Mayor Dunne the ordinances granting franchises to the present street railway companies of Chicago. The ordinances, to be effective, must also be ratified by referendum vote at the city election in April. Compare V. 84, p. 338.

Chillicothe, Mo.—Bonds Invalid.—The Supreme Court has declared invalid the $100,000 4% coupon water-works and electric-light bonds awarded last April to O. L. Smith. New bonds have been voted and are now being offered.

Ithaca, N. Y.—Appraisal of Water Plant.—The Rochester "Herald" of Dec. 29 1906 contained the following regarding the report on the value of the property of the Ithaca Water Works Co., made by the commissioners appointed by the Court at the time the plant was acquired by the city:

Ithaca, Dec. 28.—The decision of the colored commissioners appointed by the Court to appraise the property of the Ithaca Water Works Co., following the condemnation of the plant by the city, was made known to-day. The testimony in the case was completed about two weeks ago.

The findings of the commissioners are lengthy and can best be summarized. The total award is $65,000, of which the company had offered to sell at $45,000, consequently the city will have to bond itself for $20,000, which will be about $60,000 for both sides. The cost of the commission of $10,000 and the city's expert witnesses will also have to be paid by the city. The fees of the witnesses will amount to $15,000 more. The trial of the case has been in progress for two years.

The commission was composed of three of the best equipped men of professional and business experience of any in this part of the State. Supreme Court Justice-elect Henry B. Coman of Morrisville was at its head and his companions on the commission were Theodore H. Wickwire, of the large manufacturing firm of Wickwire Bros., of Cortland, and W. G. Phelps of Binghamton, one of Broome County's most prominent bankers.

The decision is the chief topic of conversation in the city to-day. The supporters of the city's side claim the amount is too much to bear, as at the figure the income of the water board will not meet the interest which will have to be met on a bond issue, and amounts will have to be appropriated yearly to meet the deficiency, while the matter of making payments on the principal will be out of the question unless the city has a tax rate which would be more than the income for the rental of real estate.

The supporters of the water company are satisfied with the outcome, claiming the amount will be none too much and that the stockholders will receive nothing when the bonded and floating indebtedness of the system is met. The plant was sold several years ago to William T. Morris of Penn Yan for $350,000 and at the time the city acquired it the company controlled by Mr. Morris offered to take $605,000. The city's offer for the plant was $450,000.

The water board since the acquirement of the property by the city has expended about $150,000 in sinking artesian wells and making other improvements in the system. When the matter is finally closed with all of the expense of the trial, the city will have expended nearly $1,000,000 for its water plant. Whether or not the city will accept the decision or make an appeal will not be known until after the meeting of the water board next Monday evening.

Louisville, Ky.—Water Company Bonds Offered.—Attention is called to the official advertisement elsewhere offering for sale at 12 m. March 6 $1,000,000 4% gold coupon mortgage bonds of the Louisville Water Company—a private corporation but all the stock of which ($1,275,000) is owned by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the City of Louisville. Proposals to be made on blanks furnished by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund and must be addressed to them. Securities are in denomination of $1,000, dated July 2 1906. Interest semi-annually at the First National Bank in New York City. Maturity July 2 1946. Bonds are exempt from municipal taxation. A certified check on a national or State bank in Louisville for 2% of the bonds bid for, payable to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, is required with bids, which must be made on blanks prepared by the Commissioners. These bonds are not an obligation of the city. To secure the same the Board of Water Works executed a mortgage or deed of trust to the Columbia Finance & Trust Co. of Louisville, dated July 2 1906, pledging all of its real estate "together with and including all the property, machinery, reservoirs, filter plant, &c., &c." After applying the proceeds of this sale, the water company will have no indebtedness except the above-mentioned bonds and an issue of $500,000 bonds maturing Aug. 1 1910. The value of the property of the company is placed at $7,677,445. Gross earnings in 1905 were $556,747 94; operating expenses, $191,160 05; betterments, $78,036 55; leaving $287,551 34 as net earnings in 1906, as against $182,258 11 in 1905.

Middlesborough, Bell County, Ky.—Bond Compromise Effected.—We are advised that the Bondholders' Committee organized by N. W. Harris & Co. of Chicago and representing the holders of all the $150,000 6% improvement bonds of he city of Middlesborough, dated April 1 1891 and due pril 1 1921, has concluded the settlement contract with the city, mention of which was made in V. 83, p. 1132. We are informed that the terms of compromise are substantially s follows:

The city agrees to pay interest from and after Oct. 1 1905 to the maturity the bonds, at the reduced rate of 4% instead of 6% per annum. The ondholders' Committee has agreed to accept a lump sum of $28,000 in full settlement of all claims for overdue and unpaid coupons, judgments, &c., said $28,000 to be paid in fourteen annual installments of $2,000 each, of which the first installment is payable on or before Dec. 31 1907 and the other installments due on or before Dec. 31 of each of the years thereafter. As a guaranty for the proper fulfillment of the terms of this settlement contract, the city has confessed judgment on all over-due claims on account of the coupons from these bonds, and has authorized the confession of judgment on any of the coupons not yet matured which are not paid promptly at reduced rate in accordance with the terms of contract, and the Bondholders' Committee has agreed to stay execution of such judgment as long as the city complies with the terms of the contract.

All of the terms of this settlement have been embodied in an ordinance of the city of Middlesborough and in a mandatory order of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Kentucky, and it is now anticipated that the city of Middlesborough will be able to meet amounts due under the terms of the contract promptly as they mature. The Bondholders' Committee considers that in all the circumstances the terms of this settlement are very satisfactory.

As to the financial statement of the city of Middlesborough, the assessed valuation of property within the city limits for the year 1905 was as follows:

Real property	$160,894
Improvements on same	254,047
Personal property	138,728
Franchises, railroads, &c	179,778

The records showing the city's outstanding indebtedness are in a very unsatisfactory condition, it seeming probable that some of the records have been lost or destroyed, intentionally or otherwise. In addition to the $150,000 improvement bonds dated April 1 1891, above referred to, and the $28,000 to be paid, as above stated, on account of unpaid coupons from said bonds, all of which have been adjudged a valid and binding indebtedness of the city by the United States Circuit Court, the city appears to have outstanding somewhere between $30,000 and $50,000 of so-called refunding bonds, issued to fund warrants. It is understood that some question as to the validity of these refunding bonds, or the warrants they were issued to refund, or both, has been raised. The city probably has outstanding also some unfunded warrants. The representative of the Bondholders' Committee estimates, however, that probably $50,000 will cover all of the refunding bonds and such warrants, floating indebtedness, &c., outstanding. If all of such refunding bonds, warrants, &c., and floating indebtedness are valid, the city's total indebtedness at present, therefore, would be about $228,000.

STREET RAILWAY SECTION.

A new number of our "Street Railway" section, revised to date, is sent to our subscribers to-day. The editorial discussions in the same embrace the following topics: "The Car-Mile Basis of Comparison" and "Advance Estimates for New Street Railways."

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The Government the current week has issued its foreign trade figures for January. They are especially notable because of the continued large and increasing amount of the import values. Going back to the five years of 1872-1876, the total imports and exports were very nearly alike. That is to say, the annual average of exports for those five years was only $541,616,484 and the average of imports was $548,767,751. Passing down to 1882-1886, we find the totals even then were not far apart, the annual average being of exports $742,830,956 and of imports $663,586,768; still, those figures indicate growth in both branches, the increase in exports compared with 1872-1876 being 37% and the imports 21%. After that imports showed only a very moderate increase until the latest cycle of expansion began in 1902. Since then the import totals have been steadily on the rise, constantly getting nearer the thousand million limit, passing it in 1904 and averaging $1,100,185,926 for the whole year of 1906. It will be of interest to bring together in a brief statement these facts, comparing periods with those immediately preceding.

Two or three other facts should be added to the foregoing to explain the variations in the growth of imports. The first of these was the Dingley tariff bill which went into operation as to most of its provisions in July 1897. Among the consequences of that legislation in progress and its prospective effect, the imports in 1896 were above normal, reaching for that year (1896) $801,669,347 against the previous year (1895) $676,312,941, which we may call normal. Of course a first effect subsequent to the enactment (that is, the earliest operation of the higher duties in force) would be a partial arrest of imports. Indeed, it may be said in a general way that it required the next three years for the higher tariff values to get adjusted to the merchandise trade between the United States and the outside world. What is the object of a high tariff? Its object is to shut out competition to our producers; and hence, to increase the values of protected articles raised or made here. The subsequent action would be that as rapidly as the protected articles rose in value here enough for the corresponding European production to find a profit in creeping over the tariff wall, our imports would increase. That is just what has happened since 1899, when our import values were only $634,964,448. Since 1899 imports have increased year by year, the total for 1906 reaching $1,321,064,694, and for the single month of January 1907, $126,576,965.

Of course we are not attempting to show what influences have been increasing our imports during all these years. The settlement of our currency standard upon the world's basis of gold, thereby relieving the country's industries from the fear of silver legislation, made the cycle of prosperity we have enjoyed possible. It is a marvel, too, how much happened somewhere about 1898 the effect of which is still felt in industrial affairs. It was about that time that our phenomenal crops began to be felt. March 4 1899 was the first Congress when both Houses were in favor of sound-money legislation. The war with Spain, so successful and so short, had a share in giving a decided impulse to business expansion. Just preceding that war an industrial liquidation had taken place that made the subsequent rise in values natural, not only of securities but of commodities as well.

A prominent Treasury official who recently conferred with the Finance Committee of the Senate, at the request of such Committee, regarding the administrative features of the Aldrich measure, to which we made reference last week, expressed the opinion when he was in this city this week that at least three of the provisions contained in the measure would pass the Senate. These are the deposit of customs collections in depositary banks, the extension of the limit of bank-note retirements and the emission of United States notes of small denominations. The claim was also made that the bill having passed the House, a Conference Committee would be appointed, and that no opposition to the enactment of those provisions would be made in the conference of the two Houses. The Senate measure has been thoroughly discussed by the members of the Banking and Currency Committee of the House, who are said to be co-operating with the effort to secure prompt action on the bill, and unless there shall be some now unforeseen obstacle to prevent, the above-mentioned official is confident that the measure will pass and shortly become operative.

The tardy offerings for redemption of the 4% bonds of 1907, only $815,650 having, so far as reported, been paid for at the Treasury up to this week, is causing much disappointment and apprehension of the failure of this device for the relief of the money market. Among the reasons assigned for these unsatisfactory results, the chief is that the rules of the Department require that the bonds shall be forwarded by the holders to Washington, where they must be compared with the record of their issue, and, should any error in endorsement or otherwise appear, they would have to be returned for correction. Inasmuch as such record is kept at Washington, redemptions cannot be effected at the Sub-Treasuries; their officials are, therefore, charged with the duty only of paying for the bonds through the draft of the Department.

As has been the case in previous weeks, there was no competition by American bankers with the Bank of England for the gold which arrived at London on Monday of the current week from South Africa, the bulk of the metal being bought by the Bank. Considering the fact that last year New York institutions were active competitors with the Bank for the gold which was then arriving from the Cape, their forbearance at this time continues to excite comment. It is further suggested as an explanation that interests which last year were contesting for the gold arrivals hold off now because of their desire to borrow as freely as possible abroad; this effort would be somewhat deranged were there to be an advance in London discounts as the result of gold shipments to New York. New York bankers are therefore said to be disposed to refrain from importing gold, hoping thereby to contribute to lower, or at least easy, discounts in London that would promote borrowing operations there and on the Continent on corporation notes and American railroad securities. While other bankers may not be actuated by similar motives, it is said that they, too, refrain from importing the metal, partly because the profit of such importations is not absolutely certain, owing to the possible interposition of obstacles thereto, and partly for the reason that there is likely to be a greater gain without risk in the free negotiation of corporation notes and of American securities. Moreover, the correspondents of these bankers are doubtless co-operating, as are all the London joint-stock and other banks; in efforts to maintain a low minimum rate at the Bank, and in the open market, which would be more advantageous to them than would be a higher rate accompanied by artificial devices of the Bank to control the market rate.

Railroad managers are doing much now-a-days to enlighten the public on the pressing problems of the day in railroad affairs, and if heed be given to what they say the solution of these problems will be accomplished with less friction and less danger of disaster than must follow from continuance of the course which seems to find so much favor in legislative halls at this time. President Milton H. Smith of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. recently sent a reply to a letter addressed by the Tennessee Railroad Commission to the heads of the various lines in the State asking for information as to the traffic conditions prevailing and the causes for delays in moving freight. Mr. Smith in his communication cites figures to show what the Louisville & Nashville has done in the way of enlarging its facilities, and then indicates what further steps and what further work will be necessary on the part of his system if the present volume of traffic is to continue and to increase. He estimates that to promptly move the existing tonnage and provide for increased traffic, the Louisville & Nashville must expend $100,000,000 during the next five years in reducing grades and curvatures, constructing second tracks, increasing equipment, providing additional terminal facilities, including shops, &c. Unfortunately, he adds, this work cannot be entered upon for the reason that the company cannot obtain the required capital except upon terms that are deemed by the management prohibitory. He then proceeds as follows:

"The action of the United States Government and the State legislatures, combined with personal-damage-claim lawyers and labor unions in conspiring to take the control of the property of the railways from their owners—bind them hand and foot that they may be the more readily plucked—has caused and will, I fear, continue to cause investors to refrain from loaning the capital required to make the necessary additions.

"I venture the opinion that the existing facilities of the railroads will in a comparatively short time—twelve or eighteen months—be adequate to the transportation requirements. This is based upon the fact that a large proportion of the existing traffic is the result of the enormous expenditures that have for a number of years past been made by the railroads of the country in adding to their facilities, the expenditures already made and those authorized and under way, amounting to many hundreds of millions of dollars, and such expenditures, in addition to giving employment to many millions of people, have created directly and indirectly a very large traffic which the railroads have been moving. If railroad companies cannot obtain additional capital, it follows that as soon as the capital already provided has been expended—the improvements, additions, &c., now under way completed—the employment and traffic that has resulted from construction expenditures by the railroad companies will cease."

We will not comment on Mr. Smith's remarks further than to say that many close students of affairs share the views here expressed of what must be the outcome of the present spirit of antagonism to railroad interests if the existing policy in that regard is not quickly changed.

President Finley of the Southern Railway Co. is also doing his part to enlighten the public. He was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the people of Chattanooga on Feb. 14. In replying to the toast of Mayor Frierson, he dwelt at length upon the importance of establishing harmonious relations between the public and the railways. He pointed out that the phenomenal prosperity of the country has taxed its transportation facilities to the utmost, and has brought railway managers face to face with problems of unprecedented magnitude, to the solution of which they are devoting all their energies. There are those who believe, he said, that these problems can be solved by legislation, and some of the schemes put forward suggest the idea that their authors credit railway managers with superhuman powers and with ability to go on increasing wages, buying cars and locomotives, bridging rivers, tunneling mountains, laying double tracks and building new lines, even though railway earnings be cut down to the vanishing point. But railway managers, he observes, are only human. They have no magic carpets on which freight and passengers can be transported with the speed of thought; nor can they create railroads and equipment by simply rubbing an Aladdin's lamp. Time, money and hard work are needed to put the railway systems of the United States in condition to handle the ever increasing volume of traffic.

He also pointed out that the only product a railroad has for sale is transportation, and it is one of the few products the price of which is not fixed by the law of supply and demand. If a manufacturer should find himself confronted by an enormous increase in his cost of production, and if at the same time there should exist a demand for his products in excess of the utmost capacity of his plant, he would probably put up his selling price to the highest point that would not seriously check the demand, and no one would suggest that he had done anything wrong. But the railroads in just such a situation are confronted with legislation reducing their income. If this policy be carried too far, there can be but one outcome—the actual deterioration of railway facilities when they should be rapidly expanding and improving. This being the danger, Mr. Finley thinks that the most valuable and the most patriotic service a man can in the present emergency render his country is to assist in establishing a better and more friendly understanding between the people and the railroads. The transportation problem, which in the interest of our contentment as a people and of our civilization, must be successfully worked out, is the greatest business and Governmental problem of modern times, and it cannot be solved in passion, or in a spirit of vindictiveness, or in any misunderstanding of the conditions that surround it.

The day before (Feb. 13) Mr. Finley had given some sound advice to the representatives of the freight and passenger departments of the Southern Railway Company who had been brought together in Atlanta at Mr. Finley's request. He pointed out to these representatives that their duties were of a two-fold nature. They owe duties to the railway companies by which they are employed and they owe duties to the public. These double duties, he contends, do not in any way result in conflict or divided allegiance, "for he serves the railway best who serves the public best." Mr. Finley in particular counsels obedience to the law, saying: "Many of the relations between the railways and the public are now regulated by Federal and State statutes, and every official and employee of the Southern Railway Company must understand that its business affairs are to be conducted at all times in strict accordance with the laws of the land. No transactions or practice that is forbidden by the laws can be permitted and there must be no resort to evasion of any kind."

The first announcement this week that the Pennsylvania Railroad had disposed of an issue of $60,000,000 3-year 5% notes created rather an unfavorable impression, it being feared it meant a further addition to the other contemplated new capital issues previously announced. But later information put an entirely different aspect upon the matter. As now explained, this step serves to clarify the entire situation as to the company's financial needs in the near future. The proceeds of these notes it is intended shall complete the company's financing for the current calendar year, and $50,000,000 of the whole amount will go to take up the Pennsylvania notes now outstanding and which mature next November. Consequently, the net addition, allowing for these outstanding obligations to be retired, will be only about $10,000,000. At the coming annual meeting the shareholders will be asked to sanction the proposed increase in stock and bonds as originally contemplated, but none of the stock or bonds are to be issued during 1907. The statement with regard to the matter as given out at the company's office in Philadelphia is as follows: "This sum, with the proceeds of sales of stocks of other companies heretofore made, will meet all the financial requirements of the company this year for construction expenditures and otherwise, including the New York terminals, and also the $50,000,000 Pennsylvania Company notes maturing Nov. 1 next, so that it will not be necessary to use this year any of the stock of the company or any of its bonds which the stockholders have as a wise precaution been asked to authorize at the annual meeting to be held March 12 next."

Another development in Pennsylvania Railroad affairs this week deserves notice. It is the appearance of the final report of the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of the company appointed last May at the time of the investigation conducted by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. The function of the committee was to investigate the question of the ownership by officials and employees in coal and other enterprises that make shipments over the lines of the Pennsylvania system. The committee also inquired into the matter of the acceptance of gratuities by employees. The examination was conducted on a broad and comprehensive basis, the committee not limiting itself to the strict line of inquiry apparently marked out for it by the resolution under which it was appointed. In the vernacular of the day the committee investigated the whole subject of "graft" with reference to Pennsylvania Railroad affairs. Every one interested in seeing the reputation of American railroad management sustained will rejoice that this investigation was undertaken, that it was made exhaustive, and that it has revealed only comparatively trifling irregularities —such as it is almost impossible to avoid with the strictest vigilance in the case of an enterprise of the magnitude of the Pennsylvania Railroad system. The disclosures at the time of the investigation by the Inter-State Commerce Commission had given the impression that the irregularities were on a very extensive scale, and that deep-rooted evils existed which reflected discredit upon American railroad management in general and on the Pennsylvania management in particular. This impression is wholly removed after reading the careful and extended report of the Special Committee referred to.

Take, for instance, the matter of discrimination in the distribution of cars as between different shippers. It was charged, or at least broadly intimated, that the ownership which a few of the employees and officials were found to have in coal companies had led directly to such discrimination. To determine once and for all what basis there was for allegations of this kind, the committee employed a disinterested outside party, namely the Audit Company of New York, to examine the records of car distribution during the whole of the period from Jan. 1 1900 to June 30 1906. The Audit Company began its inquiry on the 18th of last June and on Dec. 27 made to the committee its final report, having examined about 16,000 daily car-distribution sheets, and made therefrom about 45,000,000 postings and examined and reported upon 7,500 special orders for distribution. In this work the Audit Company employed 35 accountants, 80 clerks and 12 stenographers. The Audit Company's final report on the matter covers 2,678 pages. What the reader is interested in knowing of course is the company's findings or conclusions. They report that few if any of the matters alleged before the Commission to the prejudice of the officers of the railroad company are borne out by the results of their examination.

Many of the cases of seeming preferences and discriminations, they state—both those attended by special orders, and those not so attended—have been examined into by them with the result of finding that the officers of the railroad company have fair operating or other reasons to present in explanation of such seeming preferences and discriminations. They express the opinion, therefore, and report as their best judgment, that in general the distribution of cars was controlled and administered by the officers of the railroad company in good faith and without showing continued preferences and discriminations as towards the owners of the coal mines. The Committee itself reports, as the result of its own investigations, that the great majority of the special orders were issued to protect consumers and not to favor mine owners or operators, and the other special orders were issued to meet difficulties in moving cars.

The Committee investigated the real estate purchases, the purchases of materials and supplies, the contracts for new construction and all the various operations of this kind, and the most notable result of their work is the complete absence of anything even remotely suggestive of graft or deviation from the strict line of honesty. The company's operations have been of enormous magnitude, the increase in share capital during the years from 1899 to 1905, inclusive, having been $234,255,145 and the increase in debt $167,837,362, making together $402,092,507. This is entirely independent of the yearly income and expenditures in the ordinary way. Purchases of real estate have aggregated $62,703,367; new construction has been made at a cost of $268,773,763 and renewals at a cost of $160,720,289, all of the latter having been charged to operating expenses. The Committee looked thoroughly into the system under which contracts, many thousands in number, were made for maintenance of way and for new construction, and give it as their conclusion that as effective a competition was secured as is possible in work of such magnitude.

With reference to the ownership by officials or employees of interests in coal concerns which make shipments over the Pennsylvania lines, it is pointed out that the stenographic report of the testimony taken before the Inter-State Commerce Commission shows that only 51 of the 198,930 officers and employees of the companies constituting the Pennsylvania Railroad system were examined as witnesses and that of this number 21 officers and employees were shown to have acquired by investment, and in a few cases by gift, any interest in coal companies or properties. The Committee itself interrogated 2,505 officers and employees, there being included in that number every officer of the several companies whose individual action or whose order to any subordinate could effect any undue or unreasonable discrimination for or against any customer of the railroads or could prejudice the interests of the company in any way. Of the 2,505 officers and employees, 266 were found to have interests in coal or other corporations or firms or with individuals. The majority of these interests, it is stated, is in corporations whose shares are dealt in on the open market. Of these 266 officers and employees 251 had acquired their interests by purchase. The few remaining officers and employees received gifts of shares or interests in various corporations. The Committee has reported to the Presidents of the several railroad companies for appropriate action the names of these officers and employees.

It will be recalled that last July a general notice was issued on the recommendation contained in the preliminary report of the Special Committee requiring all the officers and employees to divest themselves of any interests, direct or indirect, that they might have in any concerns owning or operating mines located on the Pennsylvania system, and also to divest themselves of any interests that they might have in any other business where the holding of such interests might in any way conflict with their duty to the company or the company's duty to the public. A reasonable length of time having been given for compliance with this order, it is own recommended that any officer or employee who has disobeyed it be dismissed from the service.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week, unofficial or open market rates were ⅛ of 1% lower at London, steady at Paris and ⅛ of 1% higher at Berlin and Frankfort.

The feature of the statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was the increase of $1,085,175 in surplus reserve, to $4,431,050. This was the result of a reduction of $2,004,075 in reserve requirements less a loss of $918,900 in cash. Loans were contracted by $7,295,400 and deposits decreased $8,016,300. Apparently the statement did not reflect the withdrawals from local banks, for the account of themselves and for their correspondents, of the $6,000,000 public deposits which were surrendered on Friday. There was an importation from Paris of $100,000 and from London of $267,658 gold on Wednesday.

The indications early in the week, in the Sub-Treasury operations through the Clearing House, of important losses to the banks and the meagre offerings of 4% bonds of 1907 for redemption, seemed to foreshadow an unfavorable bank statement this week. Later, borrowing until Monday, due to the closing of the Exchange on Friday on account of the holiday, contributed to the maintenance of firm rates for day-to-day funds. Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned on the Stock Exchange during the week at 5½% and at 2%, averaging about 5%; banks and trust companies loaned at 4% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 5½% and at 4%, with the bulk of the business at 5%. On Tuesday transactions were at 5½% and at 5% with the majority at 5%. On Wednesday loans were at 5½% and at 3½% with the bulk of the business at 4¾%. On Thursday transactions were at 5¼% and at 2% with the majority at 5%; the lower rate was recorded in the last hour of business. Time loans were in good demand and the offerings were small, influenced by expectations of the maintenance of firm rates as the result of corporations borrowing independently of that through notes and other forms of contracts. Rates for loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were 5¼% for sixty days, 5¼@5½% for ninety days and 5½% for four to six months; the inquiry was chiefly for the longer periods of maturity. It may be noted that a twelve months' loan by a trust company in a neighboring city was placed this week at 5½% on bonds and dividend-paying railroad stocks, while New York money for the same period was held at 5¾%. It is also reported that a local trust company loaned a round amount at 5¾% for six months on all industrial security. Commercial paper is in good request, especially by institutions in the interior, and some Denver and Kansas City buying has been observed this week. The market for paper does not seem to be affected by the increasing volume of corporation notes, and conservative buyers are said to prefer the former to the latter. Rates are 5¾@6% for sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable, 5¾@6% for prime and 6½% for good four to six months' single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 5%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 4¾%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅞% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4¾@4⅞%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £1,293,687 bullion during the week and held £36,676,238 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to fairly large imports and liberal purchases in the open market and receipts from the interior of Great Britain. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £864,000 (of which £205,000 from Australia, £5,000 from Germany and £150,000 from Egypt and £504,000 bought in open market); exports, £100,000 (wholly to South America), and receipts of £530,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was easy though comparatively inactive this week. The ease was due to the offerings of bills against purchases of securities for the account of Europeans, to expectations of increased supplies of drafts against the negotiation abroad of corporation notes, and to some speculative selling, though the latter was moderate and apparently carefully conducted so as to avoid the creation of a short interest. The inactivity was largely the result of slow mail service after the middle of the week an the intervention of the holiday on Friday. The accumulation of credits in Europe resulting from sales of corporation notes and from investments in exchange probably affords opportunity to settle current maturing obligations through cables instead of in the ordinary way of remittance, and hence the inquiry for sight for this purpose seems to be minimized. With this class of exchange ruling at a discount of about 20 cents per £1,000 on the par there is a good profit in purchases of these bills for investment, and doubtless many bankers are taking advantage of this fact thus to employ their balances; this will account for the recent buying of short as well as of long drafts for investment. No engagements of gold were effected in London this week by New York bankers, they refraining, as they have in previous weeks, from competing with the Bank for the metal; consequently, the consignment of $2,500,000 gold from South Africa which was offered in the market on Monday was—with the exception of $500,000 which was taken by the Indian Council—bought by the Bank.

Nominal rates for sterling exchange are 4 81½@4 82 for sixty day and 4 85½@4 86 for sight. On Saturday of last week the market was active and lower and, compared with the previous day, long fell 25 points to 4 8025@4 8035, short 10 points to 4 8440@4 8450, and cables 15 points to 4 8515@4 8525. On Monday there was a sharp decline, due to offerings of commercial bills and also to the news of the negotiation in Paris of the New Haven & Hartford debentures. But later there was a recovery and the market closed 5 points higher for long at 4 8030@4 8035, 10 points for short at 4 8450@4 8455, and 10 points for cables at 4 8525@4 8530. On Tuesday the market was sluggish and it closed without change for long and short and 5 points higher for cables, at 4 8530@4 8535. On Wednesday the tone was steady, with long 20 points higher at 4 8035@4 8055, and cables 10 points lower at 4 8520@4 8530; short was unchanged. The tone was barely steady on Thursday, and 15 points lower for long and 5 points for short.

COMPROMISE BETWEEN CHURCH AND STATE IN FRANCE.

On the whole, it will be the verdict of a majority of intelligent and unbiased observers that the compromise between Church and State in France, which appears to be approaching, is a happy solution of the whole dispute. Each side, so far as can be judged by the details at hand this week, has gained something. The French Government has asserted its purpose of resuming control of such property as has hitherto been granted by it, under the terminable articles of the Concordat, to the uses of the Church, and it has thereby settled the question as to the abolition of an established or State Church. The Church, on the other hand, has gained some advantage of position through the Government's concession that Church property shall be leased to the existing organizations who have occupied it, and that this shall be done without the requirement that such Church organization shall divest themselves of their particular form through entering upon the arrangement provided by the simple law of associations.

But while it may be said that each side has gained something in the compromise, it must also be admitted that both sides have lost something through maladroit handling of a delicate situation. The Papacy—ill-advised, as it has seemed to all unbiased observers—simply refused to treat with the Government of France, being apparently determined either to occupy the position of a martyr, with the advantages which usually accrue to a religious sect under such circumstances, or else to unseat the existing Cabinet through the re-action which must follow violence in the assertion of its claims by that Government. In both these directions, Rome reckoned without its host. The Clemenceau Government was not so simple as to walk open-eyed into the trap. It removed the stipend which the priests had received from the State and it took an inventory of the property which legally reverted to the State; but it did no more. It made no attempt to prevent the exercise of worship, it did not close the churches, and it purposely left the matter open for adjustment by friendly compromise. Thus the Vatican lost the advantage of position which it might have retained had it shown a willingness in the first place to negotiate.

But, on the other hand, certain members of the Cabinet, not excepting the Premier himself, were so rash and ill-advised as to give public utterance to contempt for religion itself—a piece of folly which adherents of the Church promptly seized upon and turned to their own advantage. It was at once proclaimed that the Clemenceau Government was entering on a crusade, not against the Roman Church primarily, nor against an established church as an institution, but against all religious worship. It was freely alleged when the unwise utterances of the Government were given out that they merely represented the belief and temper of the French people as a whole. That this was so could hardly be inferred from the sequel; for a hasty retreat by the more radical members of the Cabinet from their admittedly untenable position followed immediately, and in the present week the official statement of the Government's policy by M. Brand was that "in declaring that the Church remains open, we meant open for Catholic worship."

We presume that the attitude of each party to the controversy will now be definitely marked out. The Roman Church concedes disestablishment; the Government concedes use of public places for worship by the Roman Catholic organizations which had occupied them before. In the end, we imagine that the humane and liberal policy pursued in our own State toward the Church will be repeated by the Government of France. We should suppose that the outcome, there as here, would be the eventual removal of the Roman Church, or of any church organization, as a potent factor in politics. The main justification of the revocation of the Concordat of a century ago was the undeniable fact that clerical influences had made themselves felt in French politics, and not to the advantage of the existing order. The motive of the first Napoleon, in coming to terms with the Church, under the agreement recently revoked by the Government, arose from his knowledge that he would thereby, in the nature of things, bind the clerical influence to himself. He did not misjudge the situation; the Church saw in him its one defense against the anarchy of revolution, under whose rule religion had been swept down along with all other established institutions.

The attitude of the clerical party toward the existing French Republic has been very different, and the attitude of the Government has changed accordingly; but it is reasonable to assume that the readjustment of relations on the new basis will bring about in all respects a better situation. What the present controversy has unquestionably shown is, first, that public opinion in France demands fair play for existing religious organizations, but that, when this is guaranteed, the people are Frenchmen first of all, their loyalty to the Church being relegated to a second place as soon as a purely political question is before the country.

THE MOVEMENT FOR LOWER PASSENGER RATES.

All over the country legislative or Governmental action looking to a reduction in passenger rates is under way. In several of the States two-cents-a-mile Acts have already become laws and in many others bills of similar character are under consideration, having passed either one or both houses of the Legislature. This particular movement against the railroads is more general, apparently, than any that has been witnessed for over a score of years. Arguments on the question seem to be of absolutely no avail. Our legislators appear to be bent on reducing rates in deference to a supposed popular demand, and, having determined to take the step, nothing that is urged or said in opposition has the slightest weight or influence with them.

An excellent illustration of the prevailing legislative temper is furnished in the action of the Pennsylvania Legislature on the bill making 2 cents a mile the maximum rate chargeable by any railroad carrying passengers within that State. On Monday of last week President George F. Baer of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Co. addressed a letter or statement dated Feb. 7, to the two houses of the Commonwealth on this proposed measure. His arguments were strong and convincing, and under ordinary circumstances this statement, fortified as it was by facts and figures, must have appealed to the sense of justice of at least a portion of the members of the Legislature. But the document did not serve to sway a single vote, for, three days later, the Pennsylvania House of Representatives by an absolutely unanimous vote—177 to 0—passed finally the 2-cent fare measure known as the Dunsmore bill. And the situation is much the same in other States. No one outside the railroad world seems to be willing, at least no one of power and influence, to do anything to check the movement or to discuss proposed measures regarding the railroads on their merits—to consider seriously whether the contemplated action is wise, or fair, or honest, or just.

Yet there are many circumstances that suggest going slow in proceedings of that kind at a time when the railroad situation is already very much disturbed and the future of the railroads, despite an undiminished volume of tonnage, looks less promising than at any time since the period of depression which culminated in 1896. We can appreciate the desire of the public to buy passenger tickets at lower rates, and the willingness and readiness of our legislators to assist the traveler in attaining that desire. If one has a trip of 50 miles to make, a charge of a dollar for this trip (2 cents a mile) instead of $1 25 (2½ cents a mile) or $1 50 (3 cents a mile) means an important saving. But reasonable persons will admit that the reduction to a 2-cents-a-mile basis can only be justified provided the lower rate leaves the carrier a clear profit. As a matter of fact, the railroads, taking them as a whole, are making no profit on their passenger business, even where they are receiving an average of more than 2 cents a mile. There are a few railroads in the country on which the passenger business pays, but only a very few. And where it does pay it is by reason of special circumstances not common to the railroads as a whole.

To the ordinary layman, not familiar with the facts of the case, it no doubt will seem as if a charge of 2 cents a mile ought to be sufficient in any event. But the passenger service is expensive and costly. The traveling public insists on accommodations of a high order as regards speed, frequency of service, comfort in traveling, &c., and it is also necessary to provide extra safeguards against accidents. This makes the passenger train at all times much more expensive than the freight train. At the same time, such economies in operations as have been developed in the case of the freight service are out of the question in the case of the passenger service. Earnings of freight trains have been added to in a very striking way during the last decade, in face of declining rates, by simply increasing the train-load. But such an expedient is not available in passenger transportation. It is not possible to increase the number of passengers in a train except very slowly, first, because trains cannot be held until the required number of passengers have arrived, and, secondly, because over long distances passenger traffic cannot be stimulated to any very great extent. Furthermore, as soon as a passenger train begins to run pretty nearly full, the public is sure to demand additional trains.

It is sometimes argued that if rates are reduced from 3 cents or from 2½ cents to 2 cents a mile, the increase in the number of passengers will offset the loss in revenue resulting from the reduction in rates. Consideration will serve to show that this argument is a more or less fallacious one. For a 50-mile trip, the charge, at 3 cents a mile, is $1 50, and at 2 cents it is $1 00. The difference of 50 cents is an important difference, and doubtless there are many persons who will hesitate less about spending a dollar than about spending a dollar and a half. But how many persons are there who are willing and able to spend even a dollar. When the question is put in that form it at once becomes apparent that no very great increase can be counted on in the number of passengers from a lowering of rates. And the argument gains still further in cogency when we bear in mind that the greater part of the railroad mileage of the country is located in sparsely settled districts where population itself is limited and where, therefore, the number of persons able to travel, even though they possessed superabundant wealth, is exceedingly small.

The question of a paying rate is simply a question of density of traffic. In New York City the elevated roads and the subways carry passengers a dozen miles or more for a fare of five cents and make a profit. This is because the number of passengers seeking transportation is of such enormous volume that trains run almost invariably full—are crowded to suffocation—every passenger being squeezed in, at least during the rush hours, for which space can be found. There is, in this instance, a repetition of the conditions under which in recent years freight traffic has been developed and made profitable—a high train-load. Such an inviting state of things, however, exists only at the large centres of population and is confined, therefore, necessarily to limited areas. Only a short distance beyond the confines of even the largest cities the traffic thins out very quickly and for the railroads at large passenger traffic is and must remain for a considerable time to come extremely light.

In his letter to the Pennsylvania Legislature, President Baer shows that with the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, which is more favorably situated with regard to passenger service than most of the prominent systems—it having a large local and suburban traffic—the passenger business does not pay. Mr. Baer had a careful examination made with the view to determining whether the traffic is done at a profit, taking the latest year as a basis, and he found that while the total income of his road from passengers for the twelve months ending June 30 1905 was $6,927,531, the expenses connected with the passenger service, including interest on the cost of passenger equipment, was no less than $7,461,878, involving, therefore, a clear loss of $534,347. What Mr. Baer found to be true with reference to his own road is true of the railroads of the United States as a whole. We suggest careful study of the statistics bearing on that point contained in the annual statistical report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. For the year ending June 30 1905 (the latest year for which the statistics of the Commission are available) the average rate per passenger per mile on the railroads in the United States was 1.96 cents—that is, was only a little less than 2 cents a mile. Yet, even on that basis, the passenger trains earned less than one-half what the freight trains earned per mile run. In other words, the railroads earned not quite $1 16 per train mile on the passenger business but earned almost $2 50 per mile run on their freight business. There are no data to show the cost per passenger train mile, and in the case of many items of the expenses it is impossible to make a definite or a reliable division betewen the passenger and the freight service. Including both freight and passenger trains, the cost was $1 32 per mile run. The cost per passenger train mile must have been at least as large as the cost per mile run for all trains, and probably was a good deal more. Hence the fact staring our legislators in the face is that while the passenger trains are earning less than $1 16 per mile run, the cost is $1 32 per mile, showing a loss of 16 cents for every mile run by the trains.

What is still more striking and significant is that this characteristic with regard to the United States railroad system as a whole extends to each one of the geographical groups. In Group I, comprising the New England States, the passenger rate averages only 1.76 cents per mile, and the traffic there is very dense, averaging 299,527 passengers one mile per mile of road; but even here there is a loss on every mile run, the earnings per train mile being only $1 33, while the expense per train mile is $1 36. In Group II the average is 1.72 cents per mile and the density of traffic is 255,718 passengers one mile per mile of road; but the trains earned only $1 14 per mile run, while the expense was $1 36 per mile, showing a loss of 22 cents per mile run. As we pass inland from the North Atlantic seaboard, the average rate realized increases but the traffic at the same time grows very thin, so the trains net a loss even at the higher rates.

Imagine Eastern rates forced upon these Western roads with their light traffic. Take Group IX for example. This group comprises Texas, Louisiana and a portion of New Mexico. There the average rate realized is 2.28 cents per mile. But as the number of passengers one mile per mile of road was only about one-sixth that of the New England group, that is, was only 51,904, the trains earned no more than $1 11 per mile run. On the other hand, the expenses were $1 45 per mile, involving a loss of 34 cents on every mile run by the trains. The reader can judge for himself what the effect would be with such a light traffic and rates cut down, say, half a cent, per passenger per mile. In the following table we show the situation as regards train earnings and train expenses and traffic density and passenger rates per mile for each geographical group. The figures are all drawn from the last report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

It is thus apparent that even under prevailing conditions the passenger business is unprofitable in all the various geographical groups. If now the legislatures of the different States where a maximum rate of 3 cents per mile or 2½ cents per mile is still permissible should insist on lowering the rate to 2 cents a mile, the burden imposed on the roads would be still further increased. In the case of the Reading Railway it has been suggested that rates on suburban traffic, which on that road is very heavy, would have to be raised to make good the loss. That, manifestly, would be unpopular; and with most roads such a remedy is not ready to hand. It would therefore be necessary to advance freight rates, and the traveling public would gain at the expense of shippers. For, as Mr. Baer well says, in the letter to which we have referred above, the power of taxation enables the State to conduct business at a loss. But business carried on by private enterprise has no such resource available. Every intelligent man knows that no undertaking can be conducted at a continuing loss, that in some way whatever burden is placed on business by control of price, by taxation, or in any other way, must either result in the burden being transferred to the consumers or lead to bankruptcy.

Our legislators should pause long before they invite such a situation. The time is particularly inopportune for adding further to the burdens of the railroad industry. Operating expenses are increasing at a rate that furnishes occasion for deep solicitude. Materials and supplies and everything else entering into the operating accounts of the railroads has risen in a most marked way. Simultaneously the cost of labor is being heavily added to, both by direct advances in wages and by reductions in the number of hours of service. An inkling of what is going on in this respect is furnished by our tabulations of the gross and net earnings of U. S. railroads for December on a subsequent page, showing that with a gain of $11,001,791 in gross earnings for the month the improvement in net was only $887,282. This is the result before many of the advances in wages which have recently been announced had gone into effect. At the same time, interest charges are piling up against the roads through the flotation of short-term notes and other additions to capital account arising out of the effort of the managers of the roads to enlarge their facilities to take care of the constantly expanding volume of business. Certainly it cannot be good policy to press the roads still further to the wall and invite a return of the condition of bankruptcy which prevailed a dozen years ago and proved so disastrous to business interests at that time.

THE DELAWARE LACKAWANNA & WESTERN REPORT.

The Delaware Lackawanna & Western has such a small amount of capital stock that it is able to earn and pay large dividends whether conditions are entirely favorable or not. During the late calendar year it suffered in its coal business, in common with the other anthracite carriers, from the forced suspension of mining in the anthracite regions for about six weeks in April and May. That fact is reflected in a falling off in the revenue from the coal business. But traffic in other directions was further extended and the aggregate of the company's gross earnings from all sources again increased—the increase being $1,011,816, or 3.17%.

Two features in the recent history of the Lackawanna stand out with great prominence. One of these is the way merchandise and passenger and general traffic has been increased, and the other the great improvement effected under the management of President Truesdale in the operating efficiency of the property. Enormous amounts have been appropriated out of earnings year by year for a long time to raise the physical standard and capacity of the property, while at the same time operating methods have been, it may be said, completely revolutionized. As has been pointed out by us in the past, the Lackawanna, though it held a high position as a staunch dividend-paying concern even before the accession of Mr. Truesdale, was yet in many respects behind the times and in danger of being unable to hold its own in the competition with rivals. All this has been changed under the new management. One indication of what has been accomplished in the way of greater efficiency of operations is seen when we turn to the record as regards train-load. In the late year, notwithstanding the suspension of coal-mining already referred to, which was an obstacle in the way of the accomplishment of the best results, there was a further slight increase (5 tons) in the average load, bringing it up to 466 tons. As recently as 1902 the average train-load was but 361 tons. If we go back to the last six months of 1899 (no statistics being available on this point prior to that time), we find that then the average load was only 302 tons. In brief, the trains in 1906 hauled 164 tons more for every mile run than they did seven years before, in 1899.

With reference to the growth in traffic, it is only necessary to say that aggregate gross earnings from transportation in the late year were $32,962,880, against but $21,325,122 in 1899, the improvement, hence, being considerably over 50%. We gave a little table last year which we have not space to reproduce the present year showing how the increase was distributed among the different items of traffic. Of the 11½ millions gain for the seven years, it is proper to say $1,179,165 is due to a special cause and does not represent growth of traffic. In other words, the $1,179,165 contributed by the ferries is a new item and follows from the fact that the company now operates directly those of its North River ferries which are run to and from its Hoboken passenger terminal, whereas previously the ferries were operated by the Hoboken Ferry Company, the control of which the company purchased in 1903. The remaining 10½ million dollars increase has resulted wholly from the development of the road's business. And it is interesting to note that of the entire 10½ millions addition, less than 3½ million dollars has been contributed by the coal business. After the falling off in the late year the earnings from transportation of coal were $12,902,851, which compares with $9,407,796 derived from the same source in 1899. But in the same period of time the earnings from general freight gained more than 4 million dollars, rising from $6,300,149 in 1899 to $10,342,423 in 1906, and the passenger earnings gained over 2¼ millions, the amount from that source having increased from $3,951,051 to $6,216,624. The smaller items of revenue have also been slowly rising from year to year.

The most serious adverse feature in 1906 was, not the falling off in the coal revenues which, as we have already seen, was overcome by gains in other directions, but the great increase in the taxes of the road imposed under the new law with reference to railway taxation in New Jersey. For 1906 these taxes were $1,573,000 as against $1,000,085 in 1905, involving an addition, therefore, of $572,915. There would appear to be an element of injustice in such a large addition to the company's tax bills. Mr. Truesdale refers to the matter in the following words, the truth of which cannot be gainsaid.

> The effect on this company of certain of these measures is startling, notably in New Jersey. The taxes of this company for the past year have been increased by these changes in the tax laws by the sum of $572,914 91, or 57.29%. The taxes levied in New Jersey for 1906 amount to 9.25% of the gross earnings, or over 30% of the net earnings of the company on its entire business of every kind, through or local, done in that State. It is a conservative assertion that no business or enterprise of any kind doing business in New Jersey begins to pay such a large percentage of its gross earnings for taxes as this company is called upon to pay under the new laws governing the taxation of railroads. Efforts are being made through appeals to the courts to secure a more equitable treatment of railway interests of New Jersey on taxation matters.

Mr. Truesdale also discusses with much frankness the peculiarities of the present railroad situation and the danger involved in a continuance of this state of affairs. He points out that the cost of conducting transportation shows large increases in almost every item and notes that to a considerable extent this is due to the increased wages paid many classes of employees, particularly enginemen, trainmen and those engaged in station service. He says it is with no feeling of resentfulness or pessimism that many officials charged with the responsibility of managing the railway properties of the country express serious doubts and misgivings over the future outcome as respects the net results of the operation of these properties. They realize from daily experience that the large increase in wages paid will not be in any measure compensated for by increased efficiency of service. On the contrary they are impressed, he urges, with the belief that a spirit of independence and unrest has been engendered and broadly disseminated through one agency or another among the rank and file in all branches of the railway service, the effect of which has been and may continue to be to lower the general standard of efficiency of railway employees.

He comments on another feature of the situation. He asserts—and this is becoming increasingly patent to every thoughtful student—that the most serious aspect of the present situation as seen from the railroad standpoint is the universal and pronounced feeling of hostility which exists towards the railroads and those controlling and managing them, and the alleged attitude of indifference or unconcern of the latter as to the character, efficiency and safety of the service rendered by the railways to the traveling and shipping public. Continuing, he says: "Legislation by Congress and by many of the States is being actively pressed as a universal panacea for all the delays, troubles, losses or embarrassments which can by any possibility be laid at the door of the railroads, and which undertakes to regulate and prescribe the details of their management or seeks to place in the hands of Government officials wholly without knowledge or experience in railroad operations a supervision and control over them which, if made effective and enforced, would hamper and embarrass the transportation interests of the country beyond measure."

It must be a matter of encouragement to Mr. Truesdale as well as to the shareholders in the property that should the worst happen the Lackawanna will be better prepared to stand the strain than most railroads in the country. Its income in the late year was sufficient to enable it to set aside no less than $5,551,618 for renewals and betterments after paying the customary dividends on the small amount of stock (10% regular and 10% extra) and yet carry over a surplus on the operations of the twelve months in amount of $587,071.

Mr. Truesdale does not seem to have any anxiety concerning the effect on the Lackawanna of that clause in the Hepburn Rate Bill which would compel the coal-carrying companies to sever their connection with the coal-mining enterprises owned by them. If that provision were capable of enforcement, it might mean serious mischief to the anthracite carriers. His observations concerning the matter are contained in a paragraph in the report which we quote herewith entire.

In the amendment to the Inter-State Commerce Act passed at the last session of Congress was contained a provision making it unlawful for a common carrier to transport in inter-State commerce any commodity, such as coal, mined or purchased by it or in which it has any interest, excepting such coal or other commodity is for its own use, this provision of the law to become effective after May 1 1908. The avowed purpose of this law was to compel companies such as this to dispose of their coal properties, thus separating the transportation of coal from the mining and merchandising thereof. The management is advised by its legal representatives that this company cannot be required to dispossess itself of its coal properties by the action of Congress under the guise of regulating commerce between the States, especially as by the terms of its charter, one of the early ones granted by Pennsylvania, it has the undoubted right to mine, purchase, transport and merchandise coal.

RAILROAD GROSS AND NET EARNINGS FOR DECEMBER.

The striking, the salient feature in our compilation of the gross and net earnings of United States railroads for the month of December is the large increase shown in the expenses. Rising expenditures have been a feature for some time past, but not to the extent disclosed on the present occasion. With each succeeding month the augmentation appears to be gaining added force; and the increase for December derives additional significance from the fact that it occurs before the recent advances in wages have begun to play their full part in railroad affairs. In the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the 10% advance in wages determined upon in November (and which set the pace for all the railroads in the country) went into effect Dec. 1, but in the case of many other companies the advances did not come until January and some of them not until February. Indeed, the movement for higher wages is still in progress. All classes of railroad employees are joining in the demand and each week brings announcements of concessions in favor of those engaged in one branch or another of the service.

To state the results for the month in brief, our statements for December show that, while the improvement in gross earnings is still of large proportions, the improvement in the net earnings (treating the roads collectively) is dwindling away. In short, the increase in the gross earnings amounts to $11,001,791, but all of this increase save $887,282 has been consumed by augmented expenses. Moreover, there would have been no increase at all in net except for the specially favorable returns submitted by two or three large companies which belong in a class by themselves. The Southern Pacific, for instance, had for the month an increase of no less than $1,831,255 in the gross and of $751,347 in the net, and the Union Pacific an increase of $843,836 in the gross and of $217,971 in net. Besides this, Southwestern roads, having had the advantage of a large increase in the cotton movement and having benefited by good crops generally throughout their territory, were able to submit unusually encouraging returns. With the Southwestern and South Pacific group eliminated from the statement, the remaining roads of the country would show only about 5¾ million dollars gain in gross, with a loss of close to a million dollars in the net. To be precise, the result in that event would be $5,723,235 gain in gross, with $799,241 decrease in net.

December (96 roads.)	1906.	1905.	Increase. Amount.	Increase. %
Gross earnings	135,735,226	124,733,435	11,001,791	8.82
Operating expenses	91,901,044	81,789,535	10,111,509	12.37
Net earnings	43,831,182	42,943,900	887,282	2.07

The increase in expenses is not confined to any one section of the country or to any one group of roads, but is common to them all, making it plain that it must have sprung from general causes—which of course is the truth, as has already been indicated above. In the case of the separate roads, the list of losses is the largest we have been obliged to report for a very long time. A few illustrations will serve to show the situation in that respect. The Atlantic Coast Line, with $200,504 increase in gross, has a decrease of $72,121 in net; the Southern Ry., with $283,421 gain in gross, has $192,340 loss in net; the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, with $902,326 addition to gross, has only $4,474 increase in net, and the Pennsylvania RR. (Eastern and Western lines combined), with $1,411,600 increase in gross, added only $187,400 to the net; the Baltimore & Ohio, with $269,481 increase in gross, has $75,211 decrease in net; the Canadian Pacific, with $372,916 increase in gross, has $80,989 decrease in net.

Even in the case of the Southwestern roads there are some where the augmentation in expenses has overcome the increase in gross. Thus the Denver & Rio Grande, though having added $156,657 to gross, falls $57,442 behind in the net. In short, instances of roads with heavily augmented expenses, drawn from all parts of the country, might be multiplied almost indefinitely. In the following table we show the changes for the separate roads, whether increases or decreases, for amounts in excess of $30,000. It will be noticed that the number of decreases in the gross is relatively small, only four; but in the net the list of decreases is very extensive, thereby revealing the part played by increased expenses.

When the roads are arranged in groups, this feature of augmented expenses is still more strongly in evidence. Only one group is able to show improvement of any substantial amount in the net—namely, the Southwestern and South Pacific group, already referred to; of the remaining groups, four show absolute decreases, these being the Southern group, the Anthracite Coal group, the Eastern and Middle group and the Middle Western group. The other two groups record increases, but of such small amounts and in the face of such large gains in the gross that they furnish additional testimony to the rising tendency of the expense accounts. For the Trunk Line group, the gain in net reaches only $54,607 on a gain of $1,713,930 in the gross, and for the Northwestern and North Pacific group, the increase is $37,129, contemporaneously with a gain of $1,380,146 in the gross.

As qualifying somewhat the unsatisfactory character of the present exhibit, it should not be forgotten that comparison is with exceptionally favorable results in previous years. For instance, in December 1905, our compilations showed $14,649,072 increase in gross, or 12.29%, and $7,683,343 increase in net, or 19.78%, to which, therefore, the 1906 increase in gross and net (speaking of the roads as a whole) is additional. In fact, the December figures were very good for most of the preceding years, too, as will be seen from the following:

Note.—In 1896 the number of roads included for the month of December was 128; in 1897, 130; in 1898, 122; in 1899, 110; in 1900, 121; in 1901, 104; in 1902, 105; in 1903, 99; in 1904, 95; in 1905, 96; in 1906, 96. We no longer include the Mexican roads or the coal-mining operations of the anthracite coal roads in our totals.

The foregoing statements all relate to roads which furnish returns of both gross and net. In addition there is a number of companies, (including some large systems) which give out returns only as to the gross. Starting with the total of the gross in the foregoing, we add these other roads in the table we now submit.

x Sold at the Stock Exchange

—The renomination of Hamilton Fish as Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York was sent to the Senate by President Roosevelt on the 19th inst.

—The New York Stock Exchange, which was closed yesterday in observance of Washington's Birthday, will also remain closed to-day, thus giving the brokers three continuous holidays. The extra holiday was rather unexpected, as the Governing Committee has within the past few years been loath to grant requests for the suspension of business on two succeeding week days. The members of the Cotton Exchange will likewise enjoy the three days' respite from business. The amendment to the constitution of the New York Stock Exchange (published last week), giving the Governing Committee the right to determine whether stock quotations in any given case shall be on the basis of dollars per share or on a percentage basis, went into effect on Thursday, no opposition to it having been expressed by the members.

—An additional safeguard, understood to be in operation in other sections of the country, has been put in force in Baltimore by the Comptroller of the Currency. For the purpose of verifying the bank's accounts, after the usual periodical examinations, the bank examiner will, through a circular letter, apply to depositors, selected at random, for a statement of their deposits on a specified date, and in addition the amount of any special deposits, should there be any, not appearing on their books. While depositors are not obliged to accede to the request, it is obvious that their compliance will serve to provide greater safety to the bank and additional protection to its patrons.

—As a result of the action taken on the 14th inst by the Baltimore Clearing House Association, the Third National Bank of that city will discontinue its "all-night" policy. By a vote of 18 to 2 a resolution was adopted by the association fixing the banking hours of members from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., unless otherwise provided by law. Members not conforming to the rule, "except to accommodate a belated customer, as has heretofore been customary, shall be subject to a fine or expulsion, as may be decided upon by the association." The Third National instituted the "all-night" policy last September. The new rule goes into effect March 1.

—We have received from Thomas B. Paton, Counsel and Secretary of the Standing Law Committee of the American Bankers' Association, a copy of a pamphlet containing drafts of proposed laws recommended by the Committee for enactment in the different States. The proposed measures deal (1) with forged or raised checks, covering all the phases of the question, namely the liability of a bank to a depositor, the recovery of payment on a forged check, and the certification of forged checks; (2) the payment of instruments made payable at a bank; (3) the competency of bank notaries; (4) the establishment of a uniform law relative to stock transfers; (5) the payment of joint deposits; (6) burglary with explosives—defining the crime and providing punishment therefor; and (7) the calculation of interest—making 360 days constitute a year. In a few of the States, it is noted, some of these proposed laws may not be needed, as where the matter sought to be regulated is already provided for by statute or judicial rule; but in many States the enactment of some or all of the laws proposed will undoubtedly be of benefit. The committee also indorses and recommends the "draft of an Act to make uniform the Law of Warehouse Receipts," and the "draft of an Act to make uniform the Law of Sales," both of which draft codes were completed, indorsed and recommended by the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws in national conference at St. Paul in August 1906.

—A book reviewing the progress of the Bank of North America, Philadelphia, during the last quarter of a century—from 1881 to 1906—has been issued from the press of Robert Grier Cooke. It is gotten up in most attractive style, and contains some eight or ten full-page illustrations. The Bank of North America, chartered by the Continental Congress in 1781 and by the State of Pennsylvania in 1782, lays claim to the distinction of being the oldest bank in the United States. In 1881, its centennial year, a history of the institution was published, giving in detail its history and transactions for its first century. The publication just issued records the activities during the first quarter of its second century. An interesting fact with regard to the bank is that it is the only national bank in the United States which does not have the word "National" in its title. It was brought under the National Bank Act in 1864. In their application for a national charter the directors, who were adverse to giving up the original title, asked permission to retain it. This the Comptroller objected to, but the matter was finally agreed upon by a special arrangement. The stockholders of the bank are to a large extent descendants and heirs of the original stockholders. In the last twenty-five years the total sum of dividends distributed has been $3,420,000, or 342% on the bank's capital of $1,000,000.

—The lately projected New Netherlands Trust Company and the Astor National Bank, on 34th Street west of Fifth Avenue, are to be united. The Astor National will remove to 389 Fifth Avenue, opening in the new quarters on Monday next. The union with the trust company will take place next month, the bank then changing its name to the Astor Trust Company. The capital of the united institution will be $1,250,000, subscribed by the Bankers' Trust, New Netherlands Trust and Astor National interests. The entire board of the New Netherlands and 11 directors of the Astor National will constitute the new directorate. The executive staff includes: E. C. Converse, President; Alexander Stevens, Thos. Cochran Jr. and Seward Prosser, Vice-Presidents; George W. Pancoast, Cashier, and Howard Boocock, Assistant Secretary. The Astor National Bank started operations in 1898. It has a capital stock of $350,000, surplus and profits of $727,706 and deposits of $5,022,000. The last sale of its stock was at 775. Its dividend rate, 25% annually, was raised to a 32% basis with the payment of 8% quarterly on the 1st inst.

—A meeting of the stockholders of the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank of this city has been called for March 5, when the propositions to increase the capital from $700,000 to $2,000,000 and the directorate from nineteen to twenty-five member, will be submitted for ratification. It is also proposed to change the par value of the shares from $25 to $100 each. David A. Sullivan, President of the Union Bank of Brooklyn, is President of the Mechanics' & Traders'.

—The necessary legal formalities incident to the union of the Irving National and the National Exchange banks of this city were completed this week, the stockholders on Tuesday having ratified the action of their boards. Sabin, Vice-President of the National Commercial Bank of Albany. Mr. Sabin, who is not yet forty years of age, became Vice-President of the National Commercial Bank five years ago, having previously been Cashier of the Albany City National Bank, merged with the Commercial in January 1902. In 1904-05 he served as President of the New York State Bankers' Association. The new National Copper Bank expects to open for business on May 1. It is to have a capital and surplus of $2,000,000 each.

—The proposition to increase the board of the Riverside Bank of this city from ten to fifteen members will be approved at a special meeting of the stockholders on March 5. This action is incident to the taking over of the business of the Bank of Discount.

—The directors of the Hamilton Bank of this city will consider on Wednesday next the matter of increasing the capital from $200,000 to $800,000. We learn that it is the object to enlarge the institution by absorbing other companies, and that its present capital and surplus of $200,000 each are considered rather too small compared with the $6,000,000 deposits now carried by the bank. On Wednesday last the directors elected E. R. Thomas President, to succeed Frank W. Kinsman Jr., resigned; Frederick D. Ives was elected First Vice-President and William R. Montgomery was chosen Second Vice-President.

—The New Rochelle Trust Company of New Rochelle, N. Y., will on July 1 increase its capital from $100,000 to $200,000 by declaring a 50% stock dividend out of surplus and profits. The remainder of this increase ($50,000) is to be offered to shareholders at $150 per share. Surplus and profits should then amount to $55,000. In April the institution will enlarge its bank building by erecting a four-story extension on the adjoining property. When completed, this modern office building will be the only one in New Rochelle equipped with electric elevators, the aim of the architects being to make the banking room the finest in Westchester County. The company started business as a State bank in 1888, was converted into a trust company in 1901, and has had a prosperous history. On Jan. 1 1902 deposits were only $512,611, increasing to $711,175 in 1903, $972,246 in 1904, $1,117,130 in 1905 and reaching $1,814,821 Jan. 1 1907. Its business is divided among 4,700 accounts. He entered the employ of the Western National in 1848, and, except for one year when he was a clerk of statistics in the Philadelphia Mint, his entire business life was spent with that bank. He was successively its bookkeeper, Cashier and Vice-President, and in 1887 became President. Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, Feb. 8 1907.

The Board of Trade returns for the first month of the new year are highly satisfactory, as they show that the value of both exports and imports are higher than in any previous month in the history of the country. Of course, it is true that prices have risen very considerably, but there is also, generally speaking, a very considerable increase in quantities. The total value of the exports of British and Irish produce and manufactures was £35,070,607, showing an increase of £4,295,796 over January of last year, equal to 14%. The value of the re-exports was £8,793,276, an increase of £1,347,421, or 18.2%. The value of the imports was £60,540,508, an increase of £7,066,175, or 13.2%. It will be noticed that the increase in the imports is larger than for several months past. All through last year the main increase was in the exports. The increase in the exports is maintained in January, but there is a decidedly more marked increase in the imports than previously. It is to be observed, however, that it is chiefly in the raw materials of manufactures and in articles mainly unmanufactured that the increase in the imports is observable. It had been naturally feared that the long continuance of dear and scarce money would check trade. Happily the fear has not been realized. The truth is, of course, that the whole world is so prosperous at present that all the foreign customers of this country are able to buy more largely. Furthermore, there is no possible doubt that during the past eight or nine years great efforts have been made by manufacturers in this country to improve their works and to make themselves in every way more efficient. And that the efforts have been attended with a very considerable measure of success is proved by the wonderful expansion of our trade which has taken place since May 1905.

The withdrawal from the Bank of England late on Thursday of £810,000 for Argentina and Brazil has revived apprehensions of dear and scarce money, and has materially checked business upon the Stock Exchange. Business had already received a check, owing to rumors of financial difficulties of some large operators in New York. Nobody was able to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the rumors. But they flew about the city and warned all concerned in the Stock Exchange to be cautious how they incurred new risks. Whether the rumors were true or not, members argued that the liquidation which had been going on since the beginning of the year was itself a sufficient reason to observe caution. When, therefore, so large a sum was withdrawn from the Bank of England, it added very materially to the unwillingness to engage in new operations which had previously existed. The Brazilian Government has not sent out any gold during the present month. The gold forwarded to Brazil this week has been entirely by bankers. It is believed that further sums will be sent to Argentina to-day. In Paris business is also checked, mainly by the introduction of the Income Tax Bill. The speech of the Finance Minister in introducing it appears to have made a good impression upon his hearers, and the measure itself is more moderate than most people had anticipated. But the French dislike of the income tax is deep-seated; and naturally, therefore, the tendency observable for some time past to avoid French investments is increased. Moreover, the result of the German elections is itself calculated to cause a pause, for the elections have undoubtedly strengthened those who habitually support the Government. Moreover, the Emperor's speech to the crowd which assembled in front of his palace has made a bad impression in neighboring countries. In Germany itself business has been more or less disturbed by the elections, and, furthermore, it has been checked by the liquidation going on in New York and by the depression in London.

The large withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England make it unlikely that there will be any reduction in the Bank rate for some time yet. The Paris exchange upon London has declined, and therefore many people are hoping that gold will be received from Paris. That, however, is doubted by the most careful observers, inasmuch as the Bank of France naturally desires to keep itself very strong at a time when the condition of Morocco is threatening, when the relations between France and Germany are not as satisfactory as could be wished, and when, moreover, the introduction of an Income Tax Bill tends to disturb business. The best observers, therefore, in Paris as well as in London doubt whether the Bank of France will allow much gold to be sent to London. Gold, of course, is coming back from Egypt, and the India Council does not find it necessary to "ear-mark" gold, or at all events has not "ear-marked" it up to the present, while the imports of gold from South Africa and Australia are large. If, accordingly, there are no serious shipments of gold to New York, it is possible that the present apprehensions may quickly abate, and that the Bank may find itself in a position to reduce the rate of discount. If, however, New York competes with the Bank of England for the gold offering in the open market next week the apprehensions will be increased.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 100 lacs and the applications amounted to nearly 528¾ lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 3-32d. to 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee were allotted about 18% of the amounts applied for. Later in the day the Council sold 7 lacs in bills at 1s. 4 3-16d. per rupee.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending Feb. 16. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

Wall Street, Thursday Night, Feb. 21 1907.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Little, if any, more importance attaches to Stock Exchange operations this week than for some time past. Prices have declined about as much as they advanced last week, and the volume of business has varied widely from day to day with dominant influences practically unchanged. Money market rates have, perhaps, hardened slightly, at least they have shown a tendency in that direction. Foreign exchange continues at the low level previously quoted, but no gold has been reported engaged for shipment to this port.

Some interest has been aroused by the announcement of borrowing by railroad companies and the rates paid in some cases; also by the utterances of prominent railway officials as to a somewhat widely prevailing sentiment of criticism or hostility towards railroad management throughout the country and the effect of such sentiment upon the efforts of railway officials to finance and improve the properties under their control. Of course it is well understood that the utterances referred to have especial significance, coming as they have from the Presidents of the Great Northern and the Delaware Lackawanna & Western systems.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2 to 5½%. Thursday's rates on call were 2@5¼%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5¾@6% for endorsements and 5¾@6% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £1,293,687, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 48.00, against 50.29 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed Jan. 17 at 5%. The Bank of France shows an increase of 2,250,000 francs in gold and 975,000 francs in silver.

State and Railroad Bonds. Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $5,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 22.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been exceptionally dull and featureless. The volume of business has been much smaller than the recent average and few important changes are noted in quotations. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Interborough-Metropolitan, Wabash, Pittsburgh Terminals and the Atchisons are an average of about a point lower than last week, and nearly all other relatively active issues are fractionally lower.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board include $4,000 4s coup, 1925, at 129⅜; $1,000 4s reg., 1907, at 101½, and $20,000 3s. coup., 1908-18, at 103⅜. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has again been irregular but generally weak, and closing quotations were an average of about 2 points lower. The advance movement noted as in progress last week continued until Monday, when the highest prices were generally reached. Tuesday's market was by far the most active, made so largely by liberal offerings of a few prominent issues. This was done with little apparent regard to the effect upon prices, and as a result Union Pacific sold over 5 points lower than on Monday, Reading nearly 5, St. Paul over 4, and Pennsylvania, New York Central, North West, and Canadian Pacific from 3 to 4 points lower. Naturally, there was some reaction from the lowest, but full recovery has not been made in any case. There have been almost no exceptional features, practically every active issue having followed, more or less closely, the general trend of the market. The miscellaneous list has been relatively steady. Anaconda Mining covered a range of only 9 points as against nearly 20 last week. The United States Steel issues have lost about as much as the gain noted last week. Other stocks in this group have fluctuated within narrow limits.

For daily volume of business see page 440.

Outside Market.—The continued depression on the Stock Exchange and the approach of the three-day holiday have affected the "curb" market, trading being of a desultory character and in diminishing volume. Prices showed a tendency to weakness. Trinity Copper attracted considerable attention by declining from 33½ to 28. Subsequently it advanced to 35 and to-day to 37¼, reacting to 36. Greene Consolidated Copper fell from 32⅞ to 31½. Greene Cananea lost a point to 21½. United Copper common fell from 73½ to 71½, later recovering to 72. Nevada Consolidated Copper was firm and gained a point to 18½, subsequently easing off to 18¼. Butte Coalition Mining sold down from 37¼ to 36½ and up finally to 36⅝. Douglas Copper from 22½ sank to 20¾, but jumped back to 22½. Utah Copper dropped from 39½ to 38. Nipissing was weak and went down from 14⅝ to 13⅜ and up to-day to 13¾. Industrials were irregular. American Can preferred moved down from 55½ to 54, then up to 55¼ and to 55 finally. Havana Tobacco common from 13 advanced to 15, then dropped to 12½. International Mercantile Marine preferred sold down from 28¼ to 27½ and up to 27¾. International Salt declined from 18 to 17, later advancing to 17½. Standard Oil, after declining from 540 to 538, rose to 549, selling finally at 530, ex-dividend. Waterbury Company stocks were active. The common rose 3 points to 53⅜, then moved down to 51⅝ and recovered finally to 52¼. The preferred declined from 103⅝ to 103, but rose later to 103½. Western Ice ranged from 28 to 26¼ and up to-day to 26⅝. Chicago Subway dropped from 28¾ to 27, moving up at the close to 27½. Great Northern "rights" sold down from 21½ to 20.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The following shows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STEAM railroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation includes every road from which we can get a return of this character, and in that form is given once a month. Early returns are published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we publish our monthly article on net earnings—say, about the 20th of the month. Besides the companies furnishing monthly returns, we have added this time the roads which make quarterly returns.

President W. H. Truesdale says in substance:

Earnings.—The year 1906 was a prosperous one for the company, all branches of its traffic showing a continuance of the steady growth of recent years excepting only the anthracite coal business, which was reduced, owing to the six weeks suspension of mining operations in April and May last. The general business of the country during 1906 reached a new high level and the railways handled a much larger traffic than during any year in their history. The mines and washeries of the company were operated to their full capacity excepting during the period of suspension. The earnings from transportation of miscellaneous freight were about 12½% more than in 1905 and the revenue from passenger traffic shows equally satisfactory growth. The average rates received per passenger mile and per ton mile show slight increases.

Operating Expenses.—The increase in cost of the maintenance and operation is strikingly large, aggregating more than the increase in gross earnings. Increased wages, together with the high prices paid for all kinds of supplies and materials will in a great measure account for the increase in operating expenses. The cost of maintenance of way and structures was large and covers extraordinary betterments and additions, amounting to $2,171,937, (given in full in report.—Ed.) notably, new freight yard, transfer bridges and dredging for same, Jersey City, $166,994; new block and interlocking signal apparatus, $161,258; sundry overhead bridges and road crossings, $69,568; new bridges, trestles and culverts on line, $271,791; third track, Scranton to Nay Aug, $162,476; new yard tracks, 85,526 feet, $101,607; new side and passing tracks, $147,410.

New steel rails with fastenings were laid to the amount of 11,768 tons, or 2,233 tons more than in 1905. Also 629,682 new ties were put in track, or 48,403 less than during 1905. The cost of new steel bridges and masonry was less than during the previous year, as the heavy work of this character is nearing completion.

By reference to statement of expenditures for renewal and betterment account it will be seen that the company made large purchases of new equipment during the year, all of which were paid for in full out of income. These purchases included 50 new locomotives, 52 passenger train cars of various kinds, 4,323 freight cars and 52 ballast cars. Total expenditure on this account, less value of old equipment and value of materials from such of it as was torn down, amounted to $4,433,733. (This amount, together with $233,733, net, for steel bridges, $360,287 for new Twenty-third Street ferry terminal, $496,475 for Kingsland and other shops, and $27,390 for boats, makes the total of $5,551,618 of renewal and betterment account for the year.—Ed.)

The Kingsland car shops were placed in use about May 1 1906, and the Kingsland locomotive shops will be ready for occupancy about May 15 1907. Plans have been adopted for a new locomotive repair plant at Scranton at a cost of about $2,000,000. It is planned to have the entire plant in operation about the middle of 1909. When these several plants are in operation the company will be second to none as respects facilities for repairing its equipment.

The operating cost of this and all other railways will increase largely during the coming year, as further very general and substantial increases in salaries and wages were made in the latter part of 1906, some of which did not become effective until the first part of the new year.

Coal Department.—The total tonnage produced at the company's mines and washeries and purchased from individual operators aggregated 9,152,743 tons, or only 189,919 tons less than in the year 1905. Development work has been prosecuted on a large scale with the view of keeping up the production to the increased requirements of recent years. The policy of liberal expenditures for improvement of collieries and breakers was continued, and $609,022 was expended or set aside for these purposes. After the suspension of mining before referred to, the company's mine employees all returned to work under an understanding that the wages previously paid as established by the Anthracite Strike Commission shall be paid until April 1 1909.

The Inter-State Commerce Act passed at the last session of Congress contained a provision making it unlawful for a common carrier to transport in Inter-State commerce any commodity, such as coal, mined or purchased by it or in which it has any interest excepting such coal or other commodity is for its own use, this provision of the law to become effective after May 1 1908. The management is advised by its legal representatives that this company cannot be required to dispossess itself of its coal properties by the action of Congress under the guise of regulating commerce between the States, especially as by the terms of its charter one of the early ones granted in Pennsylvania, it has the undoubted right to mine, purchase, transport and merchandise coal.

Financial.—The Morris & Essex Railroad Co. during the past year issued $1,000,000 more of its 3½% first and refunding mortgage bonds to this company to reimburse it for expenditures made for various construction work and improvements during the year. These bonds are held with others in our treasury as available assets. The first mortgage bonds of the Syracuse Binghamton & New York RR. were paid at maturity Oct. 1 1906 in part with funds advanced by this company. These bonds are held uncancelled as security for said advance until such time as money market conditions are more favorable for permanently financing this obligation.

Opportunity was availed of during the year to acquire at an advantageous figure, for cash, the dock and terminal properties of the Brooklyn Warehouse & Dry Dock Co. and the Brooklyn Dock & Terminal Co. located in South Brooklyn.

On March 1 next the outstanding first consolidated mortgage 7% bonds of the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad Co., amounting to $438,000, will mature. Also on Sept. 1 next the outstanding first mortgage 7% bonds of this company will become due and payable.

General Remarks.—The construction of our new passenger and ferry terminal at Hoboken has progressed favorably; the passenger terminal proper with appurtenant train sheds is nearing completion, and will probably be ready for occupancy about Feb. 15. The work of building an additional tunnel for two more main tracks through Bergen Hill, just west of Hoboken, was begun early in the year. The necessary property has been purchased for a new passenger station and office building at Scranton, Pa., and it is planned to construct this building during the coming year.

The present outlook for business of every kind continues most promising and so far as can now be discerned nothing is indicated for the coming year other than that the wonderful activities and prosperity of the year 1906 will be duplicated in 1907. The most serious aspect of the present situation, as seen from the railroad standpoint, is the universal and pronounced feeling of hostility which exists towards the railroads. Legislation by Congress and by many of the States is being actively pressed as a universal panacea for all troubles, and if made effective and enforced would hamper and embarrass the transportation interests of the country beyond measure. The effect on this company of certain of these measures is startling, notably in New Jersey. Our taxes for the past year have been increased by these changes in the tax laws by $572,915, or 57.29%. The taxes levied in New Jersey for 1906 amount to 9.25% of the gross earnings, or over 30% of our net earnings on business of every kind, through or local, done in that State. Efforts are being made through the courts to secure a more equitable treatment of railway interests of New Jersey on taxation matters.

Chicago Junction Railways & Union Stock Yards Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President Nathaniel Thayer says in substance:

Volume of Business.—The following is a comparative statement of live-stock and car receipts for the past two years:

	Cattle.	Calves.	Hogs.	Sheep.	Horses.	Cars.
1906	3,329,250	413,269	7,275,063	4,805,449	126,679	293,245
1905	3,410,469	380,835	7,725,738	4,736,558	127,259	302,766

The above statement, although showing an increase in sheep and calves, discloses a decided decrease in cattle and hogs, and a total decrease for the year of about 3%. It must be remembered, however, that in the previous year, 1905, the receipts of live-stock were the largest on record and exceeded those of 1904 by over a million head of all classes of live-stock. The large receipts of 1905 caused a depression of prices, particularly in cattle and hogs, which was partly responsible for the lighter receipts of these two classes of stock during the year 1906. The natural consequence was a rebound in prices, resulting in an increase of nearly $17,000,000 over 1905 in the valuation of live-stock sold at the Chicago stock-yards during 1906.

The combined net earnings of the Chicago stock-yards and of the Chicago Junction Railway Co. show a decrease as compared with 1905 of $1,808.

The usual policy of making large disbursements for improvements and betterments has been followed this year, the increased cost of labor and material having added materially to all such items.

Twin City Rapid Transit Co. (of New Jersey).

Minneapolis, St. Paul, Stillwater, Lake Minnetonka, Minn.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President Thomas Lowry, under date Minneapolis, Jan. 21 1907, writes in substance:

General Results.—The gross earnings as compared with 1905 show an increase of 18.61% and net earnings an increase of 14.37%. The difference between the gross and net increase is largely due to an increase of 10% in wages and the increased cost of all raw materials.

During the year the management has paid particular attention to the matter of amusements along its lines, and more especially to its park at the terminus at Excelsior, Lake Minnetonka. It has developed a large business in this connection by judicious advertising. The expense incurred thereby largely accounts for the increase in the general expenses. After paying taxes, interest and dividends on all bonds and stock outstanding, the surplus amounts to $719,681, as compared with $497,933 in 1905.

Bonds.—During the year there were issued and sold $1,000,000 consolidated 5% bonds due 1928 and $2,100,000 common stock. The interest and dividends accruing on these issues after deducting premiums received on the sale thereof amounted to $63,500. This amount was charged against income, as in previous years, although these issues were made to defray the cost of new construction.

Acquisitions.—During 1892 there were started two villages for manufacturing purposes—St. Louis Park on the southwest, 6.1 miles from the city limits, and Robbinsdale on the northwest, 2.2 miles. We secured the Minneapolis rights to connect with both villages and then leased these rights to parties desiring to build, reserving the privilege to purchase whenever we saw fit. Accordingly we recently purchased the St. Louis Park line for $40,000 and the Robbinsdale line for $30,000. These lines will pay interest on the investment

Renewal Fund.—From the surplus of $257,933 earned in 1905 your directors have appropriated $100,000 to the renewal fund. During the year 1906 the fund was further increased by the addition of interest on the investments. We estimate the depreciation on the properties of the company for the past year to be $482,000. During the year there was expended for car replacement and track reconstruction the sum of $480,783. The balance at the credit of the renewal fund now stands at $590,449, of which $363,500 is invested in bonds.

Extensions and Improvements.—The extensions and improvements made during the year aggregate $2,648.518, viz.:

New power	$1,034 514	Track and paving	*$625,385
New shops	201,685	St. Louis Park line	40,000

Toronto Railway Company.

President William Mackenzie, Toronto, Feb. 6, says:

General Results.—The gross earnings have now passed the three million dollar mark, and for the year show an increase of 12.8% over the earnings of last year. The large expenditures of the past three years, specially improving the power plant and other properties, have contributed to a reduction in the percentage of operating expenses to gross income from 56.8% in 1905 to 52.9% in 1906. The net result is, therefore, an increase of $276,337 in the net earnings, which amount to $1,463,224.

From the surplus of $355,854 there has been transferred to contingent account the sum of $100,000, and the balance, $255,854, has been carried to profit and loss account, which account now shows a credit of $1,970,653.

We have charged to contingent account during the year $143,469, this representing, in addition to allowance as depreciation on the properties, special renewals of track and replacing wooden by iron poles.

Improvements and Additions.—During the year $518,192 was expended on capital account, chiefly in connection with the following: (a) The purchase of equipment for the new sub station; (b) underground conduit for connecting the several sub stations and power house; (c) the construction of a large number of 40 foot double truck convertible cars; (d) track extensions.

The first supply of current from The Electrical Development Co. was delivered on Nov. 19, since which date the company has been receiving power continuously.

New Stock.—On April 19 the shareholders authorized an increase of $1,000,000 in the capital stock by the issue of 10,000 shares at par. These shares were offered to the shareholders and were subscribed for and are now paid up. The proceeds together with the surplus earnings has enabled the company to undertake the capital expenditure mentioned above and leaves sufficient cash in the treasury for further extensions and improvements wherever necessary.

Taxes.—During the year the City of Toronto received from the company in percentage on earnings, pavement charges and taxes a total of $467,365.

Toronto & York Radial Ry.—This system has had an exceedingly successful year and shows gross earnings of $221,450 as compared with $168,462 for the previous year. The net earnings, after providing for operating expenses and fixed charges, are $30,094.

Express.—Of the gross earnings 19.7% represents earnings on express business on the Metropolitan Division. While the proportion to the total earnings is small, the volume of the express business shows an increase of 63% over the previous year and every indication of a continued healthy increase.

Extension.—The extension of the Metropolitan Division from Newmarket to Jackson's Point has been completed and will be ready for operation in the coming spring. It is expected with the operation of this extension a very material increase will be made in the company's business. The company at the present time has 49.9 miles under operation, and, with the mileage now constructed and ready for operation, the system consists of 75.7 miles.

Pressed Steel Car Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.

President F. N. Hoffstot says in substance:

General Results.—The gross sales for the year were $36,158,586 and the net profits were $3,381,884. These net profits are after making liberal charges on account of renewals and they result from the operations of your plants, except $225,000, which was a dividend from the Pennsylvania Car Wheel Co., the entire capital stock of which is owned by your company. The full operation of the subsidiary companies during the past year required the employment of their working capital as well as their earnings; therefore no dividends have been declared by such subsidiary companies (with exception mentioned above) and all net profit earned by each has been added to its working capital. As required by the provisions of your first mortgage securing the issue of notes the fifth annual installment thereof ($500,000) maturing this year has been paid.

Improvements, Additions, &c.—No dividends have been paid in the past year on the common stock for the reason that it was deemed improvident so to do in view of the large amount spent during the year on improvements, and for the further reason of taking care of the increased volume of business on hand and anticipated. The improvements begun in 1905 were completed in the fall of 1906. The greater part of the money for improvements was spent at the McKees Rocks plant in building a steel passenger car works and in increasing the freight capacity of that plant to the extent of 50%. These extensions necessitated the re-arranging and strengthening of the air, water, steam and electric appliances of the remainder of the plant, the installation of a new forge plant capable of making all the forgings required for McKees Rocks works, and other minor improvements. The balance of the money expended in improvements was used at the Allegheny works in enlarging the paint shop, building a shop for the construction of tank cars, and the increasing of the power (air, water, steam and electricity). All these improvements, besides increasing capacity, have been made looking persistently to the reducing of the cost of production.

Steel Passenger Cars.—The operation of the steel passenger car shop did not contribute to our earnings for the reason that education of men in a new line of industry is expensive and tedious, and full output of work cannot be secured at once; but we have gone far enough to know that we can produce a first-class fire-proof passenger car with only a slight increase in weight over the present wooden type, but at an increased cost. The question as to how great will be the pecuniary benefit from this department must be left to the future, as the railroads at the present time when there is an urgent demand for better service, and the various State Legislatures are insisting on lower rates, naturally show hesitancy in doing anything that will increase the cost of their equipment. Our experience convinces us that until there has been a much larger volume of business presented, the cost cannot be substantially reduced.

Purchase of Pennsylvania Malleable Co.—During the year we purchased $200,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the Pennsylvania Malleable Co. and purchased from the Pennsylvania Car Wheel Co. all the stock of the Pennsylvania Malleable Co., which stock the Car Wheel Co. had purchased on deferred payments amounting to about $225,000. During the year the deferred payments were completed and this stock was sold to the Pressed Steel Car Co. at cost and interest. (V. 82, p. 156.)

Canada Car Co.—The Canada Car Co., Ltd. plant (V. 83, p. 157) is now in successful operation, producing good output; but it has been deemed unwise to declare dividends on the preferred stock (which are cumulative) as it is necessary to carry in Canada a larger inventory, owing to climatic conditions, than would be required in the United States, and further because the plant constructed was more comprehensive than contemplated. During the incoming year it is probable that provisions will be made for extension of the plant and for permanent working capital, which will permit of dividends on its stocks being declared regularly. The earnings, with an operation of less than nine months, which included getting together an organization, were in excess of the fixed preferred dividends and all other charges, so it would seem that it will not be a long time until the common stock owned by your company, on which no value has been placed in your company's accounts, will be a valuable asset.

The Mackay Companies.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Feb. 1 1907.)

The trustees make the following report:

Acquisitions.—The Mackay Companies owns the whole or part of the capital stock of 102 prosperous cable, telephone and telegraph companies in the United States, Canada and Europe, including the entire capital stock of the Commercial Cable Co. and the various companies constituting the land line system known as the Postal Telegraph. It is the policy of your trustees to make the basis of the Mackay Companies so broad and diversified as to render impossible any fundamental impairment of the value of the preferred or common shares. Accordingly, your investments include stocks in submarine cable companies in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and in the Postal Telegraph land line system, and in dividend-paying stocks in the best telephone companies. The Mackay Companies is by far the largest stockholder in the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., commonly known as the Bell Telephone Company, its holdings being more than four times those of any other stockholder in that company. Your trustees believe that the present friendly relations with that company should be cemented in the interest of the shareholders of both companies and also of the public at large.

Capitalization, &c.—Notwithstanding these days of money borrowing and mortgage giving, your trustees are again able to announce that the Mackay Companies has no debts.

During the past year $1,354,400 preferred shares have been issued in exchange for stocks of corporations which, in addition to strengthening the position of the Mackay Companies pay as much or more dividends than the corresponding dividends paid on the Mackay Companies preferred shares. The entire authorized preferred shares of the Mackay Companies have now been issued, and no further preferred shares may be issued excepting on a vote of the shareholders. The outstanding common shares have not been increased during the past two years. The Mackay Companies in its investments confines itself to first-class cable, telephone and telegraph stocks. The shares of the Mackay Companies were listed on the New York Stock Exchange on Jan. 23 1907.

Dividends have been regularly paid on the preferred shares since April 1904 at the rate of 4% per annum, payable quarterly. Dividends have been regularly paid on the common shares since January 1905, such dividends having been increased to 4% per annum, payable quarterly, commencing July 1906.

Income of Sub-Companies.—The income of the subordinate companies of the Mackay Companies is largely in excess of the amount required to pay these dividends, but its policy is to obtain from its subordinate companies only enough money to meet the dividends on the Mackay Companies' shares. If the entire profits of the Commercial Cable Co. and its land line system for 1906 were paid to the Mackay Companies, as might legally be done, and if the Mackay Companies used all these profits, together with its income from other investments, for the payment of dividends, the amount would be sufficient to increase very largely the present dividend on the common shares, after paying the full dividend on the preferred shares. All surplus earnings are left in the treasuries of the subordinate companies for extensions and the development of the business and the increase of reserves.

During the year 1906 the earnings of the Commercial Cable Co. (which has paid regular quarterly dividends for over 17 years) have shown substantial gains in gross receipts and net profits, on both the ocean and land systems. After paying the dividend on its stock, a large amount remaining was carried to reserve, in accordance with its long established policy.

The land line system (the Postal Telegraph) is being constantly extended, and also shows substantial increased gross receipts and net profits over the previous year.

Extensions.—The Commercial Pacific Cable Co. during 1906 laid submarine cables to China and Japan, and those cables are now in complete working order.

On Dec. 6 1906 the forty-year monopoly of all telegraphic and cable business between Cuba and the United States, granted by the Spanish Government in 1866 to the International Ocean Telegraph Co., and later acquired by the Western Union Telegraph Co., came to an end by the expiration of the forty years. Your trustees applied to the American Governor in charge of the provisional government of Cuba, for the usual permit for the landing and operation of a submarine cable between the two countries, and such permit has just been granted. In order to make this Cuban service equal to the service of the Commercial Cable Co. in the Atlantic Ocean, and the Commercial Pacific Cable Co. in the Pacific Ocean, and the Postal Teleg. Co. throughout the United States, your trustees have decided to lay a submarine cable direct from New York City to Havana, thereby giving a three-minute service as against an average thirty-minute service. The entire cost of this important extension to Cuba will be paid out of current profits.

Passes Abolished.—On Jan. 1 1907 all free passes were abolished on the Postal Telegraph system. During the past twenty years this free pass incubus had grown to formidable proportions, and its elimination will be conducive to more rapid and efficient service, as well as increased income.

Purchase of Stock by Employees.—The cable and land line systems have, during the past year, put into successful operation a plan whereby the employees of the organization are given an opportunity to purchase preferred shares in the Mackay Companies, and to make payments therefor by installments.

United Copper Company.

(Statement for 13 Months ending Jan. 31 1907.)

In connection with the offer of President Heinze, noted Feb. 9 (p. 343), to give in exchange for each $100 of the preferred stock $125 of common stock, there were issued circulars giving the following balance sheet and income account for 1906-07, from which "it appears that the company earned nearly 14% on its common stock last year, while paying only 7%." To these exhibits we append some further facts revised for the "Chronicle" and also the income account of the year 1905-06.

President Heinze in one of the circulars says:

Should you accept the accompanying offer of the undersigned to exchange your preferred stock for common stock, you would increase your income nearly 50%, irrespective of the probability of increased dividends which may be declared this year on the common stock, which is likely to be placed upon the same dividend basis as Amalgamated, in which event there is no reason why United Copper common should not sell at the same price as Amalgamated. I also call your attention to the superior advantages of the broad market which exists for the common as compared to the narrow and limited market for the preferred.

Output.—Willett & Gray's "Sugar Trade Journal" of this city on Jan. 3 gave the following estimate of the amount of refined sugar consumed in the United States:

CONSUMPTION OF REFINED SUGAR.

	Calendar Year		Per Cent.
Produced by—	1906.	1905.	1906.	1905.
Amer. Sugar Refining Co.	1,408,503 tons	1,325,692 tons	51.03	52.89

Total consumed	2,760,343 tons	2,506,680 tons	100.00	100.00

The National Sugar Refining Co., included with the independent refiners, produced about 326,000 tons in 1906, against 296,000 tons in 1905.

On the basis of Willett & Gray's calculations, the following is obtained in cents:

Average Price—	1906.	1905.	1904.	1903.	1902.	1901.	1900.
Granulated sugar	4.515	5.256	4.772	4.638	4.455	5.050	5.320

Difference	0.829	0.978	0.798	0.918	0.913	1.003	0.754

Granulated sugar opened Jan. 2 1906 at 4.45; from Sept. 13 to Sept. 27 stood at 4.75, then fell off to 4.55, recovering at the close to 4.62. Raw sugar opened the year at 3.625 and closed at 3.58, the highest price for the year being 4.125 on Sept. 20.—V. 84, p 105.

Manufacturers' Light & Heat Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President H. B. Beatty says in substance:

Wells, Pipe Lines, Leases.—During the year 10 wells were purchased and 75 wells were drilled, of which 41 were productive of gas, 12 of oil, and 22 unproductive, and 4 were sold and 16 abandoned, having ceased to be productive. These productive wells, together with those heretofore in operation, make a total number of wells operated on Dec. 31 1906 of 1,131. Of the 22 unproductive wells above mentioned, 13 were shallow wells, costing only about $1,000 per well. During the year 23.26 miles of pipe were lifted and 105.84 miles were laid. The total number of miles of pipe lines operated by your company on Dec. 31 1906 was 2,897 miles. The company now holds under lease 476,214 acres of gas and oil territory situated in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, of which amount 98,850 acres are operated and 377,364 acres are held in reserve for future operation.

Output.—The company sold during the year 39,088,478,000 cubic feet of gas, being an increase for the year over 1905 of 1,019,189,000 cubic feet, or an average increase per day of 2,340,000 cubic feet. The average daily delivery for the year was 106,799,000 cubic feet. There has been an increase during the year of 4,233 consumers on your lines. The total number of present consumers is 61,919.

Contract with Fairmont Oil & Gas Co.—In July we executed a contract whereby the Fairmont Oil & Gas Co. agreed to furnish us if desired 30,000,000 feet of gas daily for a period of six years. Under the terms of the contract, we were to secure delivery beginning Oct. 15, but owing to the delay in pipe deliveries and other causes, we were unable to complete pipe lines so as to secure any gas under this agreement before Dec. 8, since which time we have been taking about 10,000,000 feet a day under the contract.

Underwriting of Floating Debt.—As you were notified by special letter to the stockholders in December (compare V. 83, p. 1594) the company entered into an agreement with the Colonial Trust Co. whereby the latter underwrote the floating debt, aggregating about $4,200,000, extending over a period of five years.

Suspension of Dividends.—As the entire bond redemption charges for the year 1907 are due and must be paid by June 30, as well as $350,000 of the payments on account of the floating debt, under the terms of said agreement with the Colonial Trust Co., the directors thought it advisable to suspend the dividends temporarily, inasmuch as the above-mentioned charges must be paid out of the first months' business of this year and the $583,424 of net cash and cash assets on hand on Dec 31 1906.

Balance Sheet.—Accompanying this report you will find a consolidated balance sheet of the company and its affiliated companies, counter charges between companies eliminated; also statement showing the gross and net earnings, expense and investment for the year 1906. In connection therewith we wish to call attention to the fact that after charging off $224,430 for drilling of new wells, &c., we then charged all of your investment for the new pipe lines, meter connections, service lines, &c., amounting to $811,525, to profit and loss, and in addition to this paid off an account of your deb; $607,533, which increased the value of your property to stockholders by the sum of $1,643,478, for which no credit has been entered on the books.

Bonds.—The balance sheet for Dec. 31 1906 is a consolidated report for all companies. On Dec. 31 1905 the balance sheet submitted (V. 82, p. 390) was for The Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. alone. To the statement of Dec 1905 bond account you should add $220,500 for bonds of underlying companies, making total of bonds less sinking fund outstanding on Dec. 31 1905 of $9,005,500. The present amount of bonds outstanding, including all companies, and less cash in sinking fund held for said companies, is $8,221,000.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS.

Canadian Northern Ry.—Government Guaranty Asked For.—The "Toronto Globe" of Feb. 16 says:

Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann have asked the Government to guarantee the bonds of a proposed line from a point 9 miles above Parry Sound, on their Toronto-to-Sudbury section of the James Bay Ry., direct to North Bay. The distance is about 75 miles, and the guaranty asked is $20,000 a mile. At North Bay this new line would connect with the Government railway—the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario—which is to be continued to the junction with the Transcontinental Railway, in the vicinity of Lake Nipissing.—V. 83, p. 1522.

Central New England Ry.—Committee Asks Deposits of General Mortgage Bonds and Preferred and Common Stock.—At the request of a large number of the holders of the above-named securities Tompkins C. Delavan, Chas. Gregory and George F. Cummings (20 Broad Street, New York,) have consented to act as a protective committee for the bond and stockholders, and request the prompt deposit of those bonds and minority shares with the Empire Trust Co., 42 Broadway, New York City. The agreement provides in substance:

The committee are hereby appointed our attorneys and agents, and are authorized to bring about the sale or the payment of regular interest upon the bonds respectively held by us. The bonds are to be delivered to the committee or to others upon their order, upon the deposit with the trust company of $1,000 for each general mortgage bond deposited, and the preferred and common stock shall be similarly delivered upon the deposit of such money as the committee shall certify has been procured upon the sale thereof. The trust company shall pay to the parties holding its receipt for bonds and stock the money so received less the following: 5% to the committee for its services; for the sale of the stock, ½% of the amount obtained therefor; and for expenses not exceeding ½% of the total bonds deposited. If an agreement be made with the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co. for the regular payment of interest upon the said bonds, then the committee shall be entitled to a commission of 5% upon the face value of the bonds and a further 1% to cover expenses. Should no sale be made within eighteen months from Feb. 14 1907, then the bonds and stock are to be returned.—V. 84, p. 840.

Interborough Rapid Transit Co., New York.—Notes Offered.—Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston, and William Read & Co., New York, offered this week at 97¼ and interest the unsold portion of $10,000,000 3-year 5% coupon gold notes of $1,000 each, dated March 1 1907 and due March 1 1910, but redeemable at 101 and interest on and after March 1 1909 upon 30 days' notice. Morton Trust Co., New York, trustee. Interest payable March 1 and Sept. 1 in New York. The entire amount, it is announced, has been sold.

Abstract of Letter from August Belmont, Chairman of the Board of Directors, dated Feb. 14 1907.

Status.—The company is the lessee from the City of New York, for a long term of years, of the Rapid Transit (Subway) Ry., owned by the city, the equipment for which, including power-houses, &c., representing an investment of about $25,000,000, is owned by the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. This company is also the lessee of the Manhattan (Elevated) Ry. for a term of 999 years from Jan. 1 1903. The Interborough's capital stock is $35,000,000, on which it has earned and paid last year dividends at the rate of 9% per annum. The company has no mortgage or bonded debt, and its only funded debt consists of $15,000,000 4% 3-year gold notes dated May 1 1905.

Purpose of Issue.—The proceeds of the $10,000,000 notes now sold to you, together with moneys which are and will become payable to the company from the city, and other sources, will be sufficient to discharge all the company's floating indebtedness and to pay for the completion of work now under construction.

Earnings for Years ending June 30 (last five months of 1906-07 estimated.)

Year—	Gross.	Net.	Other Inc. a	Fixed Chges.	Bal., Sur.
1906-07	$22,317,253	$12,885,788	$738,729	$9,029,307	$4,595,210
Increase	2,621,659	1,591,017	23,226	544,591	1,069,652

The fixed charges as above include interest on bonds, rentals and taxes, including 7% Manhattan guaranty. The annual interest on the $15,000,000 4% gold notes now outstanding and the $10,000,000 5% notes sold you amounts to $1,100,000 per annum, being less than one-quarter of the available surplus for 1907 as shown above.

Brooklyn Extension.—It is expected that the Brooklyn extension of the Rapid Transit RR. will be ready for operation not later than July 1 1907, from which a largely increased revenue is anticipated. When this extension is completed, the company will have invested in this construction some $6,000,000 more than the amounts payable to it by the city with respect to such construction, and as the rental payable to the city is based upon the actual expenditure by it in the construction of the road, the company will receive the benefit of a reduction in the rental equal to the interest on the amount of its own investment in such construction.

Financial Plan.—The investment of the company in the New York & Queens County Ry., the New York & Long Island Traction Co. and the Long Island Electric Co. amounts at the present time to about $4,500,000. (Compare V. 83, p. 155.)

The company has under consideration a comprehensive scheme of financing these Long Island properties to repay to the treasury the amounts advanced by it. The trust agreement securing the 5% notes will contain a provision that if this company shall mortgage its leasehold interest in the Rapid Transit RR. or in the Manhattan Ry., or shall pledge any of the capital stock of the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Co., New York & Queens County Railway Co., New York & Long Island Traction Co. or Long Island Electric Co., owned by it, such pledge or mortgage shall expressly provide that the said $10,000,000 3 year 5% notes shall have a lien upon the property so mortgaged or pledged equal to the lien of any of the other obligations of the company which may be secured thereby. (Compare V. 80, p. 1912.) The company expects that at the maturity of the notes, and possibly earlier, it will be in a position to refund its indebtedness on terms more favorable than can now be secured, the issue of these notes being regarded as merely for a temporary purpose.—V. 84, p. 390.

Interurban Railway & Terminal Co., Cincinnati.—Change in Capitalization.—The "Cincinnati Inquirer" of Feb. 19 states that the re-adjustment of the company's finances on the following lines is now in progress:

The capitalization is now divided into $2,500,000 stock and $2,500,000 5% bonds, slightly over $1,000,000 of which bonds are still in the treasury. The bonds outstanding are held by insiders, and the plan is to surrender these bonds for a preferred stock, which will probably bear 6% interest. This will divide the capital into $2,500,000 common stock, $1,000,000 6% preferred stock and $1,650,000 of 5% bonds.—V. 83, p. 562.

National RR. of Haiti.—Proposed Purchase.—The following has been published:

A concession has been granted by the Haytian Government to the United Hayti Corporation, with a capital of $15,000,000, to take over the National RR. of Hayti, to operate a number of mining concessions and a direct steamship service to the United States and to Europe. The National RR. of Hayti is the only railroad on the island and at present is only 30 miles long. It is planned to extend it from the present terminus south of the seaport of Gonaives to Hinche, a distance of 80 miles. This extension is expected to be finished by July next. A new road is also planned from Cape Haytien on the northern coast across the island through Hinche and Port au Prince. The new lines will traverse a rich copper, iron and coal district in the interior. Contracts have already been let for building piers and docks at Cape Haytien, Gonaives and Port au Prince. The Haytien Government guarantees 6% interest on an expenditure of $24,000 per mile for the railroads for a period of 50 years. Among the promoters of the project are: William G. Price and John B. Mayer, of Philadelphia; O. B. Bechtel, of Pottsville, Pa., and F. L. Price, of Tamaqua, Pa. The National RR. Co. of Hayti was incorporated under the laws of Hayti Sept. 11 1905 with an authorized capital of $3,000,000 to build 90 miles of steam road, of 3½ feet gauge, from the port of Gonaives to Hinche, in the interior, and also 20 miles of road from Gonaive to Cross Morne. The concession was assumed by a New Jersey corporation known as the American-Hayti Co., which is capitalized at $5,000,000. It is stated that the road is bonded for $24,000 a mile, the payment of interest upon which is guaranteed for 50 years by the Haytian Government out of export duties. See V. 83, p. 1229.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Plans for Merger of Sub-Companies.—The company has applied to the Massachusetts Railroad Commission at Boston for approval of the purchase of the New Haven & Northampton RR. This action and the prices named are only formal, the properties being already practically owned.

European Bankers Who Purchased the Debentures.—The European bankers with whom Kuhn, Loeb & Co. placed the $28,000,000 4% 15-year debenture bonds, and who will issue them abroad, consist of:

Pennsylvania RR.—Sale of Notes.—Official announcement was made Feb. 19 of the sale to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of $60,000,000 3-year 5% notes, secured by car trusts and water bonds of the company and other collateral. The statement given out at the office of the railroad company said:

This sum, with the proceeds from sales of stocks of other companies heretofore made, will meet all the financial requirements of the company this year for construction expenditures and otherwise, including the New York terminal and also the $50,000,000 Pennsylvania Co. notes maturing Nov. 1 next, so that it will not be necessary to use this year any of the stock of the company or any of its bonds which the stockholders have, as a wise precaution, been asked to authorize at the annual meeting to be held March 12.

The notes were offered by the bankers at 99½ and interest, deliverable March 15. They will be dated March 15 1907 and are due March 15 1910 without option of earlier redemption. Interest payable March 15 and September 15. Denominations $5,000, $10,000, $25,000 and $50,000. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. state that the notes have all been sold. A number of houses, however, including William Salomon & Co., New York, and Curtis & Sanger, Boston, have moderate-sized blocks for sale.—V. 84, p. 340.

Peoria & Pekin Terminal Ry.—Sold.—At the foreclosure sale in Peoria on Feb. 9 the property was bid in by or in the interest of the successor corporation, the Peoria Terminal Ry. (V. 83, p. 1291) for $600,000. The Chicago & Alton and the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific, which own the stock of the new company, have agreed upon a plan of reorganization which provides that holders of the $697,000 first mortgage 5% bonds shall receive new 4% first mortgage bonds, guaranteed by the two railroad companies. Holders of the $280,000 refunding 5% bonds are offered income bonds. Officers of new company:

Philadelphia Rapid Transit.—Plan Approved.—The Board of directors on Feb. 18 decided to accept the plan submitted Jan. 21 by the Retail Merchants' Association for a readjustment of the relatons between the city and the company. A letter sent by President Parsons to the Association says: "While the members of the board held very decided divergent views upon several of the questions raised, we have finally unanimously agreed to recommend to our stockholders for their approval a form of contract which we will submit to you in the course of a few days, and which, though differing in some respects from your plan, will, we think, satisfactorily carry out the objects for which you are striving."

Digest of Plan Submitted by Retail Merchants' Association, Approved by Directors of Railway Feb. 18.

Repeal of Ordinances.—That so much of the ordinance of 1857 as confers upon the city the right to purchase the roads and cars of various street railway companies be repealed. That the right to compel the companies to remove overhead wires be repealed.

That the city and the company enter into a contract which shall provide:—

To Call Balance Due on Stocks.—That the Transit Company shall forthwith call in the balance due on its books, viz.: $12,000,000, say at the rate of $3,000,000 every six months, and that all of the money shall be spent in giving the city increased and improved facilities for travel.

City's Right to Purchase.—That the city shall have the right at any time after Dec. 31 1956 to purchase all the leases, franchises and property of the Transit Company at the actually paid-in capital, to wit, $30,000,000. This option to be assignable or to be sold at public sale to the highest bidder, the Transit Company to have the right to bid.

A sinking fund to be established to be taken out of the gross receipts of the company, which calculated at 4%, will amount to at least $30,000,000 at the expiration of said term of fifty years, to enable the city to acquire the property at that time. [The directors of the Transit Company take exception to the sinking fund provision as being so burdensome as to endanger the success of the entire plan.]

All further improvements and extensions of roads, with necessary power and equipment, to be financed so far as possible on bonds not running more than 50 years, issued by the company at not less than par and containing a sinking fund provision sufficient to meet the bonds at maturity.

To Share in Net Profits.—The city to share equally in the net profits of the company after the stockholders have received lawful interest from Jan. 1 1907 on the capital invested by them. The company to pay into the city treasury each year a certain sum to be ascertained in advance which shall be in lieu of the maintenance of street paving, removing snow, and license fees on cars, and shall at least equal the present cost for these items.

New Franchises.—All franchises for further surface, elevated or underground railways within the city to be first offered to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. under the terms of this contract.

Voice in Management.—The Mayor, the President of the Board of City Trusts and the President of the Board of Education to have the right to be present at all meetings of the directors and to vote upon all questions, but not to incur any liability as directors.

While the city will thus receive a revenue from the company and have a voice in its management, it is not to incur any liability as a partner or otherwise for any of the obligations of the Transit Company.

Fares.—The present rate of fare not to be changed without the consent of both parties.

Accounts.—The accounts of the company to be inspected and audited each year by the City Comptroller or his experts.

Contracts.—No contract to be made by the company which shall extend over the fifty years of the limited franchise herein provided for, except securities that may be issued for the construction of new surface, underground or elevated roads and the equipment of such new roads. The company shall not sell, assign, dispose of or encumber any of its property, leaseholds or franchises except as provided in this contract with respect to securities issued for the construction and equipment of new roads.

To Change Elevated Route to Frankford.—As the construction of the elevated road to Frankford over the present route presents certain engineering difficulties that are insurmountable, the city and the company shall promptly agree upon a change of the route so as to make construction possible, and assurances shall be given for the building of the road with promptness.—V. 83, p. 1471.

The notes were first offered to the investor on a 6½% basis, but later the price was raised to 99½, at which they yield 6¼%. The company and its ally, the Deepwater Ry., are building a low-grade railroad, 146 miles in length, extending from tidewater at Sewell's Point, near Norfolk, Va., to Deepwater on the Kanawha River, West Va., and the adjacent tracts of coal land, aggregating 100,000 acres, owned by the same interests as the railway, located between the New River and the Kanawha coalfields, and formerly known as the Cooper-Hewitt properties.—V. 83, p. 436.

Statement by Pres. James Kerr, Dated New York, Jan. 29 1907.

The company controls by lease for a period of 999 years from Sept. 1 1906 106,100 acres of coal land, including the property of the well known Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co., Beech Creek Coal & Coke Co., Webster Coal & Coke Co. and other subsidiary companies. Underlying these properties there is conservatively estimated to be between eight and nine hundred million tons of high grade bituminous coal of the best steaming and coking quality. The lands are so situated that the product command the lowest freight rates to tidewater and New England points.

The company also controls a number of electric light and water companies with valuable franchises, all the stock of the Hooversburst & Southwest Co., and a large majority of the stock in the North River Coal & Wharf Co., the latter company having valuable docks in New York harbor known as Fort Liberty. We also own about 1,000 railroad cars, 347 coke ovens, a large number of dwellings, and have 33 shipping points for the coal operations at 30 mining operations as well as a half interest in two other bituminous coal operations.

The company has a total business of about 4,000,000 tons of coal shipped over the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Philadelphia & Reading and Central R.R. of New Jersey. Notwithstanding the fact that during the last six months this company has been in operation the railroads have been unable to furnish tonnage originating at these properties, and the car supply has been so inadequate as to cause a falling off in the production of the company of 40%, the earnings have been as above shown. We have secured contracts for a very large amount of steamship and general coal business for the coming year. The proceeds from the sale of these bonds will be used for further developments to provide this tonnage.

Subscriptions will also be received, at the banking houses named in the advertisement, in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Chicago, Providence, Montreal, &c., &c.—V. 84, p. 51.

The Pioneer Steamship Co., Willoughby, O.—Increase of Capital Stock.—This company has filed a certificate of increase of capital stock from $966,000 to $1,246,000.—Compare V. 80, p. 874.—V. 72, p. 1191, 1139.

Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co., Montreal.—Bonds Authorized.—The shareholders at the recent annual meeting authorized the issue of $2,000,000 bonds, bearing not to exceed 5% interest, to provide for new boats, etc. On Dec. 31 1906 there were only $323,146 old bonds outstanding. The steamship "Quebec" is being lengthened and re-built and the new steamer "Rapids King" was launched Jan. 9 1907.

Every foot of land now owned is completely occupied and the shop buildings are practically filled. In order to provide for the immediate purchase of this land to permit the further growth of your business, the directors have decided to issue the last of the stock which you authorized in 1903.

The net earnings were about $900,000, without deducting interest and other charges. The statement showed surplus $781,300, which makes the book value of the ($5,000,000) stock $116. It must be remembered that this company last February declared an 18% stock dividend, which wiped out (or largely reduced) its surplus. The stockholders have received 8% cash dividends and have about 16% in surplus account, which is certainly satisfactory.—V. 83, p. 499.

The Commercial Times.

Thursday Night, Feb. 21 1907.

On the whole trade continues active and prosperous, although there may be here and there some slight signs of a reaction, something which would perhaps not be wholly unwelcome, seeing that the financial resources of the country have been subjected to a pretty severe test in handling its epoch-making business, to say nothing of the question of transportation and labor, which have at times proved distinctly inadequate to the unprecedented requirements. Confidence is still general and prices are on the whole well maintained. Speculation remains for the most part quiet.

LARD on the spot has ruled quiet, with prices steady in the main. Small export sales have been reported of late, but as a rule the demand has been confined to jobbers. City is quoted at 9½c. and Western at 9.90c. Refined lard has been quiet and steady. Continent 10.20c., South America 11c. and Brazil in kegs 12@12¼c. The market for lard futures has declined, owing to heavy liquidation, a falling off in the demand from commission houses and bearish pressure. The receipts of hogs have increased at times and this fact has not been without effect.

The market for future contracts has declined, owing to long liquidation for local, Wall Street and foreign account. The speculation has been quiet and composed in part of switching from the near to distant options. The receipts have been moderate, but this fact has had no effect. The dulness of the spot trade has been a depressing influence. Bears have sold at times, owing to unfavorable reports in regard to the valorization plan.

The closing prices were as follows:

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been on a small scale, and prices have again shown a sagging tendency, mainly because of very large receipts and persistent liquidation of the March option, especially on the eve not only of two holidays, the Exchange being closed both on Washington's Birthday and on the day following, but also of the March notices which are due on the 26th inst. Moreover, the weekly statistics of late have been of a somewhat bearish tenor, indicating rather unexpected increases in the visible supply. And as regards the predicted decrease in the receipts, it has certainly not come to pass. On the contrary, the volume of arrivals, particularly at the Southwestern points, has been so enormous as to militate very distinctly and persistently against speculation for a rise. There has been steady selling by local Wall Street and Southern houses, and the public has held aloof more plainly than ever. The sustaining factors, on the other hand, have been persistent undoing of straddles for Liverpool account by buying here of March and July, particularly of March, free buying at times to cover local short obligations, and, finally, the quite general steadiness of the spot markets at the South, even if here and there some easing of prices may have taken place. Furthermore, despite the predictions of an increase in the acreage this spring, it was noticed that Southern and Continental mills bought October, December and January steadily. This was believed to be partly because spinners are sold ahead for a considerable period, partly because in the early part of the season, for instance in October, good cotton is comparatively easy to obtain, whatever the general character of the crop, and finally in part because the new contract here will go into effect next January. In any case, the buying of the next crop months has been so steady and the disposition to sell them so slight that they have been as a rule conspicuous for their firmness. Moreover, from all that can be gathered, the spot demand at the South has continued good and the trade reports have been in the main satisfactory, the impression being very general that at present prices for raw material the profits on goods to the mills are unusually large. The question of the next crop has not yet become an important factor in the trading, although some comment is made on the fact that preparations seem to be somewhat backward east of the Mississippi River, and that while they are more advanced west of the river the weather during the winter in at least parts of that section is reported to have been somewhat drier than could have been desired. To-day prices advanced partly in sympathy with a more active and stronger market in Liverpool, while covering of shorts, further Liverpool buying to liquidate straddles and more or less New Orleans and other Southern buying also contributed to the improvement in prices. There was a good deal of covering in March. Receipts continued large, but spot cotton has been quiet and steady. Middling uplands closed at 11c., showing no change for the week.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 21 1906 by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows:

BREADSTUFFS.

Thursday, Feb. 21 1907.

Prices of wheat flour have remained about stationary. The trading has continued on a small scale, buyers still pursuing a hand-to-mouth policy. Trade at the principal milling centres of the Northwest and the Southwest has continued quiet. Prices everywhere, however, have been firm in the main, despite the recent decline in wheat. The export trade has been lifeless and the shipments from the seaboard have continued light. Rye flour and corn meal have been quiet and steady.

Wheat, under the influence of liquidation, some increase in the receipts at the Northwest, and reports at times that the Russian demand had been pretty well satisfied, has declined. Mere speculative liquidation, however, has played no unimportant part in the decline, and it is worthy of remark that within the last few days the export business has increased, partly, as it appears, for Russian account. Moreover, according to the foreign advices, Russia has been buying in London and Hull, to say nothing of the German markets. For all that, however, a reactionary tendency has at times been noticeable in the foreign markets, and it has somewhat puzzled the grain trade to notice the relatively large exports from Southern Russia. The world's shipments reached a much larger aggregate than in the previous week, even those from Russia, curiously enough, showing a small increase; while those from Argentine, Australia, India and the Danubian provinces exhibited a noteworthy augmentation. The large increase in the quantity on passage to Europe, 6,800,000 bushels, was also not without its effect. But Russia has nevertheless of late been a pretty steady buyer of durum wheat at home and abroad, and it also appears has bought freely of German and Argentine oats. Yet, judging from appearances, large speculative interests in Chicago have been heavy sellers, and apparently trustworthy reports that the railroad blockade at the Northwest has been sensibly relieved appear to indicate that wheat in that section will hereafter be marketed more freely. The future of prices admittedly hinges largely on the Russian demand and the receipts at our Western markets. The weather may also have an influence. Within a few days it has become considerably colder at the Northwest, and fears have been entertained that the lower temperatures might penetrate southward to the winter-wheat belt, which, taken as a whole, is not well protected by snow. Some complaints of the condition of the crop have been received from Illinois, Missouri and Texas, though from present appearances no serious damage has as yet been done by winter-killing or by insects, which, however, are said to have done some injury in Texas. To-day prices advanced, owing to cold weather at the Northwest, fears of damage to the winter wheat, some reports of injury to the crop in parts of the Ohio Valley, moderate receipts at the Northwest and liberal export sales partly to Russia.

Trading in futures has moved within narrow limits. The speculation has been quiet, outside interest having fallen off. Prices on the whole have been somewhat easier, owing to the depression in wheat, liquidation, liberal receipts at the primary markets and bear selling. The proportion of contract grade in the daily arrivals at Chicago, however, has continued small, and this fact has tended to restrict short selling. The cash demand has been quiet as a rule, but cash prices have been firm. To-day prices advanced a fraction, owing to a rally in wheat, light offerings, the firmness of the cash markets and covering by recent sellers.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have shown no marked change. The trading has been rather light, many operators holding aloof and awaiting developments, especially as regards the attitude of leading bulls. The cash market has been quiet but firm. Cash interests have sold at times, but there has been a certain amount of bull support, and shorts have covered to some extent. To-day prices advanced, owing to the rise in wheat and corn, light offerings, buying by leading operators and covering of shorts.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Thursday Night, Feb. 21 1907.

This has been another week of pronounced activity in the dry goods market, but particularly in the cotton goods division. The influx of buyers, which started last week, continued, and there has been a steady increase in the demand for spring goods, buyers experiencing considerable difficulty in securing all the goods they require, while jobbers are at a loss to see how the demand is to be fully met. Purchases have not been confined to any one particular line, but have extended to all goods from the cheapest prints to the best fine yarn wash fabrics. Most sellers have sold the products of their mills into the late spring; the question of delivery is uppermost in the minds of buyers, and jobbers have been able to get their own prices. Mills having goods free for order are holding out for top prices, and on special lines buyers have been offering premiums for early summer delivery. Prices for all classes of cotton goods, especially fine yarn fabrics, are now on the highest basis in proportion to the staple experienced in years. There has also been strong buying of staple cottons for fall by out-of-town interests, while a good business has come forward from buyers now in town for additional lines of woolen dress goods, silks, fine cotton wash fabrics and linens. Spring lines of white goods are well sold up, and domestic lines for fall are already being freely taken; prices are firm with advances of 2% to 3% in some instances. The inequality between the selling of fancy woolens and fancy worsteds for next fall has caused a revision on medium-weight fancy worsteds and mercerized fabrics, selling agents having granted to large buyers concessions ranging from 2½ to 5 cents a yard under opening values. Print cloths continue very firm; regulars are in request but scarce at 4½ cents, while narrow cloths have been marked up to 4⅛c. Export trade is extremely quiet.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Feb. 16 were 7,366 packages, valued at $383,633, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

Other Countries	126	8,073	149	1,927

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $2,351,990 in 1907, against $2,492,374 in 1906.

The scarcity of bleached and half-bleached cloths for nearby delivery has held this division of the market firm, and even on special constructions sellers are securing unusually high prices. Staple sheetings and drills for May, June and July delivery have been in urgent request and prices have been advanced ¼ cent a yard during the week. 37-inch drills are extremely scarce and there is a sharp demand for substitute lines. Prices of bleached goods generally continue to show an upward tendency. All descriptions of sateens and twills are in extraordinary demand at stiff prices. In cotton dress goods sales for fall have been unusually large, and offerings of heavier fabrics have been more liberal than last year. Staple linings are well cleaned up, only small quantities of mercerized cottons and sateens in the finer grades being available, and even in these deliveries can only be guaranteed for distant deliveries as a rule. The export trade is practically at a standstill, prices being too high, especially on heavy staples, to attract buyers.

WOOLEN GOODS.—In the men's wear market indications are that fancy woolens will be prime favorites for fall, tailors to the trade having placed liberal orders in the primary market. On plain staple worsteds, medium grade, selling agents have booked their full quota of initial orders. The closing out of light-weight overcoatings for spring, 1907, has progressed satisfactorily, and stocks of staple overcoatings have moved well at full prices. In dress goods most of the spring business in the primary market has been completed, and fancy lines for fall will soon be opened.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Conditions remain about the same in the linen trade; the scarcity of all descriptions is as great as ever, with little prospect of relief in the immediate future. Silks show a steadily increasing demand. Burlaps are strong and scarce. Imported woolens and worsteds are in good request.

Importations and Warehouse Withdrawals of Dry Goods.

The importations and warehouse withdrawals of dry goods at this port for the week ending Feb. 16 1907 and since Jan. 1 1907, and for the corresponding periods of last year, are as follows:

Gibbon, Neb.—Appeal Not Taken.—We are advised that the contemplated appeal from the decision of the District Court in the suit brought to prevent the issuance of $15,000 5% water bonds was not perfected within the time prescribed by law and the litigants have abandoned further opposition to the issuance of the bonds. As stated in V. 82, p. 882, the decision of the District Court was in favor of the bonds.

Pasadena, Cal.—Status of Litigation.—The following letter from J. P. Wood, City Attorney, has been received by us in reply to our request for information regarding the suit brought by the Edison Company to prevent the issuance of $200,000 4% municipal improvement bonds:

William B. Dana Co., Pine St., cor. Pearl St., New York.

Dear Sirs.—Mr. Heman Dyer, city clerk of the City of Pasadena, has asked me to reply to your letter of Dec. 21 addressed to him.

The suit in the Circuit Court of the United States in and for the Southern Division of the Southern District of California, commenced by the Edison Company to enjoin the city of Pasadena from issuing $200,000 4% municipal improvement electric lighting and fire department bonds, is not yet at issue. As you are perhaps aware, a suit was commenced during April 1906 by the directors of the Edison Company in the Superior Court of Los Angeles County to enjoin the sale. The State procedure enabled the defendants to bring the matter to immediate issue, and the cause was set for trial May 13. The action is clearly without foundation in law or in fact, and was commenced, without doubt, purely with the expectation of preventing bidding. Instead of trying out the contentions, plaintiffs dismissed their suit in the Superior Court and the above-mentioned action in the Federal Court was commenced by the Edison Electric Company as plaintiff. This action was based upon the same allegations as the action in the Superior Court, and is equally without foundation or possibility of success. The complaint does not even state a cause of action, according to the opinion of Messrs. Hunsaker & Britt, special counsel to the city, and of Dillon & Hubbard and of my department.

The plaintiffs have not asked for a restraining order pending the hearing, consequently the defendant has no means of expediting the case, and by reason of the cumbersomeness of the proceedings in the Federal Court, the case is not yet at issue, and there is little hope of its being tried within two or three months unless the plaintiff should ask for a temporary restraining order or temporary injunction, in which case the matter would of course have to be at once heard and determined.

Very truly yours,
J. P. WOOD,
City Attorney.

Rialto Irrigation District, Cal.—Bond Decision.—The following from San Bernardino appeared in the "Los Angeles Times" of Jan. 16 1907:

Findings have just been handed down in the case of N. W. Stowell against the Rialto Irrigation District, the judgment of Judge Hodson having been for the defendant. Stowell sued to recover on coupons of a $500,000 bond issue put out by the district in 1890. The Court holds that the bonds were disposed of for an illegal consideration and therefore are invalid. This decision saves the ranchers of Rialto from an indebtedness of over $75,000.

It appears that in 1890 the ranchers of the Rialto colony organized an irrigation district and entered into a contract with the Fontana Development Company whereby the latter agreed to install a water system and furnish 1,000 inches of water, piped to every twenty acre lot, to irrigate a total of 7,000 acres, accepting in payment the $500,000 bond issue. The contract was sub-let to Stowell, who partly completed the contract, and secured part payment on the bond issue. Under the judgment the defendants secure costs.

Early last summer Rialto ranchers offered to settle the outstanding bonds at the rate of 25 cents on the dollar, but Stowell refused the offer. Since then this offer has been withdrawn, and Attorney Henry Goodsell, representing the ranchers, to night stated that there was no offer of any kind being entertained by either party, nor would there be.

San Francisco, Cal.—Dupont Street Bond Decision.—The following report of a decision of the Supreme Court in the litigation over the Dupont Street bonds, long in litigation, appeared in the San Francisco "Chronicle" of Jan. 4:

The Supreme Court yesterday reversed the decision of the Superior Court in the case of Albert Meyer vs. the City and County of San Francisco. The action was brought by Meyer to recover upon thirteen of the bonds issued by the city under the Act of March 23 1876, for the purpose of widening Dupont Street for that portion of its length that is now known as Grant Avenue. Meyer obtained a judgment in the Superior Court.

In its decision the Supreme Court holds that the bonds were issued under provisions of the Act mentioned, according to which they were to be paid out of a fund to be raised by means of a special tax upon lands lying within a certain district. This tax was to be levied annually in an amount sufficient to pay the interest and one-twentieth of the principal. The completion of the work of widening the street was to be deemed an acceptance by the land owners of the lien upon their property to secure the payment of the special tax, and was to operate as a waiver of claims, based on the bonds, against the city. These provisions of the Act appear in the bonds.

The Court holds that these provisions release the city from any obligation to pay these bonds, which were to have been paid out of the special fund. The case being remanded, the plaintiff should make the landowners who were benefited by the widening of the street parties to the action. A judgment against the city alone would not, the Court holds, bind the owners of the property, though it would prevent the operation of the statute of limitations.

Terre Haute, Ind.—Proposed Municipal Water Plant.—The Indianapolis "News" has the following to say regarding a municipal water plant for this city:

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 1.—The committee of the City Council appointed to consider the water-works question will report unanimously in favor of building a municipal plant and of submitting the proposition to the voters of the city. A special election is advised. The plan is to interest capital in providing $800,000 on 4% bonds, taking the plant as security. The city has a margin of $200,000 in its debt limit of 2% on a tax valuation of $27,000,000.

Chairman Allen of the committee says the water bill now paid by the city for its fire plugs would cover all cost of operating the plant, leaving the commercial sale of water to pay principal and interest on the loan from year to year. The constitutional limitation of 2% would not be violated by this method of raising the money, he says. The committee will recommend that the plant be built north of the city on Otter Creek.

Toledo, Ohio.—Bonds Valid.—The State Supreme Court on Jan. 22 handed down a decision sustaining the validity of an issue of $75,000 street bonds. The "Toledo Blade" of Jan. 23 has the following to say regarding this decision:

In this case a bond issue of $75,000 for paving several streets and constructing nine sewers was attacked by Birchard A. Hayes, attorney for Heffner, a taxpayer, on the ground that the bond issue was illegal for the reason that the ordinance providing for it pertained to more than one subject, contrary to law.

The Supreme Court holds that the provision of law that "no by-law or ordinance shall contain more than one object, which shall be clearly expressed in its title," was intended to prevent the uniting in one ordinance diverse subjects or measures and effecting its passage by uniting in its support all those in favor of any of these measures, and to prevent the adoption of ordinances by the vote of Councilmen ignorant of their contents.

"Whether an ordinance is violative of the statutory requirement that no by-law or ordinance shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title, is to be determined not by its form, but in the light of the mischief the statute was intended to prevent."

The contention of City Solicitor Northup was that the issue of bonds, though the proceeds were to be used for various improvements, was only one subject, and in this contention the Supreme Court has sustained the attorneys for the city.

You Wouldn't Start a Horse-Car Line

in this age of electric cars? Not if you wanted to make money out of the business of transportation.

Then why should you start a manual telephone exchange in this age of automatics, if you want to make money out of the telephone business?

The automatic system of telephony bears the same relation to the manual system that the electric car does to the horse car It is the apotheosis of telephone development, as the electric car is of transportation development.

The automatic telephone system produces the best service more economcially than indifferent service can be produced with manual equipment.

There is no more question as to the relative popularity of the automatic and manual telephone service where the two kinds are in competition than there is as to the relative popularity of the trolley car and the horse car.

And, as for the securities—the same comparison may be applied with the sam results.

Our Automatic system has been adopted in the following cities

The full details for the week covered by the above will be given next Saturday. We cannot furnish them to-day, clearings being made up by the clearing houses at noon on Saturday, and hence in the above the last day of the week has to be in all cases estimated, as we go to press Friday night.

We present below our usual detailed figures for the previous week, covering the returns for the period ending with Saturday noon, February 23, and the results for the corresponding week in 1906, 1905 and 1904 are also given. Contrasted with the week of 1906 the total for the whole country shows a loss of 8.9%. Outside of New York the increase over 1906 is 7.2%.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Stock Exchange operations have this week been under the influence and control of the Government proceedings against the so-called Harriman combination of railroads. This proceeding had for some time been announced as likely to produce something of a sensation when the facts were divulged by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. It was claimed that the combination was a highly complicated relationship decidedly in restraint of trade and affecting vast interests. Proof was not only offered respecting those matters, but disclosures thus far made known raised fears of litigation between parties affected which it was assumed might very likely be widely disturbing. Under these circumstances very naturally the Harriman stocks have gone down in a rapid sort of a way, much the same as any other classes of stocks and bonds would under similar circumstances, carrying the whole market with them. This was the case on Monday, when the first disclosures were made known, followed up as they were by a severe attack by the bears. Tuesday a covering movement set in, prices rising rapidly, showing that the decline was largely artificial. Wednesday the confusion in values returned, declines being much below those of Monday. Thursday noon the Commission finished its inquiry, the understanding being that the evidence will be submitted to the Attorney-General, and if it tends to show that the Anti-trust Law has been violated, proceedings will be taken to dissolve the Harriman combination of roads. We have written on page 480 at greater length with reference to one of the most conspicuous phases of this week's disclosures.

According to our belief the conclusion was thoroughly sound to which the Court of Appeals arrived this week in the matter of the Vice-President of the New York Life Insurance Company. They held unequivocally that Mr. Perkins was not guilty of larceny in the use of funds of the company for contributions to the Republican campaign fund in 1904. Judge Gray, in the leading opinion of the Court, states that among the facts there are none upon which criminality can be predicated. The essential element of intent to deprive and defraud is nowhere to be found and there is no just basis for the inference. Judge Hiscock, concurring with Judge Gray, also says there is wanting every one of those circumstances of personal gain, furtive secrecy in the commission of the act, and of concealment after commission, which are essential elements attending thecharge made.

In explanation of the issue it is proper to add that the gravamen of the complaint was simply that the officers of the corporation contributed some of its funds to a purpose which the charter did not directly authorize. In their character of trustees, however, they felt it a duty to make the subscription. The election involved the country's currency standard and consequently put in jeopardy all values. As the company held large bodies of securities which it was believed would depreciate materially if the attempt to legalize free-silver coinage should be successful, the interests of all the insured were at stake, and hence the directors, to prevent the depreciation of the property they held in trust, acted as they did.

It is noteworthy that since the beginning of December 1906 there has been only one day—January 19—when sight exchange has sold at rates which indicated the possibility of exports of gold hence to London had conditions favorable for such a movement been created through the device of advancing the price of the metal or of raising the Bank discount rate. The sight exchange rate on the above-named day was 4 8595@4 8610. At the end of January it was 4 8465@4 8470, and the lowest in February was 4 8440@4 8450 on the 16th. There have been three occasions since Dec. 1 when sight exchange was most favorable for gold imports from London—4 8270@4 8275 on Dec. 29, 4 8440@4 8450 Jan. 3 and 4 8440@4 8450 Feb. 3. In all of these months there were, on other days, conditions favorable to imports of gold, but only $1,500,000 was brought out, and even when profitable imports could have been effected, with a minimum of risk, our bankers refrained from undertaking them through a desire to avoid disturbance to the London discount market.

European mail advices regard it as probable that the Bank of England rate of discount will be maintained at 5% at least during April, when it is expected that absorptions of gold by that institution from the Cape and from Australia will so greatly augment the Bank's reserve as to justify a reduction in the rate. The maintenance of such rate will, it is thought likely, have a controlling influence upon our market and contribute to hold in check an advancing tendency. At the moment exchange rates rule so close to the gold-import point as to discourage speculative selling; buying for investment, though profitable, is limited, for bills bought for such purpose are chiefly supplied by drafts against credits resulting from the negotiation of corporation notes. It is regarded as probable that exchange will soon begin gradually to advance because of an increasing demand for remittance to pay for securities which will be returned from Europe as the result of liquidation by foreign investors, induced by the disclosures respecting railroad management the current week. Some think that easy money rates are likely to prevail here through the operation of the Aldrich bill; should it happen that discounts become relatively higher abroad than loans here, it would seem that exchange ought to respond to a demand for the transfer of bankers' balances to London for employment.

At a time when the disposition is to think that we have fallen upon evil days—that in view of recent developments it must be considered that our people, both collectively and individually, are becoming depraved—it is refreshing to have the clear-cut opinion of an eminent divine that the country's morals are still unquestionably sound. At the Madison Square Presbyterian Church last Sunday, Dr. Parkhurst delivered a sermon which deserves wide reading, and the whole trend of which was that the instances of depravity and lax morals, which are being made so much of, are only on the surface and furnish no real occasion for gloom. Dr. Parkhurst well said that it is one of the unfortunate features of the rank and file of the people that they are more apt to exaggerate what is bad in the community than to appreciate the good that is in it. The past year has been rather exceptional in the amount of corruption, financial and otherwise, that has been unearthed. This has encouraged an impression that things generally, and the people with them, are going to the bad with phenomenal velocity. Almost every one talked with seems to feel very much as Elijah that he or she is about the only one left that has not sold out to Baal or that the Lord can have any further use for. He considers it startling how many individuals there are who are quite sure that they themselves are loyal to everything that is represented by high-toned morality and how small they imagine the number of those similarly situated. Their sense of moral loneliness is pathetic.

He does not hesitate to express the opinion that one can count on the fingers of one's hands the instances of financial crookedness and moral obliquity come to light during the past year that are responsible for the present crumpled state of mind among the honest and moral members of the community. He says he knows too much about the evil that is in this city to deny the existence of a great deal that is bad, and things that are bad should be called bad and characterized by the stiffest terms discoverable in an evangelical vocabulary. But what gives him courage to deal with crime and to stigmatize it is the knowledge he has gained that the interior heart of the city is one that believes in honesty and has a contempt for what is morally unclean. He thinks the newspapers to a considerable extent responsible for the condition of moral panic existing among the reputable elements of the community. The press is certainly wont to exaggerate the bad, because it concerns itself chiefly in recording things that are exceptional, unusual and out of the ordinary. If out of every one hundred men ninety-nine were thieves and profligates and only one behaved himself, it would then be the one who behaved himself that the press would take to its arms. He then proceeds as follows: "Sin is sin, and it is bad, but what is worse and more perilous is the panicky notion that depravity is in the majority; that startling exhibits of conspicuous criminality prove that men and society are fundamentally rotten; that God has become tired of His people and that you, individually, are about the only one left that has not already bowed the knee to Baal." At a time when the whole community appears to be getting into a frame of mind bordering on hysterics, Dr. Parkhurst's utterances are decidedly welcome, as well as pleasing and comforting.

The detailed statement of the condition of the savings banks of this State for January 1 has been issued this week and it, is interesting as showing that the growth in the deposits of these institutions continues uninterrupted. The further addition during 1906 was nearly 70 million dollars ($69,676,969), bringing the grand aggregate of the deposits up to the imposing figure of $1,362,035,836. Large though the amount of increase is, it falls below the amount of addition for the year immediately preceding (1905), which was no less than $93,775,724. Business having remained exceedingly prosperous, the laboring classes, for which these institutions are chiefly intended but by which they are not exclusively used, continued fully employed at good wages. Hence it is somewhat of a surprise that the increase for 1906 should have been so much smaller than for 1905, especially as the savings banks are getting better returns on their investments and hence have been able to pay higher rates of interest. There are 135 savings institutions in the whole State and Mr. Keep, the new Superintendent of Banks, points out that in 1906 the number of banks which paid 4% on all or part of their deposits was 76, whereas only two years ago such number was but 46. On the other hand, however, we must suppose that the stringency in the money market exercised some influence in inducing the larger depositors to withdraw their funds with a view either to employing the money directly at the high rates or to take advantage of the depression in security values, brought about in part by the monetary stringency, and use their savings to buy securities.

The depreciation in security prices doubtless explains the rather striking falling off in the market value of the surplus of the savings institutions, a decrease being reported under that head for the twelve months in the sum of $10,642,159. As a result of this shrinkage in surplus, the increase in aggregate resources of the institutions falls fully $10,000,000 below the increase in the deposits, being only $59,149,928. However, aggregate resources have now reached the prodigious figure of $1,464,950,833—close to 1½ thousand millions it will be seen. The new Superintendent, Charles Hallam Keep, makes some recommendations for the consideration of the Legislature. It appears that there are thirty counties in the State at present without savings institutions. Mr. Keep accordingly argues that if there be a feasible method for extending to the counties and towns which have no savings banks the conveniences and advantages they bring, that there should be no failure to employ it. He ventures rather cautiously the suggestion that the end desired might be attained by authorizing savings institutions to establish branches. He would employ this method at first with great conservatism and care. The same discretion, he thinks, should be vested in the Superintendent to approve or disapprove the establishment of such a branch that he now possesses in the matter of chartering a new savings bank, and until the scheme shall have been tried the opening of a branch at any considerable distance from the principal office of the parent institution should not be permitted.

In an interesting address delivered Thursday night at Trinity College, Hartford, President Charles S. Mellen, of the New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., discussed the subject of Government regulation of railroad rates. Mr. Mellen spoke in his characteristic way and did not mince matters. He has positive opinions on what is undoubtedly the leading question of the day, and he expresses them fully and frankly. He urged that punishment be meted out to those who have violated a public trust to the end that those who have done their full duty may be relieved from the undeserved stigma that otherwise attaches when disclosures shocking in their nature come to light. He concedes the need of efficient regulation of railroad corporations. He says that it has always seemed to him it would be preferable for the corporations and the public that such regulation be by the General Government rather than by the States, because of the necessity for a reasonable degree of uniformity in the regulation for the protection of the public, and that it might not conflict so seriously as would otherwise follow from the frequent changes of jurisdiction when State lines are crossed. When the subject was first agitated by the President in his message, he thought he saw a new era dawning in railroad management and an improved relationship possible between the reasonable portion of the public and the carriers.

He urges that what was needed was regulation, not restriction; protection, not persecution. But when the new Act became available for examination, it was found to be "revengeful and punitive, drawn either in ignorance or prejudice, with less thought of fairness to the railroads or the interests of the public than to concentrate tremendous power in the General Government not necessary for the regulation or the elimination of abuses complained of, and which, if Constitutional, gives power to derange established markets to an extent that, if exercised, will produce little short of revolution." He thinks the necessity for such a law as that enacted was more than questionable, and the fact that there has been no trouble is because practically nothing has been done under it. He well says that all that has been accomplished has been under the provisions of other laws, and then adds: "All improvement has been mendaciously accredited to this unnecessarily drastic legislation, not even the idea of which was original with the present party in power, but borrowed from the opposition, tinkered by every crank who temporarily came to the surface, encouraged by all the powers of unrest, log-rolled into enactment by the most irreconcilable elements of both parties, with accusations of treachery and mendacity so frequent and forceful that an honest man was in doubt whether the membership of the Ananias Society itself was not in danger of secession and disintegration." He also pointed out that the public cry has been against discrimination; yet those who have to handle the business of the railroads know that in private it is one strenuous effort on the part of the public to secure that very thing.

He makes a good point when he states that in the freight traffic preference in favor of those who use the roads most is forbidden, but in the passenger traffic it is insisted upon. If a man ships a car-load of freight every day in the year he pays the same rate of freight as the man who ships a similar car-load once a month. But if a man rides every day in the year he must have a less rate than the man who rides only once a month. "You will note, therefore, the public is bound to stop discrimination, even if it discriminates in so doing." Mr. Mellen insists that the complaints against corporate management have foundation enough in fact without exaggeration. It is unnecessary that they be varnished for fear that they may not shine. But much that has been charged against them in the way of offense has cured itself and is out of date to-day, as many other things which have taught us their lessons and passed into obscurity. Mr. Mellen's discussions on the whole form an important contribution to the literature on the subject.

The return of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the month of January was issued last night and is chiefly noteworthy because the figures serve to establish so plainly the fact that railroad expenses at the present time are increasing much faster than the gross receipts. In the case of the Pennsylvania of course the 10% increase in wages which went into effect Dec. 1 1906 is an important factor in swelling the expense accounts. Many other roads, however, are similarly situated, having followed in the footsteps of the Pennsylvania in raising the compensation of their employees. On the lines directly operated east of Pittsburgh and Erie the company reports an increase in gross earnings of $581,200, which was accompanied by an augmentation in expenses of $776,900, leaving a loss in net of $195,700. Similarly, on the lines directly operated west of Pittsburgh, there has been an increase in gross revenues of $305,000, attended by an augmentation in expenses of $448,100, causing a decrease in net of $143,100. For the combined lines, therefore, we have a gain in gross of $886,200, but an increase in expenditures of no less than $1,225,000, causing a falling off in net of $338,800.

Notwithstanding this decrease in the net, the showing is by no means to be regarded as an unsatisfactory one. Comparison is with extraordinarily favorable results a year ago, and in view of that fact it must be regarded as encouraging that the improvement previously established has been on the whole so well maintained. How exceptionally good earnings were with which comparison is now being made will appear when we say that in January 1906 the improvement for the combined lines for this single month reached no less than $3,726,600 in gross and $1,926,100 in net, and that this in turn followed $1,633,500 gain in gross and $915,700 gain in net in January 1905. On the other hand, in January 1904 there had been $1,426,100 loss in gross and $1,607,400 loss in net. In the years prior to 1903 the record, at least in the case of the gross, was one of continuous improvement for a long time back. In the following we furnish a six-year comparison of the earnings on the lines operated east of Pittsburgh, being the only portion of the system for which we have the data for such a comparison:

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week unofficial or open market rates were steady at London and at Paris and ⅛ of 1% higher at Berlin and Frankfort.

The feature of the statement of the New York Associated banks last week was the slight change in the surplus reserve, this showing a decrease of only $121,475, to $4,309,575, as the result of a loss of $3,252,600 in cash, less a reduction of $3,131,125 in reserve requirements. Loans were contracted $8,600,600 and deposits decreased $12,524,500. It may be noted that the total payments on account of redemptions of the $25,000,000 4% bonds of 1907, which Secretary Shaw offered on Feb. 11 to redeem, have thus far amounted to only $1,895,550.

The prospect now is for a speedy passage by Congress of the Aldrich financial bill, it being in the last stage of legislation on the table of the Speaker of the House, awaiting concurrence by that body with the Senate. It can have, for the present at least, only a sentimental influence upon the money market. Whether it will have any important effect later on interest rates will depend wholly on the practice under its provisions. Rates for call loans were comparatively firm in anticipation of a demand at the end of the month incident to preparations for the March disbursements of interest and dividends, which were estimated at about $80,000,000. While loans for long fixed periods were quoted at somewhat lower rates early in the week, it was stated that large borrowers were unable to obtain accommodation at the revised figures, and that in many cases fractionally higher rates were demanded, and in some instances small commissions were exacted for the negotiation.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 7% and at 4%, averaging about 5%; banks and trust companies loaned at 4% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 5% and at 4%, with the bulk of the business at 4¾%. On Tuesday transactions were at 5% and at 4%, with the majority at 4½%. On Wednesday loans were at 5% and at 4%, with the bulk of the business at 4¾%. On Thursday transactions were at 6% and at 5¼%, with the majority at 5¾%. On Friday loans were at 7% and at 5½%, with the bulk of the business at 6%. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were 5¼% for sixty to ninety days, 5¼@5½% for four and 5½@5¾% for five to six months. A loan for the last-named period on all industrials was reported at 6%; the State of Massachusetts borrowed $1,000,000 in this city for eight and a half months at a fraction below 5%, in anticipation of the collection of taxes. Commercial paper is still in better demand at the West than it is in this city, and rates are 5¾@6% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 5¾@6% for prime and 6½% for good four to six months' single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 5%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 4¾%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅞% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4⅞@5%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £53,385 bullion during the week and held £36,729,623 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due wholly to purchases in the open market, exports having largely exceeded the inward movement from abroad. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £582,000 (of which £150,000 from Egypt, £5,000 from Gibraltar and £427,000 bought in open market); exports, £653,000 (of which £453,000 to South America and £200,000 to Egypt), and receipts of £124,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was comparatively inactive this week, with narrow fluctuations and a firm undertone. It was influenced on Monday chiefly by the London bi-monthly settlement, which contributed to a good demand for cables, while long and short were also in fair request; the volume of commercial bills was smaller than usual and there were somewhat limited offerings of bankers' drafts. There was no special feature on Tuesday; the market was dull and rates only slightly changed, with long firmer, cables easier, indicating the satisfaction of the demand for the settlement, and rates for short were unaltered. On Wednesday there was a fractional decline, reflecting realizations and a light inquiry for remittance; some bankers' long sterling, said to be drawn against negotiations of corporation notes, was offered, and late in the day there were indications of investment buying of short. On Thursday the tone was firm and business more active, with a good demand for investment and for remittance; the market was strong at the close and about the highest rates for the week were then recorded. Francs were lower because of a sharp rise in exchange at Paris on London, said to be due to investment operations stimulated by the proposed income tax in France.

Nominal rates for sterling exchange are 4 81½@4 82 for sixty-day and 4 85½@4 86 for sight. On Monday the market opened at an advance, compared with the close on Thursday of last week, of 10 points for long to 4 8040@4 8045, of 15 points for short to 4 8465@4 8470 and of 20 points for cables to 4 8540 @4 8545. On Tuesday long rose 5 points to 4 8040@ 4 8050 and cables fell 5 points to 4 8535@4 8540. Short was unchanged. On Wednesday long fell 15 points to 4 8030@4 8035, short 5 points to 4 8460@ 4 8465 and cables 5 points to 4 8530@4 8535. On Thursday there was a rise of 20 points in long to 4 8050@4 8060, of 5 points in short to 4 8465@4 8470 and of 10 points in cables to 4 8535@4 8545. The market was a shade easier on Friday at a decline of 20 points for long and of 5 points for short and for cables.

OLD AND NEW PRECEDENT IN THE TREASURY.

Not least of the interest attaching to the retirement from the Treasury next Monday of Secretary Shaw, and the assumption of that office by Secretary Cortelyou, lies in the question, to what extent the precedents extended or established by Secretary Shaw during his five years of office will be accepted by his successor. Mr. Shaw's place in the Government's financial history will undoubtedly be that of a ready and daring innovator. In general, the policy which he has adopted has been that of bringing the aid of the public surplus promptly to any disturbed financial situation, even if the provisions of public law had to be strained in order to accomplish that end. It is natural that, under such circumstances, wide disagreement should have arisen regarding the Secretary's policy.

A large part of the financial public has based its judgment on the fact that these new or strained precedents, adopted by Mr. Shaw, have on several occasions averted an awkward, though perhaps temporary, crisis in the financial markets. The facts that, on a majority of such occasions, the Treasury had absorbed into its own vaults currency which was needed for bank reserves or general circulation, and that release of this currency seemed to be blocked by technical provisions of law, added naturally to the number of people who approved the Secretary's action. Criticism of his policy has been based in the main on the general principle that the stretching of authority by a Government officer, particularly in the fiscal department, establishes hazardous precedent, and that the overriding of established rule and practice, except for the sake of preserving the credit of the Treasury itself, is an extremely risky business. In short, the one class looks at the present and the immediate future; the other at the longer financial future.

In asking what is likely to be the attitude of Secretary Cortelyou toward these new precedents, it may be useful to sum up briefly the essential innovations of Secretary Shaw in Treasury rule and practice. The first important step of the sort taken by Secretary Shaw in the fall of 1902, lay in the accepting of other than Government bond collateral for public deposits. It had been generally conceded that some such extension of acceptable security was not only safe, but would be inevitable if retirement of Government bonds continued and the volume of public deposits expanded at its customary rate. On the other hand, the law provided that "the Secretary of the Treasury shall require associations (national banks) thus designated to give satisfactory security by the deposit of United States bonds and otherwise," and in the original debate upon this section of the bill, it was clearly explained in Congress that "and otherwise" meant security added to, and not substituted for, United States bonds. There is no doubt that Mr. Shaw's acceptance of $50,000,000, or thereabouts, in municipal, State or railway securities has enlarged the possible scope of such deposits, and may therefore have enabled the Treasury to return to the market currency which otherwise would have been absolutely locked up from it.

Following this innovation, Mr. Shaw set forth an interpretation of the Act authorizing public deposits in bank, and by his interpretation over-rode a rule which had been consistently observed since the foundation of the Treasury. It had been assumed by all his predecessors that deposit of public funds in bank was feasible, under the law, only through allowing this accruing revenue to flow into banks, whence, in due course, it could be drawn by the Treasury. In other words, the money left in bank was thus deposited, not as being in the Treasury, but as on its way to the Treasury. Mr. Shaw advanced the theory that the national banks, under the law's implication, were to be construed, in their capacity as depositories, as a part of the Treasury, and that, therefore, money derived from internal revenue, and already in the Government's vaults at Washington, might properly be transferred from the Treasury to the banks. The convenience of this construction lay in the fact that it enabled a deposit of, say, $25,000,000 to be made instanter, instead of awaiting the comparatively slow process of incoming revenue. and, moreover, that it avoided, to all practical purposes, the inconvenience of the foolish and obsolete proviso that customs receipts might not be deposited in bank. Mr. Shaw's argument for this new practice was ingenious, but it conflicted with the reasoning of all his predecessors, who had held that the constitutional proviso that no money should be drawn from the Treasury, except under specific appropriations of Congress, applied distinctly to money removed from the Treasury, even for such purposes as a deposit in the banks.

Finally, nearly a year ago, Secretary Shaw adopted the still more striking expedient of making special deposits of Government money with national banks on the express understanding that this fund was to be utilized in the import of foreign gold, the deposit serving to relieve the importing bank of the loss of interest during transit. This remarkable step by the Secretary called forth a good deal of approval at the time for the reason that it happened to coincide with the critical situation arising from the San Francisco fire, and by hastening the import of foreign gold at that time undoubtedly helped toward quick relief of the situation. On the other hand, it was pointed out, then and afterwards, by what may be called the strict constructionists of Treasury policy, that by making special deposits, on such terms and under such restrictions, the Treasury had departed wholly from the theory of returning to the market money improperly diverted from it by the Government, and had established a practice amounting to nothing more than the loan of Government money, free of interest, to gold importers. Later on, when it began to grow plain that this special facility offered by the Treasury was antagonizing foreign markets, and leading to adverse feeling towards our finances as a whole, the judgment even of Wall Street was considerably modified.

The public interest in Mr. Cortelyou's accession to the Treasury will rest very largely in the question what his attitude will be toward these various innovations of Mr. Shaw. The prevalent impression, so far as we have been able to gather, is that the new Secretary will move cautiously, and, wherever possible, will limit himself to the rule and precedent fixed before Mr. Shaw undertook his new departures. Such a policy strikes us as beyond question wise. We do not presume to say that circumstances might not arise where the situation, either of financial markets generally or of the Treasury in particular, would force the hand of a fiscal officer of the Government, and compel a repetition of some at least of the expedients utilized by Mr. Shaw. We trust that no such emergency will arise, and we are certain that the surest way to prevent its arising would be through the enactment of a public law which should place on a rational and businesslike basis the whole question of the deposit of public money in the banks.

But in the meantime we are strongly of opinion that the time has come to call a halt in the tendency toward too great latitude in the interpretation of the law as regards such matters. It is possible even to approve and applaud the various steps taken by Mr. Shaw, and still to remain convinced that assertion of a similar power by a Secretary of the Treasury less expert in administration of his trust might lead to the greatest trouble and confusion, both in the public finances and in the money market. The markets learned this possibility thoroughly in the days of gold speculation and the Treasury's intervention in the market. For this reason, we should certainly welcome evidence that the new Secretary proposes to follow the line of old precedent. The truth is that Mr. Shaw's successive steps toward stretching existing authority were leading swiftly in the direction of outright paternalism on the part of the Treasury, such as is bound in the end, in any state, to prove objectionable and hazardous. It was, indeed, Mr. Shaw himself who admitted the goal toward which his policy was leading, in the characteristic suggestion, published in his recent annual report, that "if the Secretary of the Treasury were given a hundred million dollars, to be deposited with the banks or withdrawn as he might deem expedient; and if, in addition, he were clothed with authority over the reserves of the several banks, with power to contract the national bank circulation at pleasure, in my judgment, no panic, as distinguished from industrial stagnation, could threaten either the United States or Europe that he could not avert."

THE USE OF ACCEPTANCES.

The adoption in this country of the system of acceptances by banking institutions, which has been so long in vogue in Europe, is becoming a subject of serious discussion. Up to the present time acceptances have been little used except by foreign bankers in special classes of cases, and it is even said that the decisions under the National Bank Act are hostile to the right of a national bank to lend its credit by the form of guaranty which an acceptance implies. There appears to be a strong disposition in certain quarters to urge that the system should at least be given a trial here. In the opinion of several competent foreign bankers, it would afford advantages to the banks and to merchants and manufacturers, and would benefit the entire financial community by giving greater flexibility to the money market. Without accepting at this stage of the discussion all that might be claimed for the system, it will do no harm to define these claims a little more precisely for the benefit of those who are not yet familiar with the subject.

An acceptance is in the nature of a certification by a banking institution that a piece of commercial paper will be paid. The operation of the practice of acceptances is that two-name paper may be presented to a bank by a manufacturing or exporting house and is thereupon stamped and signed by the bank as "accepted." The form may be modified to an endorsement rather than acceptance, which changes the order in which the parties are liable, but does not change the essential liability of the bank to pay the obligation in case of necessity. The corporation or firm securing the acceptance does not usually leave the paper with the bank which accepts, but may discount it at another institution or hold it in its own till, to be discounted when money is required. Such accepted paper may be transferred to a creditor, and even to many successive creditors, as the equivalent of cash, gaining something in character by each new endorsement.

The advantage to a bank in the system of acceptances is that it earns a commission upon the amount accepted, or upon the stated limit of acceptances granted to a given establishment, without parting with its cash. Its cash reserve is thus left unimpaired, as it would be impaired if the paper were actually discounted and the proceeds taken from the bank. Moreover, to the bank which finally discounts the paper after acceptance it is a security much more negotiable in character than ordinary commercial paper upon which discounts are now made. The difference consists in the fact that the accepted paper has the guranty of a well-known banking institution, which, aside from its own strength, cannot be presumed to have granted an acceptance without thorough inquiry as to the strength of the makers of the paper.

To the merchant or manufacturer the practice of acceptances has the advantage that it enables him to obtain accommodation on much more favorable terms than at present. He is not obliged to guard against contingencies by discounting paper beyond his immediate needs. Having secured its acceptance under his contract with the accepting bank, he may retain the paper until the need for money becomes more pressing. He knows that in the meantime he has a negotiable security which will not be refused by any solvent bank having any resources either for discount or investment. His mind is easy in regard to his ability to use the paper in his hands, because it has already been accepted. He saves the interest which he might pay if he discounted the paper at the beginning as a safeguard against the possible need for money at some future time.

It is the operation of the system of acceptances upon the money market which has the broadest economic interest. It is the experience with accepted paper in Europe that it has a tendency to give flexibility to the money market. Being more negotiable than the ordinary forms of one-name or two-name paper, it affords in the hands of the bank a means of transferring its liability or obtaining credit much sooner and more quickly than present means of obtaining these results. It becomes with the foreign exchange houses a resource for re-discount and the sale of bills against foreign credits much more acceptable than the finance bill. In the opinion of the European banker, an acceptance which represents a genuine transaction is a much safer investment than a bill drawn simply against general credit. So highly is such paper regarded on the Continent that bills on England based on acceptances are counted in the cash reserves of many of the banks, because they can be readily sold in case there is need for money, or, at the worst, presented to the accepting bank for payment. How the system works in shifting the strain upon the monetary and credit system is thus set forth by Mr. Paul Warburg in his recent brochure on the subject.

"If money tightens in Europe, let us say in Germany, France and England will immediately invest in German bills. They could not buy the paper of individual German merchants, whom they do not know, but they do and must know the value of the acceptance or endorsements of the German banks which offer and endorse or accept this paper."

A practice for which so many advantages are claimed would certainly seem worthy of study by the more far-sighted of our bankers.

THE CHICAGO & ALTON AND ITS CAPITALIZATION.

In view of the developments with regard to the Chicago & Alton Railroad at this week's investigation by the Inter-State Commerce Commission of the so-called Harriman railroads, it is very desirable that the facts with regard to the reorganization of this property should be presented in their proper light. At the hearings of the Commission, this particular subject attracted more attention than any other, and apparantly also more criticism. The daily newspapers, always alert for anything bordering on the sensational, have treated the testimony with reference to this reorganization as if something entirely new had been revealed. Candor compels the statement that the facts were all well known before, and there have been no new disclosures whatever except possibly concerning some minor details and incidents connected with the affair.

Take the matter of the re-capitalization of the property. It has been known from the first that this was on a very much larger scale than that of the old company in the days of President Blackstone. No testimony was needed on that point beyond the statement contained in the reorganized company's annual reports from year to year. There the amounts of the securities issued and outstanding—stock and debt—have long been set out, and everyone has been in position to ascertain the facts for himself. Or take the sale of the $37,350,000 3% refunding bonds at 65. This has been heralded in the newspapers as if it marked the uncovering of some hidden item, and surprise has been affected at the idea that the bonds should have been disposed of at such a low (as assumed) figure. The truth is these bonds were offered for subscription to the stockholders of the company at the figure given and announcement of the offer was conveyed to them through circulars, through Stock Exchange listings applications, and in various other equally public ways. If anyone cares to pursue the inquiry he will find a news item concerning this subscription offering in one of our issues nearly seven years ago, namely in the "Chronicle" of April 14 1900, page 739. In our "Investors' Supplement," too (or as it is now called, the "Railway and Industrial" Section), which is a reference book containing a standing record of facts, this particular feature of the financing of the reorganized company was noted in number after number, year by year, until July 1905.

Though, however, the facts are old, now that they are being given so much prominence it is important that they should be stripped of the sensational garb in which they are being clothed and subjected to examination with the view to seeing whether the operation merits the censure which is being visited upon it. Already the newspapers are telling us that the evidence elicited at this week's inquiry will form the basis for attempts to secure the enactment of some laws intended to prevent stock "watering" in the future. We can conceive of a number of objections to the issue of securities by a railroad or other enterprise greatly in excess of its earning capacity, or of the actual investment in the same. But the act is really less vulnerable on the ground on which such inflation is usually attacked than on any other. We mean the theory that if an excessive amount of stock and bonds be issued on a property, the patrons of the road are obliged to pay increased rates for transportation so the concern may earn a return on the enlarged amount of capital. There is absolutely no connection between capitalization and rates. It is competition, not capitalization, that determines rates—competition aided by the efforts of State and national authorities to force charges for transportation to a constantly diminishing figure. The Chicago & Alton case is useful as establishing irrefutably the truth of our assertion. Those promoting the reorganization of the property had every reason to think that with the carrying out of their well-matured plans net earnings could be increased to such an extent that all of the new securities issued could be placed on a paying basis. And yet they signally failed in their endeavor. If capitalization, instead of competition, controlled rates, they could not have failed; for in that event it would have been necessary only to put up rates to the proper level and, presto, the thing would have been done.

Consider what was the condition of the Alton property when the new interests acquired control. It was moribund. By this we mean it was in a state and at a stage inviting decay unless there was an infusion of new life. It had been very conservatively managed and (for those days) also ably managed under the administration of President Blackstone. It was a dividend-paying property, paying 7% and 8% on its shares, and its dividend record was a good one, running back for a long period of time. It was additionally fortified by the fact that considerable amounts had been spent out of earnings for the improvement of the property—withheld from the shareholders—forming the basis for the large extra dividend which came with the accession of the Harriman people to control. Nevertheless, it was not up to date. The time had arrived when new conditions of operation had to be met, and in face of such conditions the property must inevitably go down unless it could be brought up to the same physical standard as its neighbors and rivals. Mere appropriations for this purpose out of earnings would no longer suffice. New capital was required and a very large amount of it. In reviewing the company's annual report for the calendar year 1897 we pointed out that the net earnings for that period of twelve months had been the smallest for nineteen years—that is, since 1878. The gross earnings were with one exception the smallest of any year since 1879. In the calendar year 1898 the gross remained at the same low figure as in 1897, while the net dropped still lower.

The new parties saw what ailed the property and made their plans accordingly. They likewise saw, or thought they saw, an opportunity for giving vitality to a greatly increased capitalization. The situation and surroundings appeared unusually favorable, too.

Some high-rate bonds were soon to mature. The lines of the system were situated in the heart of the country, connecting such important traffic centres as Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City. The new interests were identified with large railroad systems to the West and Southwest, and hence were in position to see that the Alton got fair treatment and its proper share of through business—a matter of the highest importance, otherwise it might have been completely bottled up. They proposed to spend large sums of money on the property with the view to bringing it up to date and increasing its facilities for doing business. According to the figures furnished this week, they actually have spent over 22 million dollars for betterments and additions.

They calculated that a double gain would result from this large expenditure of money. First, they would be able to handle traffic with greater economy and at a lower cost per unit of service, and in the second place they would increase their business very largely. Expectations in neither regard have been disappointed, but calculations as to rates were astray. They had, we must believe, no intention of advancing freight charges, but apparently they assumed that rates being already so low, there was little chance of their going still lower. If this was the view, events have proved it mistaken. In 1898, the year before the property changed hands, the average rate per ton per mile was 8.3 mills, which certainly looked small. But in the late year (ending June 30 1906) the average had dropped to 6.4 mills per ton per mile, showing a decline of about 25% in the interval.

It thus appears that the public, as represented by the patrons of the road, has not suffered from the company's large capitalization. But what can be said in defense of the capitalization itself? In figuring the increase in this capitalization, a double mistake is usually made; first, in assuming that the original capital had a value no greater than par, and, secondly, in imagining that the new capitalization had a value equal to par. Neither assumption is correct. The promoters of the reorganization did not buy the original stock at par. Rather they paid 200 for the preferred and 175 for the common. This necessitated at the very start doubling the stock in any plan of reorganization. Nor did the new stock bring par or anywhere near it. The $20,000,000 of new common stock is generally referred to as if it had a money value of the same amount. Actually, this new stock sells in the market, not at 100 but at 20, and this week got down to 18, giving the whole $20,000,000 a value of only $3,600,000 to $4,000,000.

As to why so much additional securities were put out we have already indicated some reasons which must have controlled the promoters. In addition, we are inclined to give weight to the statement made by Mr. Kahn, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., in his testimony before the Commission. He pointed out that to get up a syndicate for $42,000,000 at that time when the railroads of the country had just emerged from bankruptcy was a big proposition. To obtain the money and enlist the necessary support the method employed in other reorganizations and readjustments up to that date had to be followed. In other words, it was necessary to "offer some paper which it was hoped the future might make valuable and toward the making valuable of which the stockholders cooperated by foregoing dividends and putting earnings into the property for a long period of time." What Mr. Kahn says with reference to the low rate of interest in the new bonds—3% for the refunding issue and 3½% for the prior lien bonds—must also be taken into consideration. Three per cent bonds, as he says, were at that time practically an untried security. And he might have added that to-day no one would think of putting them out. In other words, if the rate of interest had been placed higher the amount of the new bonds to be issued would have been correspondingly smaller. Obviously, from an income standpoint, $30,000,000 of 4% bonds are the exact equivalent of $40,000,000 of 3% bonds. Taking these various things into account Mr. Kahn submits a statement as follows. As the attorneys for the Commission have been seeking to establish that only $18,000,000 to $19,000,000 of the $22,500,000 expenditures for improvements and additions were provided from new capital, we adopt their figures on this point so as to be entirely conservative.

			$32,500,000
The cost of half of the St. Louis & Northern Short Line was about			3,000,000
Old Chicago & Alton RR. high-interest-bearing bonds, which had to be refunded at a cash cost of about			9,000,000
New money provided and expended for betterments, improvements, &c., about			18,500,000
Total cash outlay about			$63,000,000
As against this, the following securities were issued by the Consolidated Company:
3% bonds	$37,350,000	(being $45,300,000 less $8,000,000 pledged as security for the notes given below.)
Deduct 20% to bring these bonds to a 4% basis	7,470,000	$29,880,000
Deduct 26 2/11% to bring the bonds to a 5% basis	5,830,000	16,170,000
Notes and equipment bonds		10,000,000
4% preferred stock		19,544,000
4% common stock		19,542,800
Showing a capitalization in round figures of			95,136,000
Leaving an excess above the cash outlay of			$32,136,000

According to the foregoing, there is an excess above the cash outlay of only $32,136,000, of which $20,000,000 represents the new common stock outstanding on which no dividend has ever been paid and which, as we have seen, sells for no more than 20 in the market.

There is another way of looking at the matter; and from the standpoint of the public this is the aspect of most importance. We mean comparing present interest and dividend payments with those before reorganization. In such a computation, of course allowance must be made for interest on the $18,000,000 to $22,000,000 of new money put into the undertaking. Here is the result on that basis.

CHARGES YEAR ENDING JUNE 30 1906.

Interest on $45,350,000 3% refunding bonds, after deducting $240,000 interest on $8,000,000 bonds owned			$1,119,336 25
Interest on $22,000,000 C. &. A. Ry. Co. 3½% prior lien bonds			770,000 00
Dividends on guaranteed stocks			241,024 00
Interest on $5,000,000 collateral trust notes			200,000 00
Interest on equipment notes			83,498 44
Total			$2,413,858 69
Dividends on former C. & A. Ry. Co. pref. stock and former C. & A. RR. Co. pref. and common stocks in hands of the public	$106,140 00
Dividend on consolidated co. cumulative 4% prior lien and participating stock	17,986 00
Dividend on consolidated co. non-cumulative 4% preferred stock	390,880 00		815,006 00

CHARGES YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31 1898.

Interest on $8,650,850 underlying bonds	$504,288 05
Rentals: J. & C. and K. C. St. L. & C.	420,250 00
Dividends on preferred and common stocks	1,556,112 00
Total	$2,570,680 05
Allowing that the $18,000,000 expended for betterments and additions would yield 5% on its investment, there should be added to represent the new capital the sum of	900,000 00
Total	$3,470,680 05
Exceeding the charges for the year 1906 by	$241,815 36

It will thus be seen that the payments for interest and dividends in 1906 aggregated $3,228,864, against

$2,570,680 in the calendar year 1898; but when to this latter there is added 5% on $18,000,000 expended for betterments and additions, the charges for the earlier year are brought up to $3,470,680, making them larger by $241,815 than they are at the present time.

The process of computation may be carried a step further in order to show the ratio which the interest and dividend payments at the two periods bear when considered in relation to the traffic moved. Mr. Harriman gave out a statement of that kind to the reporters. Charging the freight traffic alone with the burden of the yearly payments it is found that in 1898 the interest and dividend payments of $2,570,680 were distributed over a tonnage movement one mile of 496,194,453, but that the $3,228,864 payments for 1906 were distributed over 1,174,692,281 ton miles. In other words, in 1898 the burden of the annual payments was $1 for every 193 tons moved one mile, whereas in 1906 it was only $1 for every 364 ton miles. Apportioning the annual payments between the passenger and the freight traffic on the basis of the ratio the two classes of receipts bear to each other, the result is still more striking. In that case the payments now average only one dollar for every 527 tons moved one mile, whereas in 1898 they averaged one dollar for every 292 tons. Here are the figures in detail.

Statement comparing the services rendered to the public per $1 00 paid out for interest, rentals and dividends as between the fiscal years ended December 31 1898 and June 30 1906.

If Total Interest, Rentals and Dividends are Allotted to the Number of Tons Moved One Mile for the Public.

Interest, rentals and dividends	$2,570,680 05	$3,228,864 69
Tons carried one mile	496,194,453	1,174,692,281
Number of tons carried one mile for $1 00 of interest, rentals and dividends	193	364

If Interest, Rentals and Dividends Are Allotted between Receipts from Passengers and Freight on the Basis of Relative Receipts.

Passenger—	1898.	1906.
Passengers carried one mile	104,879,347	165,985,535
Per cent of passenger receipts to total	34	31
Proportion of interest, rental and div. charges	$874,031 22	$1,000,948 05
Number of passengers carried one mile for $1 00 of interest, rentals and dividends	120	166
Freight—	1898.	1906.
Tons carried one mile	496,194,453	1,174,692,281
Per cent of freight receipts to total	66	69
Proportion of interest, rental and div. charges	$1,696,648 83	$2,227,916 64
Number of tons carried one mile for $1 00 of interest, rentals and dividends	292	527

Altogether the Alton furnishes a striking illustration going to show that over-capitalization has been no detriment to public interests. The operation in its case has not tended to prevent a sharp decline in rates, while the burden of interest and dividend payments, though larger in the aggregate, has been greatly reduced per unit of traffic. From the investor's standpoint, the situation is somewhat different, but even in that case, is it not correct to say that the investor is not deceived—that he puts his proper estimate on the value of the securities in an inflated capitalization, as evidenced by the fact that the common stock commands only 20 in the market, and the preferred stock, paying dividends, fetches no more than 65?

FREIGHT CAR EQUIPMENT.

In his report for the fiscal year 1902, the Statistician to the Inter-State Commerce Commission began to present statistics concerning the size and capacity of freight cars. It is needless to remark that until these data were made available the figures showing mere numbers of cars owned or leased by the railways threw little light upon the adequacy of their equipment for freight service, as the progressive increase in the capacity of the car-unit was steadily reducing the number needed to effect a given aggregate of movement. The recent publication of the fourth successive report containing figures as to capacity now affords material for a glance at the progress of the three-year period from June 30 1902 to June 30 1905 which ought not to be allowed to pass.

In that period the growth of traffic, measured by the ton-mileage moved, was equal to 18.55% of the movement of the earlier year; yet the number of freight cars increased but 11.99%. The inference from these figures that the growth of railway freight equipment has not kept pace with the increase in traffic is shown to be unwarranted when it is seen that the aggregate capacity, in tons, of the freight cars used increased during the same years no less than 25.92%. Thus, while the aggregate car capacity was equal to an average of 269 tons for each one million ton-miles of traffic movement in the year 1902, it had increased by 1905 to 286 tons, a growth of 6.32%. The figures from which these averages and percentages have been derived are as follows.

Tons of freight moved 1 mile	157,289,370,053	186,463,109,510	18.55%
No. of cars in freight service	1,546,101	1,731,409	11.99%
Aggregate capacity of cars in freight service, in tons	42,292,977	53,255,083	25.92%
Average capacity of cars per 1,000,000 ton-miles of freight movement	269	286	6.32%

The foregoing throws significant light upon a very important feature of current railway progress, but the more detailed figures are still more impressive. Nearly half of the freight cars in use are box cars, and in the three years under discussion this class of cars increased as follows.

BOX CARS.

Item.	1902.	1905.	Increase.
Number	708,861	802,964	13.28%
Capacity, in tons	19,051,105	23,220,055	21.88%
Average capacity, in tons	26.88	28.92	7.59%

A growth of average car capacity of 7½% may not seem very large, but when applied to three-quarters of a million of cars during three years it means a rapidity of change in the typical equipment of this class that must involve many notable adjustments. The fact is that box cars below thirty tons capacity are rapidly disappearing, while the number of such cars which exceed that size is rapidly increasing. Data supporting this statement appear below.

BOX CARS.

Item.	1902.	1905.	Change.
No. of less than 30-tons capacity	302,457	252,849	16.40% Decrease
No. of 30-tons capacity or more	406,404	550,115	35.36% Increase

Thus the proportion of box cars of less than thirty tons capacity decreased in three years from 43 such cars in each 100 box cars to 31, or 27.91%. The sizes of box cars which show an increase in numbers with the rate of increase follow.

BOX CARS.

35-tons capacity	8,112	9,500	17.11%
40-tons capacity	37,432	87,484	133.71%
50-tons capacity	5,467	17,159	213.87%

After box cars the next most numerous class of railway freight cars is constituted of those built to carry coal. The growth of this class of equipment is shown below.

COAL CARS.

Item.	1902.	1905.	Increase.
Number	534,448	632,171	18.29%
Capacity, in tons	16,432,314	21,712,609	32.13%
Average capacity, in tons	30.75	34.35	11.71%

Although there was a slight increase in the number of 35-ton coal cars between 1902 and 1905, the number of cars of this size is relatively small, and the dividing line between the equipment that is disappearing and that which is taking its place is properly placed at 40 tons. In 1902 no less than 73 in every 100 coal cars were under 40-tons capacity; the proportion of such cars in 1905 was 56 in each 100. The following shows the number of coal cars above and below 40-tons capacity for both years.

COAL CARS.

Item.	1902.	1905.	Change.
No. of less than 40-tons capacity	392,088	356,920	8.97% Decrease
No. of 40-tons capacity or more	142,360	275,251	93.35% Increase

The different sizes of coal cars which increased in numbers, with the rates of increase, appear below.

COAL CARS.

Item.	1902.	1905.	Increase.
35-tons capacity	5,760	6,551	13.73%
40-tons capacity	105,185	171,719	63.25%
45-tons capacity	202	1,062	425.74%
50-tons capacity	36,554	101,796	178.48%
55-tons capacity	385	440	14.29%
100-tons capacity	None	200	----

The only remaining class of freight cars of which there are more than one hundred thousand in use consists of flat cars. The total number of flat cars on June 30 1905 was 146,050, as against 142,303 three years earlier. The number of these cars having less than 30-tons capacity decreased in the three years from 80,669 to 63,994, or 20.67%, and the number having a capacity of thirty tons or more increased from 61,634 to 82,056, or 33.13%. The total capacity of this class of cars increased 17.29%, with a numerical increase of but 2.63%.

The following table shows for each class of freight cars the number in use in 1902 and in 1905, the absolute numerical increase and the number of larger cars substituted for smaller cars during the period.

Thus in three years the railways have added at least 221,628 to the total number of their cars, and, besides this, have replaced at least 110,424 smaller cars with larger cars. We say "at least" because it is clear that there were probably other additions and replacements which are not disclosed by the tables. The total number of new cars thus indicated is 332,052, or 22.05% of the number in use on June 30 1902. At the low average of $800 each, these cars must have cost no less than $265,641,600. Therefore, without making any allowance whatever for renewals and replacements by which a car of a particular capacity has been replaced by one of the same size, it appears that in three years the additions to freight-car equipment have equaled more than one-fifth of all the cars that were in use at the beginning of the period, while the increase in aggregate capacity has been much greater; and this has been done at a cost equal to approximately 10% of the net earnings. There is here no suggestion that the railways have been unduly slow in increasing their facilities of this character for doing the business of the country. Indeed, the facts point plainly to the opposite conclusion.

THE ALDRICH CURRENCY BILL.

By a vote of 43 to 14, the Aldrich Currency Bill was passed by the Senate on Tuesday. The provisions of the bill were referred to last week in our column on "The Financial Situation." Aside from the change in the denominations of United States notes, which the bill provides for, its principal features are the making of national banks depositaries for customs receipts as well as internal revenue and the raising of the limit for the deposit of lawful money to retire bank notes in any month from $3,000,000 to $9,000,000. Section 5153 of the Revised Statutes, which is amended by the new bill, provides as it now stands that "all national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury shall be depositaries of public money, except receipts from customs, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary," &c. The words "except receipts from customs" are stricken out in the Aldrich bill. The bill in full is as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That section six of an Act to define and fix the standard of value, to maintain the parity of all forms of money issued or coined in the United States, to refund the public debt and for other purposes, approved March 14 1900, be, and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 6.—That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to receive deposits of gold coin with the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than $20, and to issue gold certificates therefor in denominations of not less than $10, and the coin so deposited shall be retained in the Treasury and held for the payment of such certificates on demand and used for no other purpose. Such certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and when so received may be re-issued, and when held by any national banking association may be counted as a part of its lawful reserve: Provided, that whenever and so long as the gold coin and bullion held in the reserve fund in the Treasury for the redemption of United States notes and Treasury notes shall fall and remain below one hundred million dollars, the authority to issue certificates as herein provided shall be suspended: And provided further that whenever and so long as the aggregate amount of United States notes and silver certificates in the general fund of the Treasury shall exceed sixty million dollars, the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, suspend the issue of the certificates herein provided for; and provided further, that of the amount of such outstanding certificates one-fourth at least shall be in denominations of fifty dollars or less: and provided further that the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, issue such certificates in denominations of ten thousand dollars, payable to order. And section fifty-one hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes of the United States is hereby repealed.

"Section 2.—That whenever and so long as the outstanding silver certificates of the denomination of $1, $2 and $5, issued under the provisions of section seven of an Act entitled 'an Act to define and fix the standard of value, to maintain the parity of all forms of money issued or coined by the United States, to refund the public demands and for other purposes,' as provided March 14 1900, shall be, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury, insufficient to meet the public demand therefor, he is hereby authorized to issue United States notes of the denominations of $1, $2 and $5, and upon the issue of United States notes of lower denominations an equal amount of United States notes of higher denominations should be returned and canceled: provided, however, that the aggregate amount of United States notes at any time outstanding should remain as at present fixed by law; and provided that nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting the right of any national bank to issue one-third in amount of its circulating notes of the denomination of $5, as now provided by law.

"Section 3.—That section 5153 of the Revised Statutes be amended to read as follows: "Section 5153.—All national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury shall be depositaries of public money, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and they may also be employed as financial agents of the Government: and they shall perform all such reasonable duties as depositaries of public money and financial agents of the Government as may be required of them. The Secretary of the Treasury shall require the associations thus designated to give satisfactory security by the deposit of United States bonds and otherwise for the safe keeping and prompt payment of the public money deposited with them, and for the faithful performance of their duties as financial agents of the Government. And every association so designated as receiver or depositary of the public money shall take and receive at par all of the national currency bills, by whatever association issued, which have been paid into the Government for internal revenue or for loans or stocks."

"Section 4.—That section 9 of the Act of July 12 1882, as amended by the Act of March 14 1900, be further amended to read as follows:

"Section 9.—That any national banking association, now organized or hereafter organized, desiring to withdraw its circulating notes upon a deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States, as provided in section 4 of the Act of June 20 1874, or as provided in this Act, is authorized to deposit lawful money and, with the consent of the Comptroller of the Currency and the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, withdraw a proportionate amount of the bonds held as security for its circulating notes in the order of such deposits: Provided, that not more than $9,000,000 of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose; and provided further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury, nor to withdrawal of circulating notes in consequence thereof.

—A discussion of the subject of branch banking is an important feature of the report of Charles Hallam Keep, New York State Superintendent of Banks, made public this week. Subject to certain conditions, an amendment to the law authorizing branch savings banks is recommended by Mr. Keep in the report. He points out that there are thirty counties in the State without savings banks, and refers to the benefits to be derived by the people from the establishment of a savings institution. "If," he states, "there be a feasible method for extending to the counties and towns which have no savings banks the conveniences and advantages they bring, there certainly should be no failure to employ it. In my judgment this might be accomplished by the authorization of branches of savings banks. This method should, however, be used at first with great conservatism and care. The same discretion should be vested in the Superintendent of Banks to approve or disapprove the establishment of such a branch that he now possesses in the matter of chartering a new savings bank, and until the scheme shall have been tried, no branch should be permitted to open at any considerable distance from the principal office of the parent institution." The report also alludes to the interpretation of the law allowing trust companies to establish branches without limit as to number, or restriction as to locality, provided such branches are in the city where their principal office is located. In Mr. Keep's opinion "there is neither consistency nor prudence in such a condition. Substantially the same questions of public convenience and advantage, and of safety, too, are involved in the matter of starting such branches as obtained with regard to organizing new institutions, or rather, they may in some circumstances be even more delicate. For illustration, a bank or trust company which might be permitted with entire propriety to do business in certain quarters of New York might at once excite apprehension and incur dangers if it were to extend its operations to other localities without increase of capital or of surplus, and without the intimate knowledge of the methods of business peculiar to this new field. The banking law should, in my opinion, be amended so that the number of branches which a bank may have shall bear some fixed relation to the capital and surplus of the institution, and so that the Superintendent of Banks shall have the same power to grant or deny the application of either a bank or trust company to establish a branch office that he now possesses with regard to issuing his certificate of authorization to a new institution."

—Several amendments to the Massachusetts laws relative to trust companies are recommended by Pierre Jay in his annual report as State Bank Commissioner. The law as it now stands gives the Commissioner authority to require trust companies to make returns of their condition not more than four times a year, in addition to the annual statement of Oct. 31. It is recommended that this section be amended so as to provide for the making of five reports a year, as is required under the National Banking Law. This, it is pointed out, would enable the Bank Commissioner whenever it seems desirable to call for returns of the trust companies when the Comptroller calls for returns of the national banks, and in this way to obtain simultaneous publication of the assets and liabilities of all the national banks and trust companies in the Commonwealth. It is also recommended that a law be enacted requiring the stockholders of such institutions to elect at their annual meeting an examining committee of three, on which committee no officer or member of the executive or finance committee of the board of directors shall serve. The committee would be required to make at least once a year a thorough examination of the assets and liabilities of the company. The report would be made in duplicate, one copy being sent to the Commissioner and the other kept on file to be read at the next meeting of the directors and stockholders.

—The Baltimore Trust & Guarantee Company of Baltimore, Md., which is not a member of the Baltimore Clearing-House Association, and is therefore not affected by the rule governing banking hours, has become a day-and-night institution. Beginning with Thursday last the company changed its closing hour to 10:30 p. m. daily, and it announces that if experience proves that the convenience of its patrons demands a later closing, it will further extend its banking hours to accommodate them. The institution also lately adopted the policy of sharing with depositors in profits. The Third National Bank was the first financial institution in Baltimore to conduct a day-and-night business. Owing to the action of the Clearing House, however, in limiting the banking hours of members to the period from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., it has abandoned the "all night" practice.

Mr. Post is charged with having allowed his firm to carry an account for a clerk employed by another Stock Exchange house without the knowledge of the clerk's firm. It is the opinion that the violation occurred inadvertently, this being borne out by Mr. Post's explanation of the matter as follows: "We had a private wire to a Stock Exchange house over which we received considerable business. Under the guise of orders from that house we received two orders which turned out to be for the personal account of a clerk. We did not know it at the time, and did not expose them; but we stopped including his orders with those from the firm when we found out the facts."

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, February 16 1907.

Since the beginning of the new year there have been rumors put into circulation again and again that there were grave difficulties on the Stock Exchange. Each settlement has shown that these rumors were grossly exaggerated. But as another settlement came on they have been renewed. At the settlement this week there were two small failures, quite unimportant ones, and there is nothing to show that other members of the Stock Exchange were really in difficulties. In Glasgow, however, a large operator not personally connected with the Stock Exchange has been in trouble. It is alleged that he had bought immense masses of stocks of various kinds and that, a fall in every one of them having taken place, he has been plunged into serious difficulties. The matter, however, is not of real importance except to the operator in question and his friends. Outside of a very small circle business is thoroughly sound and trade proper is exceedingly sound.

The depression on the Stock Exchange which undoubtedly exists is due not to financial difficulties but to entirely different causes—the dearness and scarcity of money, the uncertainty as to what will happen in New York, and a number of unfavorable political conditions. The best informed here are quite convinced that the liquidation which is now going on in New York will be brought to a conclusion without disclosing serious weakness; that trade is thoroughly good and will continue good, and that after a while there will be a return of confidence and an advance in prices. But the bulk of City men do not feel themselves in a position to form an opinion, and therefore are waiting upon events. The City, moreover, had hoped that before this time the Bank of England would have been able to put down its rate of discount to 4%. The rate of discount in the open market is very firm at between 4⅝ and 4¾%. Day-to-day money is quite as high, and the Bank of England is charging the bill-brokers ½% over its published rate for advances. All this, of course, calls forth loud complaints. But the Bank is quite right, for it is necessary to protect its reserve, seeing how great is the demand for gold for many quarters, but more particularly for South America.

Over and above this, there are fears that in the next budget the Chancellor of the Exchequer will make proposals which will tell against the capitalist classes. There is a strong movement here for old-age pensions. There is an equally strong movement for the better housing of the poorer classes. The Government is pledged to reorganize the Irish Government and to reform Irish education. Moreover, the Army is to be reorganized, and there are many other things that require to be done. All this will involve the spending of large amounts of money, and the City, which is intensely conservative, has jumped to the conclusion that the Government will lay a heavy hand upon the richer classes, the more particularly as a commission is inquiring into the desirability of graduating the income tax. In addition to this, the dispute between the House of Commons and the House of Lords is making people fear that attention may be turned away altogether from business to politics, and that quite possibly there may have to be a dissolution within a few months.

In Paris, the Income Tax Bill is arousing a very strong feeling. The dislike of such a tax in France is intense, and as the bill proposes a 3% tax upon incomes as low as 1 800 francs, the opposition is likely to extend to all classes. The fear of the income tax had led many French people to invest abroad. But just now even that movement is checked by the depressed condition of the foreign bourses and stock exchanges. In Germany, the continued scarcity and dearness of money and the fear that trade is now upon a downward grade are likewise checking business. The Imperial Bank has to finance the Imperial Government, and thus is not in a position to give free accommodation to its customers. Lastly, almost the whole of Europe is watching with interest, not free from anxiety, the Russian elections. As far as can be judged at present, there will be a large Liberal majority in the new Douma. The official and semi-official journals are already declaring that if the Douma follows in the footsteps of the first Douma it will be dissolved forthwith, and all holders of Russian securities throughout Europe are anxiously asking what will happen if there is a second dissolution.

Money, as already said, continues both scarce and dear, and as far as can be seen will continue so till the end of next month. At the same time, there is some hope that gold may be received from Paris. In the present political condition of the Continent, and more particularly bearing in mind the Moroccan question, it is not likely that the Bank of France will allow much gold to go from it. Yet the Paris exchange upon London would almost admit of gold being sent to London. Therefore, it is at least possible that some gold may come. At the same time, the fear that New York would take large amounts of gold is abating. New York has not competed for the gold offering in the open market, as was expected, and has taken no gold from the Bank of England. If, therefore, the Bank of England is able to secure all the gold offering in the open market next week, it is possible that the market may become easier. On the other hand, it is to be borne in mind that the demand for gold for South America is very strong and is likely to continue.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 100 lacs and the applications amounted to 990 lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 3-32d. to 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee were allotted about 10% of the amounts applied for.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of Feb. 14:

GOLD.—Although there were inquiries for America, buyers for that quarter concluded not to bid against the Bank, and accordingly the latter bought all the open market arrivals with the exception of the amounts required by India. Since last week the Bank has bought £628,000, of which £478,000 is in bars. Against this £325,000 has been taken out for South America. £366,000 is expected next week from South Africa. For the week: Arrivals—Cape, £583,000; Australia, £10,000; West Africa, £8,000; total, £601,000. Shipments—Bombay, £148,750; Calcutta, £42,500; total, £191,250. For the month of January: Arrivals—France, £734,000; Brazil, £30,000; South Africa, £3,068,000; India, £181,000. Shipments—France £1,170,000; Brazil, £1,650,000; Argentine, £1,257,000; India, £608,000.

SILVER.—There has been an improving tendency in this market during the past week, and the spot quotation has risen to 31⅞d., at which price we close steady. The holdings of spot silver have recently been considerably reduced, with the result that the quotation is now 1-16d. over that of forward, and the market generally has a healthier tone. The Bombay price is Rs. 80 7-16 per 100 Tolahs for the April settlement. For the week: Arrivals—Shanghai, £150,000; New York, £47,000; total, £197,000; Shipments—Bombay, £555,000; Calcutta, £183,000; total, £738,000. Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending Feb. 23. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Business at the Stock Exchange has been in larger volume this week. Stocks were persistently offered during the early part of the week on a descending scale of prices, but the readiness with which prices recovered during a temporary reaction which occurred on Thursday indicates that a considerable portion of the early selling was for short account. There was renewed weakness to-day and other evidences that the market continues, as for some time past, largely in the hands of professional traders.

One of the events of the week, attracting a good deal of attention in railway and financial circles, and having a depressing effect upon security values, has been the investigation carried on in this city by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Very little that is new was brought out, but events of somewhat remote history and generally forgotten were brought into prominence as a result of the investigation.

Owing chiefly, no doubt, to the usual monthly settlements, the money market is firmer, call loan rates having advanced to 7% to-day. In London, too, rates keep up the Bank of England showing a slightly reduced percentage of reserve.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 4 to 7%. To-day's rates on call were 5½@7% Prime commercial paper quoted at 5¾@6% for endorsements and 5¾@6% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £53,385, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 47.22, against 48.00 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed Jan. 17 at 5%. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 8,550,000 francs in gold and 400,000 francs in silver.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been more active than for some time past, the transactions averaging well above 1,000,000 shares per day. The tendency of prices was downward until Thursday, and a considerable number of prominent railway issues sold at the lowest figure recorded during the current or preceding year. Among the latter are New York Central, Illinois Central, North West, St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Missouri Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, Southern Railway and Brooklyn Rapid Transit. Missouri Pacific was notably weak, selling down to 78 as against a low record of 85½ during 1906. At the same time Reading, which has been by far the most active stock on the list, was nearly 8 points below the closing price last week. On the other hand, Missouri Kansas & Texas has been a strong feature, making a net gain of nearly 2 points during the week and selling higher than the best record of 1906. During Thursday's upward movement a long list of active stocks advanced from 2 to 4 points. To-day's market was decidedly irregular. In many cases a decline about equal to yesterday's advance occurred before noon, followed by a general recovery later.

Industrials have followed closely the railway list, with few exceptions. Anaconda Mining covered a range of over 15 points, closing near the highest. Virginia Iron Coal & Coke declined over 20 points and recovered partially. Colorado Fuel & Iron when at its lowest was down nearly 6 points. The United States Steel issues have been relatively steady, closing fractionally lower.

Outside Market.—Trading in Nevada-Utah Mining & Smelting shares was the predominating feature of the "curb" market this week, the attention at times being given almost entirely to this stock. Otherwise business was dull. The boom in Nevada-Utah was the outcome of the announcement of a prominent Boston operator that he would investigate the property with a view to becoming interested therein. The price jumped from 5⅜ to 8¾, closing to-day at 8⅜. United Copper common opened up about a point from last week's close at 72¾ and dropped finally to 71. Greene Consolidated Copper fell from 31½ to 30 and Greene Cananea from 21⅛ to 20. Trinity Copper fluctuated sharply, moving down from 36⅝ to 28¾ and up finally to 29½. Douglas Copper sank from 20¾ to 17, moving up again to 20. After an advance from 19⅞ to 20¾, Newhouse Mining to-day, on good buying, jumped to 21½, closing at 21⅛. Boston Consolidated Copper declined from 30 to 29, subsequently advancing to 29⅝. Butte Coalition opened the week at 35⅛, went down to 34¼, but recovered to 35. Tennessee and Utah Copper companies were listed this week on the Stock Exchange. Miemac Gold Mining dropped from 6¼ to 4⅞ and recovered subsequently to 5⅜. Nipissing Mines was steady, fluctuating between 13¼ and 14. Chicago Subway broke from 27¼ to 24¾, ran up to 28, and closes to-day at 27½. American Can stocks were this week placed on the Stock Exchange list. Havana Tobacco common declined from 13½ to 10¼. Standard Oil fluctuated sharply, going down from 529½ to 515, the close to-day being at 520. Waterbury common fell from 52¼ to 50¼, but advanced finally to 51⅝. Western Ice sank from 26⅜ to 25⅛, advanced to 27⅜, and ends the week at 26⅜.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

a Figures for the month in both years include operations of the Scranton Ry., acquired Jan. 1 1906. c These figures are for consolidated company. d These are results for main line. h These are early preliminary returns; decrease due to earthquake, fire and strike among employees, Aug. 26 to Sept. 5 1906. k Decrease due to Lewis & Clark Exposition last year. n Figures are for all departments.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—In the following we show both the gross and the net earnings to latest dates of all STREET railways from which we have been able to procure monthly returns. As in the case of the steam roads, the returns of the different roads are published by us each week as soon as received, and once a month we bring together all the roads reporting as is done to-day. Besides the companies furnishing monthly returns, we have added this time the roads which make quarterly returns.

Chicago Peoria & St. Louis Ry.

Vice-President John P. Ramsey Jan. 22 1906 writes:

General Results.—The gross earnings show a decrease, in comparison with the year ending June 30 1905, of $50,155, and the net earnings, before deducting taxes, amounted to $139,032, against $217,778 for the preceding year. Deducting taxes and all interest, there is a net deficit carried to profit and loss of $78,273. After charging off betterments made during the year, $60,738, the balance sheet shows a debit to profit and loss of $238,990.

Interest Payment Postponed.—In view of the unsatisfactory results of the business for the year, the directors were compelled to announce the postponement of the payment of the coupon from the consolidated mortgage bonds maturing July 1 1906. This course was adopted only after consultation with large interests in the property, and with the securityholders' committee, representing at that time the common stock, a majority of the preferred stock and a large majority of the income mortgage bonds. The securityholders' agreement of Aug. 1 1904 expired on Aug. 1 1906, not having received sufficient support to permit of its being carried into effect.

Results of Operation for the Half-Year Ending Dec. 31 1906.

Half-Year.	Gross Earns.	Net Earns.	—Accrued Interest— Prior L'n	M. Consol.	M. Int.	Other Taxes.	Accr'd	Bal., Surp.
1906	$902,389	$171,073	$38,812	$48,375		$6,035	$24,000	$53,851
1905	882,121	111,398	(Supplied from the monthly figures.—Ed.)

It is a source of gratification to call attention to the improved earnings, which seemed to the directors to justify the payment of the July coupon, which payment was announced on Dec. 15. It was found necessary, however, to defer the payment of the interest on the consolidated mortgage bonds maturing Jan. 1 1907.

New Locomotives, &c.—Since the close of the fiscal year three consolidation freight locomotives have been delivered. The 1¾ miles of track, the construction of which was commenced in 1905, has been completed between Granite City, Ill., and Madison, Ill. thereby enabling the company to operate its freight trains over its own rails through to its East St. Louis terminals.

The physical condition of the property has been fully maintained.

Statistics.—Earnings, expenses, charges, &c., have been as follows:

American Writing Paper Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

The report signed by the executive committee, W. N. Caldwell, G. B. Holbrook, James J. Storrow and George B. Noble, says in substance:

General Results.—The net surplus, $344,484, represents the result of the year's business after deducting all operating expenses, taxes, fixed charges and sinking fund payments. The expenditures for repairs, amounting to $287,175, were charged to operating expenses. The net surplus from manufacturing is larger than for the previous year, due in part to the less amount required for repairs and improvements.

Output.—The output of finished goods for 1906 exceeds that of any earlier year, and but for the considerable increase in the cost of materials, the profits would have been larger than for any previous year. The product for 1906 was 910 tons larger than for 1902, which, up to the present, was a record year for production. The cost of rags, pulp and all raw materials was $736,272 more for 1906 than for 1902, and the usual competition made it impossible to secure materially higher prices for the goods sold during 1906 than during the year 1902.

Prices.—Within a few weeks there has been a substantial advance in the price of all grades of paper and your directors expect that the company will participate in the increased profits which are anticipated by all manufacturers interested in the paper-making industry.

Sinking Fund.—With the annual contribution of $100,000 to the sinking fund, and $39,550 from interest paid on bonds in the sinking fund, the trustees have, during the year, increased the fund by the purchase of $160,000 bonds of the company at an average cost of 86.73%. On Jan. 1 1907 there were in the sinking fund $855,000 bonds, which had cost the company $669,494 (an average of 78.30%). The Treasurer has invested the interest received July 1 and Jan. 1 from bonds, held in the treasury, amounting to $50,922, in $60,000 bonds of the company, making a total of $1,060,000 held in the treasury Jan. 1 1907, costing $872,828 (an average of 82.34%).

Current Assets, &c.—The amount of cash on hand Dec. 31 1906 was $1,134,609, an increase for the year of $438,831, due mainly to a substantial reduction in our stock of finished paper and materials as outlined in our annual report for 1905.

The quick assets on Dec. 31 1906, including at cost the $1,060,000 bonds held in the treasury (but not including bonds held in the sinking fund), were $6,172,993, as compared with $5,913,623 a year ago. The year was completed with current bills payable of $30,943—the company having continued its practice of discounting all bills for cash, which practice not only maintains the high credit standing of the company but yields a substantial item of profit.

(The) Quaker Oats Co., Chicago, Ill.

President H. P. Crowell, Feb. 15 1907, writes:

During the fiscal year ending Dec. 31 1906 the company has earned the largest profit and secured the greatest volume of business in its history. The profit is $1,283,389, in contrast with the profit for 1905 of $1,119,572, or a gain of $163,816. After deducting interest on bonds, dividends and other charges, we have left a balance of $642,638, which balance has been added to the previous profit and loss surplus, making the surplus now $1,602,071.

All bonds upon the company's property were paid June 1 1906. The Northern Trust Co., trustee for the bondholders, issued its release of the obligation on July 17, so that our mills and property are now free and clear of all incumbrance. This makes the preferred stock, which is preferred as to dividends and also as to assets, a first lien on all of the assets and goodwill of the company.

On Aug. 23 all of the properties and assets of the American Cereal Co. were transferred by deed and bill of sale to the Quaker Oats Co., so that on this date the Quaker Oats Co. became an active operating company.

On Oct. 15 the first dividend ever declared on the common stock was paid. The directors, considering the strong financial condition of the company, the earnings and the favorable outlook for the future, felt justified in making this distribution. I cannot more clearly give you the thought of your officers than by quoting an extract from a financial paper: "The intimation is that 6% (per annum) may be counted upon (on the common stock) but that the company is making enough money to pay 8% and probably will do so in the form of extras. This method of informing stockholders of prosperous times, but at the same time giving a cautionary note of possible changes in trade conditions, is not new but is to be commended."

Some new and advanced methods have been introduced in our sales and advertising departments which have greatly strengthened both departments and made it possible to materially increase the sale of our specialties. We are so much encouraged over these immediate results that we feel confident a much larger sale awaits us in 1907. Many more cases of Quaker Oats were sold in the United States than ever before. While this brand has been long established, there are indications that the public at large is just waking up to an appreciation that Quaker Oats is the best oatmeal made. Our foreign trade, which is of very large proportions, shows good growth and is in a healthy condition.

Chicago & Alton RR.—Financial History—Extra 30% Dividend.—The hearing this week before the Inter-State Commerce Commission has dealt at much length with the facts relating to the re-capitalization of this road, as will appear by reference to the files of the local daily papers. One fact of interest heretofore not commonly known is that in 1900 an extra cash dividend of 30% was paid on the $3,479,500 preferred and $18,751,100 common stock of the old Chicago & Alton from the proceeds of the 3% refunding bonds (being the $6,669,180 applied to "funding part of expenditures on capital account previously paid out of past profits") representing the amounts spent in betterments in the twenty years prior to 1898, some $12,444,177 which had been charged against current earnings. This dividend it appears, went to the reorganizing syndicate which had acquired 97% of the stock and subsequently turned over the control to the new company.

Official Statement.—On Wednesday the following official statement was made public:

In view of the evident and widespread misunderstanding of the figures of the Chicago & Alton capitalization, it seems well to set forth the actual facts in concise form:

The syndicate paid for its holdings of Chicago & Alton stock about	$39,000,000
Less cash dividend	6,500,000
Total	$32,500,000
The cost of half of the St. Louis & Northern Short Line was about	3,000,000
Old Chicago & Alton RR. high interest bearing bonds, which had to be refunded at a cash cost of about	9,000,000
New money provided and expended for betterments, improvements, &c., about	22,500,000
Total cash outlay, about	$67,000,000

The following securities have been issued:

3% bonds	$37,350,000	4% preferred stock	$19,544,000
3½% bonds	22,000,000	4% common stock	19,542,800
Notes and equipm't b'nds	10,000,000

Showing a capitalization, in round figures, of $108,000 000, or about $41,000,000 above the cash outlay.

This capitalization must, however, be looked upon in the light of the fact that it consists of low-interest-bearing securities, which were and are not salable at anywhere near par, and of which about $20,000,000 was common stock, on which no dividends were ever paid.

At the time of the acquisition of the Chicago & Alton the charges for interest and dividends amounted to about $2,400,000, against present charges of about $3,600,000, a difference of $1,200,000, which is almost exactly 5% on the $22,500,000 of new money put into the property.—V. 84, p. 338, 157.

Chicago Cincinnati & Louisville RR.—Settlement.—While no papers have yet been signed, it is understood that an agreement has been reached whereby the stock will be returned to the old holders and a debt of some $900,000 will be canceled in consideration of which the collateral trust bonds of the Pere Marquette RR. for $3,500,000, secured by the stock, will be canceled and the C. C. & L. will receive $400,000 in receivers' certificates of the Pere Marquette and the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton.

The C. C. & St. L. will get into Chicago from Hammond over the Illinois Central RR.—V. 84, p. 219.

Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR. Co.—Notes Offered—Convertible into Bonds.—The Western Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, the trustee for the issue, is offering at 99 and interest, by advertisement on another page, the unsold portion of an issue of $2,000,000 "2-year 6% collateral and convertible gold notes" of $1,000 each, coupon dated March 1 1907 and due March 1 1909; interest payable March 1 and Sept. 1 in Chicago. Secured by deposit in trust of $2,500,000 Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR. Co., Wisconsin Division, first mortgage guaranteed 5% gold bonds of 1925, and convertible into said bonds on or before Sept. 1 1908 at option of the holder at 100 and interest for the notes and 98 and interest for the bonds, the difference upon conversion to be paid by the company in cash. The advertisement says:

The proceeds of the present note issue are to be applied to the completion of the road into Milwaukee, to be finished by Sept. 1 1907, payment for the terminals in Milwaukee recently acquired, and for additional equipment. The bonds deposited as collateral for the present note issue are a portion of $6,330,000 outstanding first mortgage bonds of a total authorized issue of $10,000,000, of which $3,000,000 will be issued only for future extensions. They are a first mortgage upon the northern division of the road from Lake Bluff to Milwaukee, aggregating 110 miles of main track, and are guaranteed, principal and interest, by the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR. Co. of Illinois, the parent company, which has been in operation since 1899, and owns a double-track private right of way electric passenger and freight railway, connecting at Evanston with the C. M. & St. P. RR. and the Chicago street railway system, and terminating in the central business district of Milwaukee, with a branch line from Lake Bluff to Rockefeller. Mileage, 186 miles of main track.

Letter of Feb. 1907 from C. W. Hillard, Vice President Col. Sou. N. O. & Pac. RR. Co., and Comptroller of St. Louis & San Francisco RR. Co.

The Colorado Southern New Orleans & Pacific RR. Co. is incorporated under the laws of Louisiana, all of its capital stock (with the exception of the directors' shares) being owned by the St. Louis & San Francisco RR. Co. Its 433.48 miles of main track (including 130.25 miles of trackage) forms a through line from New Orleans, La., to Houston, Texas, a part of which is still under construction but should be completed and in operation about June 1 1907. Main line laid with new 75-lb. steel rail and sidings and branches with 65-lb. steel rail, 3,000 ties to the mile; has over 30 miles of turnouts and sidings. Maximum curvature, 3 degrees; maximum gradient, 3-10 of 1%. The company has contracted for early delivery 1,045 freight cars, 38 locomotives and 20 passenger cars, all of the highest standard for heavy traffic.

These $1,600,000 equipment notes are issued in part payment for the 1,045 freight cars and 38 locomotives, and are secured by a lien thereon, in addition to which they bear the direct guaranty of the St. Louis & San Francisco RR. Co.

The St. Louis & San Francisco RR. Co. has traffic contracts with the Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. between Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas, thus forming a direct route between all points in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Texas and New Orleans. The St. Louis & San Francisco RR. Co. originates on its own lines about 75% of its traffic. Heretofore it has been deprived of a large portion of the revenue to and from New Orleans. It will now enjoy largely increased revenues from this business, and will in addition have return loading of lumber and of the various imports of New Orleans. This line forms a connecting link for the St. Louis & San Francisco RR. between the Mississippi basin and the Gulf. It opens up a fertile section of Louisiana which urgently needs an outlet for its products. The soil is alluvial, the principal crops being cotton, sugar and rice. In Texas, it taps the great oil fields in the Beaumont district and the north and south line from Orange to Newton runs through the great pine district of East Texas.—V. 84, p. 449.

Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co.—Terms of Lease.—We have been favored with the following authoritative statement:

The company's property has been leased to the Consolidated Ry. Co. for 999 years from Aug. 1 1906. The payment of the rental has been guaranteed by the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co. The lessee pays taxes and a cash rental amounting to $975,000 for the year 1906-07, increasing gradually to $1,400,000 for the year 1914-15 and for every year thereafter. Out of this amount must be paid fixed charges, consisting of bond interest and sinking fund amounting to $673,882 annually. Under the lease no further bonds are to be issued by the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co.

The holders of the stock of the company have ratified the execution of this lease. The common shareholders have agreed to pay to the Colonial Trust Co., trustee, $10 per share on their stock; while the preferred shareholders have agreed hereafter, and during the term of the lease, to accept 1% dividends per annum in place of 5%. The above payment of $10 per share on common stock, added to the surplus rentals received under the lease, will provide a fund sufficient to pay dividends at the rate of 4% on the preferred stock from Aug. 1 1906 and dividends at the rate of 4% on the common stock from Aug. 1 1907, which the agreement provides shall be so applied. The present certificates are to be exchanged for new certificates on which will be endorsed the above stipulations. Compare V. 84, p. 390.

This company owns and controls the entire electric light, power and street and interurban railway business of Hamilton and surrounding territory, the population served being approximately 139,000. The water power plant, located at St. Catharines, is described as one of the largest and most valuable hydro-electric developments in America.

(which see above), has sold an issue of $376,000 5% equipment trust bonds to the Guaranty Trust Co. (the trustee) and Hallgarten & Co., who are offering them at prices to yield the investor 5⅞%.

The time for filing assignments has been postponed until 3 p. m., March 9, and the time for making the first payment has been postponed until March 15. Compare V. 83, p. 1469, 1590.

On Feb. 22 1907 the Henderson Traction Co. was incorporated under the laws of Kentucky with $150,000 capital stock to take over the property, the incorporators being Walter Schmidt, Cincinnati; Jas. W. Garrison and Samuel McDonald of Louisville; C. C. Tennis, Pittsburgh, Pa.; A. O. Brown & Co. of New York, and J. H. Lyne, Henderson.—V. 84, p. 339; V. 83, p. 380.

Jamestown Chautauqua & Lake Erie Ry.—Sale.—See Buffalo & Lake Erie Traction Co. above.—V. 76, p. 212.

Kanawha & Michigan Ry.—Funding Plan.—George D. Mackay, Chairman of the minority stockholders' committee, has written to shareholders notifying them that a plan is under advisement for financing the obligations of the road with a view of making possible the payment of dividends on the stock

It is proposed to issue a collateral trust security to provide for the floating debt, amounting to about $3,000,000, and also to provide a further sum of about $2,500,000 for future requirements. If the merger with the Hocking Valley Ry. Co. is carried out, no necessity will arise for the financial plan, but the consolidation is held up by the Attorney-General of Ohio on the ground that the Kanawha & Michigan is a parallel and competing line with the Hocking Valley. (See plan, &c., V. 83, p. 273, 323, 687.)

Time for Deposits Extended.—J. P. Morgan & Co., referring to the plan for the consolidation of the Hocking Valley Railway Co. and the Kanawha & Michigan Railway Co., at the request of the holders of important interests in these companies, has further extended the time for deposit of the stocks of said companies under said plan to and including June 1 1907.—V. 84, p. 51.

Kansas City Mexico & Orient Ry.—Bonds Offered—Official Statement.—Subscriptions were recently received in London for $1,500,000 4% first mortgage 50-year gold bonds due Feb. 1 1951 at par, $1,000 each ($4 86 to the pound sterling), with a bonus of $300 common stock and $300 preferred stock. Of this block, $750,000 was underwritten. The advertisement says (compare V. 84, p. 102):

The road will be about 1,629 miles in length, of which 622 (including about 125 miles of the Chihuahua & Pacific Ry.) are now in operation, and $7,800,000 of bonds have been issued by the company. The bonds now offered form part of the said $7,800,000 and will enable a further 302 miles to be opened for traffic, making a total of 924 miles in operation. The International Construction Co. and the Union Construction Co. are under contract to complete the line and have already expended upwards of $12,000,000 prior to making any sale of the bonds. The bonds and bonus stocks offered form part of the consideration, deliverable to them as the work of construction proceeds.

Extract from Letter of Jan. 31 1907 from Secretary J. Crossland Taylor.

Referring to the map (compare page 82 of "Railway & Industrial" section—Ed.) it will be seen that the construction now stands as follows:

Completed and in Operation.	Miles.	Gaps Graded.	Miles.
Wichita, south into Oklahoma	200	Between Texas and Kansas line	162
Sweetwater, east to Knox City	78	Between El Dorado and Emporia	63
Chihuahua, east	80	Between Sweetwater and San Angelo	77
Minaca, east	63
West coast, east	76	Total	302
Chihuahua & Pacific line, leased	125
Total	622

The proceeds of the bonds now offered will ensure the joining up of the disconnected portions of the road in the United States mentioned above, when, by temporarily using an existing line of 114 miles from Kansas City to Emporia, there will be in operation a continuous route of 711 miles in length from San Angelo, Texas, through to Kansas City. The construction work in Mexico is also rapidly proceeding, and there will be in full working order during 1907 a total of about 1,050 miles of the entire system—i.e., 775 miles owned, with running powers over an additional 275 miles.—V. 84, p. 102.

Compare V. 82, p 452.—V. 83, p. 1348.

The denial was based on the ground that the State is not a party in interest and the decision does not in any way affect the merits of the case. Compare V. 82, p. 1102.—V. 83, p. 1471.

Missouri River & Northwestern RR.—Receivership.—Judge McGee at Rapid City, S. D., on Feb. 14 placed this property in the hands of V. E. Crouch as receiver on the application of C. D. Northern Central Ry.—Dividends.—At the annual meeting on Feb. 28 the resolution offered by the minority stockholders' committee recommending that the directors increase the dividend rate from 8% to 10% yearly, was voted down, and that introduced by Capt. J. P. Green, referring the question of increasing the dividend to the board, without mentioning the rate, carried by a vote of 314,000 against 49,000 shares. The committee reported that consolidation with the Pennsylvania RR. is impracticable.

Cutler, fixing the price of gas and electricity in the City of Rochester at 95 cents for gas from July 1 1907 and of electricity at 8 cents per kilowatt-hour from Oct. 1 1907. These prices are on a par with those established by the Commission for Syracuse. The present price of gas is $1 20 with 20% discount for prompt payment, and of electricity 10 cents per kilowatt-hour, with 1 cent discount. The company will not appeal from the order

By a stipulation of the parties, an additional charge of 10 cents per 1,000 for gas and 1 cent per kilowatt-hour for electricity may be made if bills presented by the 6th are not paid by the 15th of the month.

The company agrees to furnish gas of not less than 20 candle power and to expend not less than $600,000 in the current year for extensions and betterments. The city agrees to drop the charge on the complaint alleging an arrangement between the Rochester Railway & Light Co. and the Niagara Falls companies restricting the sale of electricity in Rochester, the city admitting it is unable to produce sustaining proofs.—V. 81, p. 1724.

Tidewater RR.—Note Issue.—Further Particulars.—The "Wall Street Journal" of Feb. 27 has the following statement regarding the $10,000,000 6% notes dated Feb. 1907 and due Feb. 1909, denomination $25,000, interest payable Aug. and Feb.: Central Trust Co., trustee. (V. 84, p. 151):

It was known that the money cost the borrower 7 %, but full details have not heretofore been published. The $20,000,000 bonds of the Tidewater pledged for the notes represent an actual cash outlay of $18,000,000 on the property. As the proceeds of the notes are expended for construction, additional bonds representing the outlay will be issued and deposited as security. Thus before the maturity of the notes there will be approximately $34,000,000 of the company's first mortgage bonds pledged to secure a $10,000,000 loan. The other collateral consists principally of dividend-paying railroad stocks, although a certain number of Standard Oil shares are included. The agreement provides that the collateral other than the Tidewater bonds shall at all times be kept up to a market value of $10,000,000. Finally the loan was guaranteed by H. H. Rogers, who gave the syndicate a bonus in stock.—V. 84, p. 451.

Toledo Railway & Terminal Co.—Deposits.—Over $3,000,000 of the $3,500,000 first mortgage 4½% bonds have been deposited with the protective committee. The time to deposit expired on Feb. 15, but further deposits will, it is understood, be accepted for the present, without penalty.—V. 84, p. 160.

Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry.—Guaranteed Equipment Trusts Offered.—The $500,000 5% equipment trust bonds guaranteed jointly, principal and interest, by the Colorado & Southern Ry. and the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry., which jointly own the total capital stock, are offered by Hallgarten & Co and the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, the mortgage trustee, at prices to yield the investor 5⅞% per annum.

Dated April 1 1907 and due $25,000 semi-annually from Oct. 1 1907 to April 1 1917, both inclusive, but subject to call on any interest day at 101 and interest. Interest payable April 1 and Oct. 1. Equipment covered, 22 locomotives, 175 flat cars, 50 gondolas and 8 cabooses; total cost, $588,725, of which $88,725 paid in cash.—V. 83, p. 1172.

Twin City Rapid Transit Co.—Correction.—Our comparative table of earnings published last week on page 446 shows correctly the surplus from the late year's operations as $237,680, after deducting the dividends and the appropriation for the renewal fund. The interest and taxes, however, for 1906 as there printed were not correct, the right amount being $1,137,428, making the aggregate of dividends, interest and taxes $2,299,928, as against $2,142,185 in 1905.

Fares.—The company has obtained a temporary injunction in the Federal Court restraining the city from enforcing the six-tickets-for-a-quarter ordinance.—V. 84, p. 451, 446.

Union Pacific RR.—Mr. Harriman's Testimony—The testimony of President Harriman before the Inter-State Commerce Commission in this city beginning on Monday has been fully published in the columns of the local press, to which the reader is referred for many facts of interest respecting the property. Touching the sales of Great Northern and Northern Pacific shares, the "Wall Street Summary" of Feb. 27 gives the following particulars from the testimony of Mr. Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.:

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. purchased stocks of an aggregate value of about $40,000,000 from the Union Pacific RR. Co. since last July. The stocks consisted of Great Northern and Northern Pacific. The dates of the sales, the par value of the stocks sold and the price received by the Union Pacific follow:

Date.	Amount.	Stock.	Price received.
July 17	$1,400,000	Great Northern pref	$4,480,000
July 17	1,400,000	Northern Pacific	3,610,000
Aug. 9	2,000,000	Great Northern	5,765,000
Aug. 9	2,000,000	Northern Pacific	3,915,000
Aug. 22	2,000,000	Great Northern	5,800,000

Sept. 24	1,000,000	Great Northern	3,175,000
Sept. 24	1,000,000	Northern Pacific	2,125,000
Feb. 1 '07	2,800,000	Northern Pacific	5,954,055

In addition to these blocks sold outright to the firm, the Union Pacific RR. Co. sold various amounts of these stocks at different times through the firm, paying it the usual commissions for executing such orders.

Regarding the changes in the company's investments, Mr. Harriman said in substance. (Compare V. 84, p. 52, 104.)

We had, as the result of the Northern Pacific purchase, $82,000,000 of Northern Securities stock, at a cost of about $79,000,000. Then we were forced by the decision of the Supreme Court to take Great Northern, which we did not want, and a lesser amount of Northern Pacific than we had deposited with the Northern Securities Co. At the time the Great Northern and Northern Pacific was forced upon us, it had a market value of about $100,000,000. I will go back just a minute. We had subscribed in the meantime to $3,000,000 of Great Northern stock, which had been offered to the stockholders, making the total cost of whatever Great Northern and Northern Pacific we had about $82,000,000, and that stock, when we took it over, was worth in the market about $100,000,000. Instead of disposing of it at that time, we held it until the market price increased in value to somewhere near $145,000,000 to $150,000,000. We sold some of it gradually as it went up, but at that value the returns from the Northern Pacific and Great Northern were less than 3% on the stock that we held. Therefore we concluded that it was better to sell those stocks and invest the same money in other securities that would give us greater returns. So that, following out that line, we have sold enough of those stocks to realize $116,000,000.

We reinvested that in securities listed here, other than Baltimore & Ohio at a cost of about $85,000,000. We have on hand, remaining in the treasury of the Union Pacific or the Oregon Short Line, Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock at the present market value of about $30,000,000. So that would make, with $116,000,000 of the value sold, and with that we have on hand, about $116,000,000. The Baltimore & Ohio stock purchased has not to be paid for until March and September. Now, the difference between the cost of the other stocks, $85,000,000, and $116,000,000 already realized, is about $31,000,000. The stock of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific we still have on hand, if sold at the present prices, would make that $61,000,000 received in excess of the amount already invested and paid for. We pay for Baltimore & Ohio $45,466,960. So that the proceeds of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern would realize something like $17,000,000 in excess of the cost of all the securities purchased, and the income from those securities instead of being, as it was in the case of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, about $3,250,000 or $3,500,000, will approximate $6,500,000.

In response to queries he further said:

Q. Then do I understand that the stock of the Illinois Central, of the Baltimore & Ohio, of the Chicago & Alton, of the New York Central and the North Western and the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul are for permanent investment or control? A. They are certainly not for control. They couldn't control, therefore they are for the re-investment of the proceeds. Q. Are they for permanent investment, or do you expect to sell them again? A. I have no expectation about it. It is for the purpose of receiving $6,500,000 a year instead of $3,500,000.

Q. Now, you stated a short time ago that you contracted to pay $45,466,960 for the purchase of Baltimore & Ohio, did you not? A. Yes, sir, that is right.

Q. I offer in evidence a letter of Sept. 14 1906 (Exhibit 4). Q. Then you have paid $9,073,528 cash? A. Yes, sir. Q. And there are as deferred payments $36,393,432—about that? A. That is right.

As to the Chicago & Alton, see that company above.—V. 84, p. 222, 104.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Brass Co.—Stoek Increased.—The stockholders on Feb. 27 approved the proposition to increase the capital stock from $12,500,000 to $15,000,000, such increase to take effect and "date from July 1 1907," and "participate in the dividends payable Aug. 1 1907." The new stock, it is understood, will be distributed as a 20% stock dividend. Compare V. 84, p. 272.

American Can Co.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $41,233,300 7% cumulative preferred stock and $41,233,300 common stock. Compare V. 84, p. 337.

American Graphophone Co.—New Director.—Philip T. Dodge, President of the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., has been elected a director of this company.—V. 84, p. 157.

American Pneumatic Service Co.—Status.—Touching the resignation from the board of Oakes Ames, Charles Hayden and Gilmer Clapp, the "Boston News Bureau" of Feb. 25 quotes a leading interest as saying:

The retirement of three directors is a disagreeable matter, but good will undoubtedly come out of it. Mr. Ames has likewise resigned from the presidency of the Lamson Store Service Co. (being succeeded by W. E. L. Dillaway). Important reforms will be inaugurated which I feel confident will greatly reduce expenses and increase the efficiency. In a letter to the directors last week, which was probably responsible for the resignations, President Dillaway pointed out the accumulation of things which he considered were injurious to the interests of the stockholders.

The American Pneumatic Service Co. is in its constructive period. It has the making of a big corporation and an influential one. It will need further financing, but it has the business and it will undoubtedly issue notes as other corporations are doing. The Lamson Store Service Co. owes the American Pneumatic Co. about $500,000, which the Lamson Co. will probably meet by the issue of notes.

I should be surprised if the directors passed the next preferred stock dividend, for such action would hurt the company's credit, and it likewise owes certain allegiance to the old stockholders of the Lamson Co., who exchanged a dividend-paying stock for the preferred stock of the American Pneumatic Service Co. [The remaining directors are: John Shepard, Eugene N. Foss, William H. Ames, Benjamin W. Currier, W. E. L. Dillaway, F. A. Webster, A. S. Temple, W. E. Barnard of Boston. Howard Would, A. H. Calef, W. W. Tracy of New York, and J. L. Walcott of Dover, Delaware.—Ed.]—V. 84, p. 451.

If the above changes are authorized, stockholders will be offered for subscription 100,000 shares of the new stock at $10 per share. For the purpose of subscribing for the new stock, the transfer books will close on March 20 and re-open March 30. Compare V. 84, p. 392.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. added to its investment in real estate for the company's use $312,950, making the total of such investment at the end of the year $1,217,464. The company owns and controls all the gas and electric business in Shawnee, operating under favorable 21-year franchises. It owns an up-to-date electric light-plant and a modern coal gas plant, completed in June 1906, and a valuable piece of real estate near the business centre, on which is located the oil-gas-plant formerly used. The gas system includes 27 miles of mains and the town is well wired for electrical business, and additional extensions and improvements are now under way.

Standard Oil Co.—Mr. Rockefeller's Holdings.—The "New York Times" of Feb. 22 said:

In reply to a question yesterday, Frederick T. Gates, commonly known as "John D. Rockefeller's almoner," said: "Mr. Rockefeller has at various times himself authorized a statement that his fortune cannot exceed $250,000,000 to $300,000,000. Furthermore, his income, instead of being $100,000,000, or anything like it, cannot in his most prosperous year have exceeded $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Mr. Rockefeller's holdings of Standard Oil stock are about 20% (of the total share capital.—Ed.).—V. 83, p. 1293.

Syracuse Lighting Co.—Applications Denied.—The State Commission of Gas and Electricity on Feb. 19 denied the application of the company to increase its stock from $4,000,000 to $9,000,000 the $5,000,000 new stock to consist of common stock; also that of the Onondaga Lighting Co. to issue $1,000,000 stock.

The refusal is based on the ground that the proposed lease is objectionable because its terms "would impose an excessive burden on the community served and a per capita burden greater than is deemed reasonable or warranted"; also that the approval of the lease "would in the future foreclose the State in the exercise of certain present and important powers of supervision."

Litigation.—The State Commission some time ago handed down an order, based on the complaint of the Mayor and citizens of Syracuse, reducing the prices charged for gas and electricity. The decision has never gone into effect because of a restraining order obtained by the company. The litigation is still pending, Attorney-General Jackson having taken personal charge in behalf of the State.—V. 83, p. 1475.

Western Electric (Bell Telephone Manufacturing) Co.—Annual Meeting.—The gross sales for the year 1905-06, as made public at the annual meeting on Feb. 7, were $69,245,331, an increase of 56.9% over 1904-05. The "Boston News Bureau" makes the following comparison:

Gross Sales for Year ending Nov. 30.

1898-99	17,859,473	1901-02	28,626,770	1904-05	44 145,753
1899-1900	24,472,450	1902-03	30,256,628	1905-06	69 245,331

The following "official statement" was given out after the annual meeting on Feb. 7:

This unusual increase in the volume of business occurred in part from the large expenditures of the Bell Telephone companies for new construction. The company was able to get a fair share of that business, which is largely competitive, but at a lower rate of profit than in previous years. The company's well-established credit enabled it to currently borrow the considerable amounts required to provide working capital for the increased business. A portion of the indebtedness thus incurred will be retired during 1907. No addition to the present outstanding capital stock of $15,000,000 is contemplated for the immediate future.

The principal additions to the plant during 1906 were two additions to the cable plant at Hawthorne, the construction at Hawthorne of a switchboard and wood-working factory now nearing completion, warehouses at Atlanta, Pittsburgh and San Francisco, and additional machinery for the Chicago and New York factories. In December 1906 there were in the company's employ 26,938 people, as compared with 19,704 in December 1905.

Owing to the high prices of metals, especially copper and lead, and the high rates prevailing for money for new investments, customers are not planning to do as much construction work in the coming year as they have done during the past year.—V. 83, p. 1294.

The total coal tonnage to Baltimore was 1,315,998 net tons, an increase of 247,028 net tons.

The coal tonnage of the Lykens Valley Railroad was 565,649 net tons in 1906, a decrease of 46,296 net tons.

The coal tonnage of the Shamokin Division was 2,640,220 net tons, an increase of 192,586 net tons.

The coal tonnage of the Elmira & Williamsport Railroad was 1,927,370 net tons in 1906, an increase of 517,130 net tons.

The coal tonnage of the Elmira & Lake Ontario Railroad was 1,185,375 net tons in 1906, an increase of 289,443 net tons.

The aggregate movement of bituminous coal was 4,371,881 net tons, an increase of 883,079 net tons, and of anthracite coal, 5,005,732 net tons, a decrease of 45,127 net tons, as compared with the previous year. The tonnage of both classes amounted to 9,377,613 net tons, as against 8,539,661 net tons for the preceding year, being an increase of 837,952 net tons in the actual aggregate of coal transported, irrespective of the number of divisions over which it was moved.

1906	11,408,268	bushels.
1905	11,499,142	"
A decrease of	90,874	"

The amount of grain received at the local elevator, No. 2, in the city of Baltimore during the year was 2,796,595 bushels, an increase of 262,506 bushels.

The principal items of tonnage, besides coal and grain, were lumber, iron ore, manufactures of iron, fruits and vegetables, cement, brick and lime and petroleum.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The freight earnings for the year show a gratifying increase, due to larger shipments of all classes of tonnage and especially bituminous coal, while the passenger earnings also show a gain, making the total increase in gross earnings $1,100,670 85. As the expenses increased only $507,812 67, your net earnings from operation show a gain of $592,858 18, of which $117,001 33 belonged to lines operated on a basis of net earnings, so that your own net earnings show an increase of $475,856 85. After payment of interest, taxes and the fixed rentals of leased roads, a net income remained of $2,715,788 68, out of which were paid the regular dividend of eight per cent and the maturing principal of car trusts, leaving a balance of $1,330,094 43. Against this balance were charged the extraordinary expenditures not taken care of through the fund set aside last year, and the amount of $700,000 appropriated toward future similar improvements; the balance, $229,511 87, being transferred to the credit of Profit and Loss account. To represent a portion of the surplus profits heretofore expended in the betterment of the property a stock dividend of 12½ per cent was declared December 11th 1906, which was charged against that account, there having been credited thereto the profits realized during the year from sales of securities in your treasury.

The items of Extraordinary Expenditure for the year were as follows:

Construction—
Canton, extension of ore pier	$40,732 18
Canton, Grain Elevator No. 3 and Grain Dryer	51,277 58
Canton, additional tracks between 12th and 14th streets	7,827 84

Extension of tracks at McClellan coal storage yard east of Millersburg	4,171 41
Miscellaneous	8,494 11
Total		$459,920 14

Equipping freight cars with air-brakes	16,363 50
Equipping gondola cars with coke-racks	9,723 42
Tools and machinery	1,687 16
Total		156,099 66
Real estate		34,562 76
Aggregate		$650,582 56

It will be seen that the heaviest outlay was in the facilities necessary for the operation of the Enola Yard, of which your company bore its proportion of one-fourth, and the completion of the four-track system to Wago Junction, where a connection is made with the low-grade freight line of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The remaining expenditure was on sidings and storage tracks, additional passenger and freight facilities, tools and machinery and improvements to your equipment.

In connection with the Extraordinary Expenditures upon your road, it must be borne in mind that it was not until 1898 that your earnings permitted any substantial outlay for such purposes. The steadily decreasing freight rates and the recurring depressions in manufacturing industries had kept your Net Income down in many years to a point where, after payment of dividends, there was left but an insignificant surplus. Not only this, but many of your securities had ceased to have anything like the value at which they were carried on the books; and in order to preserve the integrity of your accounts, large sums had to be charged against your surplus income. Through the conservative policy that has been pursued, your Company has been built up to a strong financial position; but in view of the fact that large expenditures may have to be made in the revision of your line south of York Haven, and of the further fact that the advances that have been made recently in the pay of your employes, and the higher prices of all materials will largely increase your expenses, your Board feel that it is to the best interests of the shareholders that at this time the same conservative policy should be continued.

There was a net increase of 13.11 miles in Company's tracks and sidings. There were 6,492 tons of new steel rails and 229,936 cross-ties used in repairs and renewals.

Two new standard freight locomotives were purchased to replace two old freight locomotives sold.

One new baggage car was rebuilt to replace one old baggage car transferred to the Maintenance of Way Equipment.

Ten cabin and two hundred and forty-five gondola cars and one box car were built or purchased to partially replace cars destroyed or sold, and one hundred and seventy-five box and five hundred and nine gondola cars were built through Car Trust arrangements to replace a like number of old low-capacity freight cars.

The Balance Sheet and Statements hereto attached show the financial condition of the Company. It will be seen that your holdings of stock in the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company have increased by reason of the allotment made by that Company at par, during the year, and that your holdings of stock in the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway have been sold. The profit from this sale has been credited to your Profit and Loss account, together with that resulting from the exchange of the Preferred Stock held by you in the Allegheny Valley Railway for stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Your Board have to record with the deepest regret the death on December 28th 1906 of Mr. Alexander J. Cassatt, the President of the Company. Mr. Cassatt was appointed General Manager on June 27th 1873, and elected Vice-President on December 22d 1874, which position he filled until his resignation on October 1st 1882. He was elected President on June 15th 1899, and had served continuously as a Director for more than twenty-four years prior thereto. The period of his administration was an eventful one in the development of the transportation interests of the country, and this Company enjoyed the full advantage of his exceptional ability and masterful management. His death is a severe loss to the Company and to all those who have been associated with him in the management of your property. The minute adopted by the Board in reference thereto is printed with this report.

On January 8th 1907 Mr. Wayne MacVeagh having resigned as a Director, the vacancy was filled by the election of Mr. James McCrea, who was thereupon elected President of the Company.

The Insurance Fund amounted to $976,444 80 on December 31st 1906, the gain for the year being $68,398 14.

There were carried on the rolls of the Pension Department at the end of the year 160 employes, and the pensions paid during the year amounted to $36,311 74.

As the percentage of employes between the ages of sixty-five and seventy availing themselves of the privilege of retirement is increasing, it is deemed wise to make a larger annual appropriation to the Pension Fund, and a resolution will therefore be presented to the stockholders covering an increase of the Fund to $43,000.

Action will also be asked of the shareholders, making the age limit for entering the service forty-five, instead of thirty-five years.

It gives your Board pleasure to extend its thanks to the officers and employes for the faithfulness and efficiency shown in the discharge of their duties during the past year.

By order of the Board,

Attest:— JAMES McCREA,
STEPHEN W. WHITE, President.
Secretary.

DOMINION COAL COMPANY, LIMITED.

REPORT OF DIRECTORS FOR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31ST 1906.

OUTPUT, EARNINGS, ETC.

The output for 1906 was 3,552,746 tons, as compared with 3,189,657 tons for 1905. Your Directors, however, regret to report a decrease in the net earnings of the Company, which is accounted for by the following circumstances:

(Firstly) The increasing demands of the Dominion Iron & Steel Company and of the New England Gas & Coke Company, and the additional coal required for use on the plant to overtake the increased output thus rendered necessary, absorbed all of the additional coal mined in 1906, and as the above contracts were filled at a loss, the net earnings were materially reduced.

(Secondly) There has been an increase in cost of mining, chiefly due to the determined efforts required to obtain increased output. Large organizations were kept up at all the mines, and several of them were placed on double shift during the whole St. Lawrence shipping season; but the Company was embarrassed in these efforts by the lack of labor (chiefly men required for loading), and the actual output falling short of the estimates for which equipment and organization had been provided, a substantial increase in mining costs resulted. Furthermore, much money was expended in importing labor from Britain to overcome this difficulty, and a large number of men (about 600) were brought out by the Company, the cost being charged against operating expense.

(Thirdly) An abnormal amount of development work, renewals and repairs ($250,000 in excess of the previous year) was carried out to keep the plant up to the mark for future operations and to make good the depletion of the older mines, which had been accelerated by the greatly increased requirements of the Steel Company. These outlays have been charged against operations for 1906, and have consequently seriously diminished the net earnings for the year.

As a consequence also of the increasing demands above referred to, a large amount of remunerative business in the St. Lawrence district had to be refused, and the Company was even compelled to purchase coal in order to fill its contracts.

COMPANY'S PROPERTY

Your Directors have to report the occurrence of two fires during the past year. The first occurred at Dominion No. 5 in the month of October, and completely destroyed the old bankhead, screens and picking belts at that Colliery. This loss was fully covered by insurance, so that the immediate monetary loss to the Company caused by the fire was inconsiderable, but the stoppage of the mine, pending the erection of a temporary bankhead and screens, and consequent shortness of coal, was a serious matter, and prevented the realization of the estimated output for that month. A new modern bankhead, equipped with labor-saving machinery, is in course of erection, specially designed to take care of the output from this mine and that from the new mine, No. 10, on the Emery Seam, now being developed at this point. The second, a more serious fire, occurred during the month of December at Dominion No. 7 Mine (the Hub). This fire started underground and necessitated the flooding of the mine; but before this could be accomplished it had traveled up the shaft and destroyed the headframe, screens, picking belt and other buildings in the vicinity of the shaft. The damage to the plant and building on the surface is covered by insurance, while the damage to the workings of the mine itself is not very great, but the loss of output, notwithstanding the fact that No. 7 is the smallest producer of the Company's mines in operation, will certainly cause some inconvenience in the coming shipping season, though it is anticipated this will be made up by increased output from the other mines.

New Works.—During the year many large works have been carried out and important additions made to the Company's property, chiefly consisting of the installation of an electric power plant, situated at No. 2 Colliery, referred to in last year's report, and the introduction of electric apparatus at several collieries to utilize the energy from this source. The sinking of a water shaft at No. 8 (International) Colliery, through which the water from this mine will be hoisted by automatically controlled electric machinery, at a cost far below the present cost of pumping by steam under disadvantageous conditions. Houses at a cost of over $100,000 have been erected at different collieries to accommodate the newly arrived workmen and their families. A scheme to enable workmen to become the owners of their homes on easy terms has also been instituted, and has already been taken advantage of by many. Systems of auxiliary haulage operated by electricity have been installed in certain of the Company's mines, rendered necessary by the increasing depth of the workings. A new iron and brass foundry of fire proof construction throughout, and completely equipped with an up-to-date plant, has been erected away from the main buildings in connection with the Company's central workshops at Glace Bay to replace the old wooden building, now demolished, and heretofore used as a foundry, but considered a menace to the surrounding buildings.

The compressor house at No. 5 has been extended, and a new cross-compound "Walker" compressor has been added to the plant at this mine.

At No. 6 Colliery the surface plant and buildings have been completed in accordance with the latest and most approved designs, making the colliery one of the best equipped in America, and the results obtained are most satisfactory.

Coal discharging plants have been erected and put into operation at the ports of St. John, N. B., and Three Rivers, P. Q., which will result in a substantial reduction in the cost of unloading coal from steamers at these points.

The Company's property generally has been maintained in a state of efficiency, and the developments which have been carried on place it in a better physical condition than it has ever been in its previous history

The total amount expended during 1906 on Capital Account was $457,119 75, all other development work, renewals and repairs being charged against operation.

GENERAL.

In the appeal of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company against the decision given by the Supreme Court of Canada in favor of the Company in the "Canada-Cape Breton" collision case, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in England confirmed the previous decision of the Canadian Court, awarding this Company costs of the action and damages sustained by its ship.

The Dominion Iron & Steel Company in the autumn of last year, having by correspondence and otherwise taken a position in complete variance with the contract of October 1903, and having sought to impose on this Company onerous obligations constituting a new contract, your Directors had no alternative but to consider this action as a repudiation of the then existing contract, to accept the situation thus created, and to notify the Steel Company that the contract was at an end. A suit is now pending against this Company at the instance of the Steel Company, arising out of these circumstances.

While regretting the legal proceedings and the consequent irritation, your Directors consider they were acting in the best interests of the Shareholders in refusing to yield to the unwarranted demands of the Steel Company, and they have throughout had good legal opinion that their position is justified and will be maintained at law.

The Steel Company have now entered into a new contract with this Company for two years. Under this contract your Company receives a higher price for coal delivered.

Your Directors, looking forward to the increasing requirements of the Steel Company, and the consequent rapid depletion of the older mines, were obliged to arrange years ahead for the new mines necessary to provide for its requirements, and, with this object in view, very large expenditures have been made in the past and an extensive program had been laid out for the future under the recommendation of Mr. George Blake Walker, Member Inst. C. E., in 1905, and generally approved by your Second Vice-President, Mr. Duggan, and your Superintendent of Mines, Mr. Charles Fergie. This work entailed the sinking of a new shaft to the Emery Seam at No. 5 (Reserve), which is now completed and known as Dominion No. 10 mine; a new mine at No. 8 (International), trial borings for which are now under way; the opening up of two new mines in the Lingan district, and the construction of a new branch railway to connect these mines with the main line of the Sydney & Louisburg Railway. The land required about these mines and for the towns that will grow up around them has been purchased, trial openings are being proceeded with, and the line of railway has been located and its construction should commence early this season.

The program outlined above, which would have taken some years to fully complete, must, however, now be revised, as the unexpected action of the Steel Company and the short duration of the new contract with them would necessitate a reconsideration of the plans for future development with relation more to the Company's general trade than to the Steel Company's requirements.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES ROSS,
President

The Commercial Times.

Friday Night, March 1 1907.

Manufacturing activity continues on an unusual scale and trade in the big towns and cities of the country is in the main as brisk as ever, while collections are as a rule reasonably prompt. If a reaction in general business has begun, its signs are not yet very distinct. Speculation continues quiet.

LARD on the spot has been steady as a rule with some increase in the demand, partly for export account. Supplies continue moderate. City 9½c. and Western 9.80@9.90c. Refined lard has been dull and steady. Refined Continent 10.20c., South America 11c. and Brazil in kegs 12@12¼c. The market for lard futures has been active and irregular. Prices have felt the effect of heavy realizing sales at times and a temporary increase in the receipts of hogs. Packers have given open support, commission houses and traders have bought on reactions and the movement of hogs has been moderate.
